120 AMERICANS MASSACRED

ANANIA DEATH SUSPECTS SEEK BOND

Today

They May Come, Unasked.

China Wakes Up.

Mr. Astor Sees Europe.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ENGLAND is building two gigantic dirigibles capable of going anywhere in the world. They will cross the Atlantic ocean easily. And Britain is "waiting for an invitation" to send one of these big airships to the United States.

So far, so good; all very friendly.

But a day may come when some country will have airplanes, dirigibles and submarines that carry airplanes below the water, all capable of crossing the ocean, and send them to the United States, without any invitation.

It would be as well to be ready for that possibility.

GEN. PAI-TSUNG-HAI, commander of the victorious Cantonese troops, issues a proclamation calling on China to start and carry on a "world revolution."

Gen. Pai perhaps does not realize the size of his plan. There are many countries that had all the revolution they wanted between 1914 and 1918, and are willing to rest for awhile now.

But there is no doubt that China with the help of Russia is going to give bad headaches to many international business men.

The British especially, with their head office on the ivory island and their real business [illegible] over the world, will dislike the "world revolution" idea.

VINCENT ASTOR, intelligent young citizen of New York, whose family has long been in the real estate business, returns from Paris with news that Paris is still "anti-Yankee." Also prices are high. A cocktail costs eight francs, which means 32 cents in real money. Several years ago the franc was 14 cents. Think of that.

Of Italy, Mr. Astor brings optimistic news. Trains are on time everywhere. It was not always so before Mussolini's time. Mussolini has pro-

RINI AND GIRL FILE MOTION FOR ACTION IN LISBON COURT

Hearing on Request Will be Held Next Week.

ATTORNEYS BUSY

Mrs. Marie Chorgas and Man go to County Jail.

Motion for bond for Salvadore Rini, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, of Minneapolis, Minn., in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on murder charges in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville, who was found dead in a Walnut street apartment, Tuesday night, will be made in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by Defense Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville and S. W. Crawford, of this city.

Prisoners are Silent.

Arguments on the motion probably will be held next Wednesday or Thursday as the prosecuting attorney must have five days' notice. Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will oppose the move.

Defense counsel today denied that they had "talked over" the matter of bond with Acting Municipal Judge Ben L. Bennett at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, his sister-in-law, were taken to the county jail by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Acting upon the advice of their attorneys, neither of them made any statement before leaving for Lisbon.

Telegram from Woman's Husband.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott received a telegram from James Chorgas, 19 Hogue avenue, North, Minneapolis, husband of the woman under arrest, last night, inquiring, "Is Mrs. Marie Chorgas held in jail there?" Chief McDermott wired back: "Mrs. Chorgas is in the county jail, charge murder."

According to the woman, her husband is engaged in the confectionery business in Minneapolis. She came here about a month ago to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, now serving a life sentence for the murder of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

The grand jury will meet on Monday, April 4, to investigate the charges against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Funeral services for Anania will be held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery. The body is at the home of Felix N. Anania, Bradshaw avenue.

TRAIN KILLS PLOW SALESMAN

NORWALK, March 25.—J. G. Caiu, aged about 55, of 251 Kevin Place, Toledo, a traveling salesman for the Burch Plow company of Crestline, was killed at Monroeville today when his automobile was struck by a westbound New York Central passenger train.

DETROIT GANGSTERS BLAMED FOR FINDLAY KILLING AND ROBBERY

Four Men and Two Women are Nabbed in Automobile Six Miles East of Windsor.

STORE WATCHMAN MURDER VICTIM

Bandits Fled After Slaying Aged Man and Taking $10,000 From Safe on January 30.

DETROIT, March 25.—Four men and two women arrested today in connection with the death of a night watchman in Findlay, Ohio, were released later after questioning of the suspects by Detroit and Windsor police. The authorities failed to link the six with the murder.

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—Four men and two women were arrested early today by Detroit and Windsor police in connection with the slaying of a Findlay, Ohio, night watchman during a robbery a month ago.

Detective Patrick O'Grady and several Windsor officers rushed the suspects in an automobile on Riverside Drive, six miles east of Windsor.

The six persons were brought to Detroit where they were booked under the following names: Charles Gray, 35; John Davies, 43, Windsor; George Young, 27; Frank York, 41; Miss Jean Sousie, 25, and Miss Rose Dezes.

Victim's Keys Found.

FINDLAY, O., March 25.—Peter Grant, 53, night watchman of the C. F. Jackson department store here, was found murdered in the store January 30, and $10,000 taken from the safe.

A week later, a .32 calibre pistol, Grant's keys and 29 Jackson money bags were found along the Toledo-Columbus highway near Kenton.

On Feb. 28, Findlay police declared the robbery and murder had been committed by Detroit gangsters, and a search was begun in the vicinity of Detroit and Toledo.

Weirton Mill Man Fatally Crushed in Drilling Machine

Andrew Muroski, 40, Weirton, was fatally crushed last night when caught in a drilling machine while at work in the annealing department of the Weirton Steel company. He died half an hour after being admitted to the mill emergency hospital.

Coroner George A. Arner, of Chester, will conduct an inquest late this afternoon.

LIONS' CLUB URGES CUT IN MAYOR'S PAY

VOTE APRIL 7

Interest Manifested as Councilman Hughes Drafts Ordinance.

Two civic organizations were on record today on the proposed reduction in the mayor's salary, one urging the slash and the other opposing it

Members of the Lions' club, at a dinner meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A., adopted a motion supporting the proposal. Secretary H. D. Rist will notify city council of this action.

The West End Civic association, at a meeting in the Curry Memorial chapel, West Eighth street, last evening, by a rising vote, opposed any change in the present salary of $1,800 per year, according to Mrs. Aaron Moore.

An ordinance, reducing the salary to $600 per year, prepared under instructions of Solon George A. Hughes of the ordinance committee, will be considered by council at a meeting on Thursday night, April 7.

MRS. LANE, 25, DIES IN HOME

Funeral Services Will be Held at 9 a. m. Monday.

Mrs. Maude Sharpe Lane, 25, wife of Dr. William Lane, Cleveland dentist, died in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Sharpe, 240 West Fifth street, at 7:25 o'clock this morning, after a long illness of complications of diseases.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(11 P. M.)—One hundred and twenty Americans are missing in Nanking, and it it officially believed they have been massacred, according to a dispatch received tonight from Admiral Hough, U. S. N., commanding the American forces in Nanking.

BOMBARDMENT OF BATTLESHIPS FIRES PORTION OF NANKING

LONDON, March 25.—A considerable portion of Nanking is burning, the fires having been started by the bombardment of [illegible] American warships on Thursday, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai today.

[illegible] accompanied by rifle fire, broke out early Friday in the Jessfield district of Shanghai, said a second Central News dispatch from Shanghai. The trouble arose when cotton mill employes attempted to resume work and were prevented by armed pickets.

The industrial situation at Shanghai is said by the Central News to be improving.

The evacuation of the remaining foreigners in Nanking followed successful negotiations between Admiral Hough, U. S. N., and the senior British and Japanese naval officers and the general commanding the Cantonese forces, the radio advices stated.

More than 300 Americans have now been evacuated from Nanking, which had a permanent American population of 400.

150 Americans were evacuated yesterday.

150 Americans were evacuated today.

120 Americans are reported missing, and are believed to have been massacred.

The number of British civilians killed had not been estimated when the casualty list was sent from Nanking.

American and British warships renewed their bombardment of Nanking at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said another dispatch from that city.

Confirm Missionary's Death.

Admiral Hough's latest report that 120 Americans are missing and are believed to have been massacred confirms the International News Service dispatches that there were more than 100 American dead in Nanking.

An official report stated that American Consul General Davis is "safe," but it did not clear up earlier reports that Davis had been wounded.

The oficial advices stated that "a few American sailors were wounded," but did not state how they received their wounds.

Official confirmation has been received on the death of Dr. Williams, of Shawnee, Ohio, a United States missionary.

Serious Disorders at Chinkiang.

Bertram Giles, British consul general at Nanking, is now reported wounded and missing.

Further foreign warships were dispatched to Nanking today from Shanghai.

Reports were received today of serious disorders at Chinkiang, 60 miles from Nanking. Wholesale looting and anti-foreign outbursts are reported there and it is said that the situation is second only to that in Nanking. Reports also indicate anti-foreign demonstrations in Hankow and Wu Hu.

Steamers bringing refugees from Nanking have been delayed at Chinkiang picking up 20 refugees there, most of whom were Americans. The American population of Chinkiang was approximately 80.

Japanese Forces Land.

Earlier advices by radio indicated that the American and British naval authorities had decided to postpone drastic action against the Cantonese at Nanking pending the arrival of

DEVELOPMENTS IN WAR ZONE

Central China is today in a ferment of anti-foreign turmoil.

British and American warships have renewed bombardment of Nanking, where there are still some 150 American refugees reported. It is believed the bombardment was renewed because the Chinese failed to heed an ultimatum to deliver the foreigners aboard the warships by 10 o'clock this morning.

Terrific fires are reported in Nanking.

The Cantonese are reported to have lost 2,000 in the Nanking fighting.

Anti-foreign outbursts are reported in Hankow, Chinkiang, and Wu Hu, with the entire Yangtse valley aflame with anti-foreign rancor.

Disorders has been reported at Shanghai where looting is reported in the Chapei district again.

All foreign powers are sending reinforcements to Nanking.

General Chiang Kai-Shek is reported enroute to Nanking in an attempt to restore order.

United States Consul Davis, Who Was Reported to Have Escaped With His Family, is Now Said to Have Been Seriously Wounded—Four More Destroyers Sail for China.

By Alfred Meyer.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(11 P. M.)—One hundred and twenty Americans are missing in Nanking, and it it officially believed they have been massacred, according to a dispatch received tonight from Admiral Hough, U. S. N., commanding the American forces in Nanking.

BOMBARDMENT OF BATTLESHIPS FIRES PORTION OF NANKING

LONDON, March 25.—A considerable portion of Nanking is burning, the fires having been started by the bombardment of British and American warships on Thursday, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai today.

Rioting, accompanied by rifle fire, broke out early Friday in the Jessfield district of Shanghai, said a second Central News dispatch from Shanghai. The trouble arose when cotton mill employes attempted to resume work and were prevented by armed pickets.

The industrial situation at Shanghai is said by the Central News to be improving.

The evacuation of the remaining foreigners in Nanking followed successful negotiations between Admiral Hough, U. S. N., and the senior British and Japanese naval officers and the general commanding the Cantonese forces, the radio advices stated.

More than 300 Americans have now been evacuated from Nanking, which had a permanent American population of 400.

150 Americans were evacuated yesterday.

150 Americans were evacuated today.

120 Americans are reported missing, and are believed to have been massacred.

The number of British civilians killed had not been estimated when the casualty list was sent from Nanking.

American and British warships renewed their bombardment of Nanking at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said another dispatch from that city.

Confirm Missionary's Death.

Admiral Hough's latest report that 120 Americans are missing and are believed to have been massacred confirms the International News Service dispatches that there were more than 100 American dead in Nanking.

An official report stated that American Consul General Davis is "safe," but it did not clear up earlier reports that Davis had been wounded.

The oficial advices stated that "a few American sailors were wounded," but did not state how they received their wounds.

Official confirmation has been received on the death of Dr. Williams, of Shawnee, Ohio, a United States missionary.

Serious Disorders at Chinkiang.

Bertram Giles, British consul general at Nanking, is now reported wounded and missing.

Reports were received today of serious disorders at Chinkiang, 60 miles from Nanking. Wholesale looting and anti-foreign outbursts are reported there and it is said that the situation is second only to that in Nanking. Reports also indicate anti-foreign demonstrations in Hankow and Wu Hu.

Steamers bringing refugees from Nanking have been delayed at Chinkiang picking up 20 refugees there, most of whom were Americans. The American population of Chinkiang was approximately 80.

DEVELOPMENTS IN WAR ZONE

Central China is today in a ferment of anti-foreign turmoil.

British and American warships have renewed bombardment of Nanking, where there are still some 150 American refugees reported. It is believed the bombardment was renewed because the Chinese failed to heed an ultimatum to deliver the foreigners aboard the warships by 10 o'clock this morning.

Terrific fires are reported in Nanking.

The Cantonese are reported to have lost 2,000 in the Nanking fighting.

Anti-foreign outbursts are reported in Hankow, Chinkiang, and Wu Hu, with the entire Yangtse valley aflame with anti-foreign rancor.

Disorders has been renewed at Shanghai where looting is reported in the Chapei district again.

All foreign powers are sending reinforcements to Nanking.

COUNCILMAN THOMAS FARRALL'S HAT IS IN RING FOR MAYORALTY

Solon-at-large Will Enter August Primary for Republican Nomination, he Announces.

Councilman-at-large Thomas Farrall, Ravine street, serving his second term as a solon, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for mayor at the August primary election. Farrall, first to toss his hat in the ring for the mayoralty, is employed as a warehouseman at the China works of the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles pottery.

At least one other member of council, according to reports, will enter the Republican fight for the city executive's job.

Candidates for municipal offices must file their petitions with the election board not later than June 10.

POTTERS INVITE RAMSAY MacDONALD, FORMER BRITISH PREMIER, TO REUNION

Member of House of Commons is Urged to Attend Outing at Canton.

Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier in Great Britain and at present a member of the house of commons, today was invited to be a guest of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters at the third annual reunion which will be held at Meyers Lake park, Canton, Saturday, June 11.

MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Isabelle, will sail April 19 for an extended visit in the United States.

120 AMERICANS MASSACRED

ANANIA DEATH SUSPECTS SEEK BOND

Today

They May Come, Unasked.

China Wakes Up.

Mr. Astor Sees Europe.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ENGLAND is building two gigantic dirigibles capable of going anywhere in the world. They will cross the Atlantic ocean easily. And Britain is "waiting for an invitation" to send one of these big airships to the United States.

So far, so good; all very friendly.

But a day may come when some country will have airplanes, dirigibles and submarines that carry airplanes below the water, all capable of crossing the ocean, and send them to the United States, without any invitation.

It would be as well to be ready for that possibility.

GEN. PAI-TSUNG-HAI, commander of the victorious Cantonese troops, issues a proclamation calling on China to start and carry on a "world revolution."

Gen. Pai perhaps does not realize the size of his plan. There are many countries that had all the revolution they wanted between 1914 and 1918, and are willing to rest for awhile now.

But there is no doubt that China with the help of Russia is going to give bad headaches to many international business men.

The British especially, with their main office on the foggy island and their real business [illegible] over the world, will dislike the "world revolution" idea.

VINCENT ASTOR, intelligent young citizen of New York, whose family has long been in the real estate business, returns from Paris with news that Paris is still "anti-Yankee." Also prices are high. A cocktail costs eight francs, which means 32 cents in real money. Several years ago the franc was 14 cents. Think of that.

Of Italy, Mr. Astor brings optimistic news. Trains are on time everywhere. It was not always so before Mussolini's time. Mussolini has pro-

RINI AND GIRL FILE MOTION FOR ACTION IN LISBON COURT

Hearing on Request Will be Held Next Week.

ATTORNEYS BUSY

Mrs. Marie Chorgas and Man go to County Jail.

Motion for bond for Salvadore Rini, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, of Minneapolis, Minn., in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on murder charges in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville, who was found dead in a Walnut street apartment, Tuesday night, will be made in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by Defense Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville and S. W. Crawford, of this city.

Prisoners are Silent.

Arguments on the motion probably will be held next Wednesday or Thursday as the prosecuting attorney must have five days' notice. Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will oppose the move.

Defense counsel today denied that they had "talked over" the matter of bond with Acting Municipal Judge Ben L. Bennett at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, his sister-in-law, were taken to the county jail by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Acting upon the advice of their attorneys, neither of them made any statement before leaving for Lisbon.

Telegram from Woman's Husband.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott received a telegram from James Chorgas, 19 Hogue avenue, North, Minneapolis, husband of the woman under arrest, last night, inquiring, "Is Mrs. Marie Chorgas held in jail there?" Chief McDermott wired back: "Mrs. Chorgas is in the county jail, charge murder."

According to the woman, her husband is engaged in the confectionery business in Minneapolis. She came here about a month ago to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Saline ville coal miner, now serving a life sentence for the murder of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

The grand jury will meet on Monday, April 4, to investigate the charges against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Funeral services for Anania will be held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery. The body is at the home of Felix N. Anania, Bradshaw avenue.

TRAIN KILLS PLOW SALESMAN

NORWALK, March 25.—J. G. Cain, aged about 55, of 251 Kevin Place, Toledo, a traveling salesman for the Burch Plow company of Crestline, was killed at Monroeville today when his automobile was struck by a westbound New York Central passenger train.

DETROIT GANGSTERS BLAMED FOR FINDLAY KILLING AND ROBBERY

Four Men and Two Women are Nabbed in Automobile Six Miles East of Windsor.

STORE WATCHMAN MURDER VICTIM

Bandits Fled After Slaying Aged Man and Taking $10,000 From Safe on January 30.

DETROIT, March 25.—Four men and two women arrested today in connection with the death of a night watchman in Findlay, Ohio, were released later after questioning of the suspects by Detroit and Windsor police. The authorities failed to link the six with the murder.

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—Four men and two women were arrested early today by Detroit and Windsor police in connection with the slaying of a Findlay, Ohio, night watchman during a robbery a month ago.

Detective Patrick O'Grady and several Windsor officers nabbed the suspects in an automobile on Riverside Drive, six miles east of Windsor.

The six persons were brought to Detroit where they were booked under the following names: Charles Berry, 35; John Davies, 43, Windsor; George Young, 27; Frank York, 41; Miss Jean Sousie, 25, and Miss Rose Dezes.

Victim's Keys Found.

FINDLAY, O., March 25.—Peter Grant, 53, night watchman of the C. F. Jackson department store here, was found murdered in the store January 30, and $10,000 taken from the safe.

A week later, a .32 calibre pistol, Grant's keys and 29 Jackson money bags were found along the Toledo-Columbus highway near Kenton.

On Feb. 28, Findlay police declared the robbery and murder had been committed by Detroit gangsters, and a search was begun in the vicinity of Detroit and Toledo.

Weirton Mill Man Fatally Crushed in Drilling Machine

Andrew Muroski, 40, Weirton, was fatally crushed last night when caught in a drilling machine while at work in the annealing department of the Weirton Steel company. He died half an hour after being admitted to the mill emergency hospital.

Coroner George A. Arner, of Chester, will conduct an inquest late this afternoon.

LIONS' CLUB URGES CUT IN MAYOR'S PAY

VOTE APRIL 7

Interest Manifested as Councilman Hughes Drafts Ordinance.

Two civic organizations were on record today on the proposed reduction in the mayor's salary, one urging the slash and the other opposing it

Members of the Lions' club, at a dinner meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A., adopted a motion supporting the proposal. Secretary H. D. Rist will notify city council of this action.

The West End Civic association, at a meeting in the Curry Memorial chapel, West Eighth street, last evening, by a rising vote, opposed any change in the present salary of $1,800 per year, according to Mrs. Aaron Moore.

An ordinance, reducing the salary to $600 per year, prepared under instructions of Solon George A. Hughes of the ordinance committee, will be considered by council at a meeting on Thursday night, April 7.

MRS. LANE, 25, DIES IN HOME

Funeral Services Will be Held at 9 a. m. Monday.

Mrs. Maude Sharpe Lane, 25, wife of Dr. William Lane, Cleveland dentist, died in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Sharpe, 240 West Fifth street, at 7:25 o'clock this morning, after a long illness of complications of diseases.

Mrs. Lane, who was born in Kane, Pa., and later resided in Youngstown, came to East Liverpool, where she was employed in the First National bank, about five years ago.

Besides her mother, she leaves five brothers, Major R. J. Sharpe, Kane, Pa.; Robert C. Sharpe, Cleveland, and Edward, James and Evan, all of East Liverpool, and three sisters, Mesdames Oscar Ford, Toledo; Earl Eberly, Cleveland, and Louis Bates, Washington, D. C. Her father was the late Robert C. Sharpe, who died in Kane, Pa.

Funeral services will be held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, of which she was a member, at 9 o'clock Monday morning, in charge of Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, pastor. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

SHAWNEE, OHIO, MISSIONARY, IS SLAIN BY FIRE OF GUERILLAS

Rev. J. E. Williams Dies in Fighting at Nanking.

FAMILY IN CHINA

Daughter Connected With Y. W. C. A. at Shanghai.

NEW LEXINGTON, O., March 25.—Rev. J. E. Williams, a Presbyterian missionary, and a native of Shawnee, Ohio, near here, was today reported killed in the fighting at Nanking, China, according to cable advices.

He left a Presbyterian ministry here 20 years ago, to enter the missionary field. With him in China when he was last heard from at Shanghai, were his wife, and his daughter, Faith, who was connected with the Y. W. C. A. at Shanghai. Several weeks ago, Rev. Williams was transferred to Nanking, but it is not known here whether members of his family accompanied him from Shanghai to Nanking.

Mrs. James B. Collins, wife of a Shanghai banker, is a niece of Rev. Williams, and his brother David E. Williams, lives at New Lexington. Another daughter, Miss Dorothy Williams, is an instructor at Wellesley college, Boston, and a third daughter, Miss Mary Williams, teaches in the public schools at Boston.

Cantonese Blamed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Responsibility for the murder of Americans in Nanking, and the looting of the American consulate there, was placed directly upon the Cantonese Nationalists today by Consul John K. Davis, in an official report received here at noon.

Davis himself was reported wounded. His report, the first direct word from him since yesterday's terroism in Nanking, gave a meager but graphic description of his escape from the city.

RIVER VICTIM'S BODY IS BURIED

Body of the unidentified woman, recovered from the Ohio river near Babb's Island, early Wednesday afternoon, was buried today in the United Presbyterian church cemetery near Calcutta. Short services were conducted at the grave by Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the church.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification was impossible, and Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, this morning instructed the Miller undertaking establishment to inter it.

BALTO, SEPPALA'S FAMOUS HUSKY HERO, GETS HOME IN CLEVELAND ZOO

CLEVELAND.—Balto, the hero dog who led Leonard Seppala's team of huskies into Nome two years ago, pulling that precious little cargo of diphtheria anti-toxin will make his future home in Brookside zoo, Cleveland.

Huskies, such as Balto may live to the ripe age of 20 years, dog experts declare. As Balto is but five years old at the present time, he is thought to be good for ten years more at least, perhaps longer for he will receive excellent care at the zoo.

Subscriptions accepted in the local drive, ranged all the way from pennies contributed by school children, upward.

BALTO, SEPPALA'S FAMOUS HUSKY HERO, GETS HOME IN CLEVELAND ZOO

CLEVELAND.—Balto, the hero dog who led Leonard Seppala's team of huskies into Nome two years ago, pulling that precious little cargo of diphtheria anti-toxin will make his future home in Brookside zoo, Cleveland.

Huskies, such as Balto may live to the ripe age of 20 years, dog experts declare. As Balto is but five years old at the present time, he is thought to be good for ten years more at least, perhaps longer for he will receive excellent care at the zoo.

Subscriptions accepted in the local drive, ranged all the way from pennies contributed by school children, upward.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

A cough or cold may only make you feel miserable today. But when you begin to feel "achy" and feverish, with a tightness in your chest, congestion is reaching your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Hospital-Proved Medicine—not just a "cough syrup"! This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to every part of your system.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people.. At all druggists. Save 20 cents by getting the dollar bottle, containing twice as much as the 60c trial size. c513

Partition Decree Granted.

A decree of partition has been granted in the case of John B. Walborn against Mrs. Hattie Guy, on his petition filed July 10th, 1926. Commissioners appointed by the court in this case are: John P. Welsh, Noble Baker and A. P. Rupert.

Decree Handed Down.

In the partition action of James C. Cunningham against Andrew J. Cunningham, filed Sept. 14th last, the court has handed down a decree of distribution of fees to counsel in the case.

Woman Seeks Divorce.

Charging her husband with extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty, Mrs. Marie Alberts, through her counsel G. J. Clark has filed her petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband George Alberts, a signalman employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., at Caldwell, Noble county. The couple were married at Lisbon, Jan. 24, 1921.

Cited for Contempt.

Emmett E. Longbottom, who filed an action for divorce against his wife, Hertha L. Longbottom, May 25th last, and in which no decree has been handed down, has been cited to appear in court at Lisbon, April 1st, at 9:30 o'clock and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

To Begin Road Work.

County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk has been advised by Milert & Weidner, contractors, who have been awarded the surfacing contract for the Hanover-Salem intercounty highway, that the firm would go on the project on or about April 15th.

Judgment Rendered.

In the case of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., against J. H. Hinchliffe, the defendant being in default for answer or demurrer, judgment has been rendered in common pleas court against the defendant for $496.21, on a claim for merchandise filed in common pleas court Jan. 19th for $487.68 and interest.

Divorce Case Dismissed.

The divorce action filed in common pleas court by C. W. Leland of Salem against Marcia Straughn Leland has been dismissed on a motion of the plaintiff. Judgment for the costs in the action has been rendered against the plaintiff.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Merlin D. Stanley of Damascus, and Miss Fern Oesch, residing in Knox township, but formerly at Salem, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Oesch. They will be married by the Rev. Haldy.

Seeks Citizenship.

Ludvig Overby, of Lisbon, employed as a lineman, and aged 41 years has filed a declaration of intent to become a citizen with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine. He is a native of Norway, and arrived at the port of New York, March 11, 1904.

Official announcement has been received by Clerk Ballantine that the next session of neutralization court would be held April 27.

Property Transfers.

'Tact" In China

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of Cantonese leaders," remarks an American editor, "if they avoid conflict with foreign troops in Shanghai and thereby prevent future trouble with the governments they represent."

Suppose we look at the other side of it, and reply:

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of foreign leaders (European and American) if they avoid conflict with Cantonese troops in Shanghai, and thereby prevent trouble with the (Nationalist) government those troops represent."

The tact seems to be up to the western powers now trying to sit tight at Shanghai while the old Chinese system blows up around them.

There are two very important things to do there, if these western powers, including America, are to get along with China from now on. One is to pick the winning faction in this civil war, and the other is to deal wisely with that faction.

Recent developments should make this delicate problem easier than it has been. The Nationalist or Cantonese forces under Chiang Kai-Shek, representing the political party called Kuo-Min-Tang, are now in possession of Shanghai and nearly all the rest of China. The northern armies representing the old, reactionary, corrupt system under which China has suffered for ages, seem to be melting away. The libeal movement, inspired originally by Sun Yat Sen, who drew his political ideals from America, is apparently succeeding.

There is said to be division in the ranks of the Nationalists, between the republican element and the Communist element which is friendly to Soviet Russia, with the commander-in-chief, Chiang Kai-Shek, opposing the Communist group.

Thus it looks sensible, and also in harmony with the ideals expressed by the leading western powers, especially America, to deal directly and promptly with the Nationalist leader, as the representative of China, and make such concessions to Chinese sovereignty as are necessary.

Average Prosperity

Seeking light on the country's present business situation, Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, finds it very complicated. The facts are hard to get at, he says, and are contradictory when you do get hold of them. But he seems satified that conditions on the whole are good.

"Trade is spotted," he observes, "but entirely satisfactory to all who accept the fact that even in the United States an occasional year must slip by without breaking records."

Last year was adjudged, at its close, the peak of American prosperity for all time. And that in spite of the fact that it seemed slow in getting under way, and most of us, as the year proceeded, had no idea that all records were being smashed.

It may be taken for granted that the present year will not break last year's remarkable record for industrial production, volume of trade and general well-being, and probably not equal it. But none of us need be astonished if it comes pretty close. And in any case, as Mr. Price intimates, we shall have no kick coming if it proves to be merely an "average year."

It is the average that indicates the American level of prosperity; and only a little study of conditions abroad gives one a thrilling sense of how immeasurably this living standard level surpasses that of other nations.

Turn-Table Houses

A house model exhibited at Nice, France, is mounted on a turntable, with an electric motor attachment, so that the building can be turned in any direction by merely turning a switch. French architects are said to approve of the idea.

That would be very convenient in enabling the family to have a change of scene whenever they liked, without leaving the house. It would also be pleasant to follow the sun automatically, keeping that luminary shining into the living room or dining room or sun room all day. Many of our alleged sun rooms now are sadly lacking in sunshine. Add the new glass invented in England, whereby the ultra-violet rays are enabled to pass through, and everyone can get the full benefit of sunlight, including a coat of tan, indoors.

Likewise the sun may be dodged on a hot summer day, by a process easier than pulling down the shades. There is developing, by the way, a modern cult of light-worshippers who insist that window shades should never be pulled down.

What next? A mechanism to raise or lower a house like a barber's chair?

How to make money out of farming: Bring the city to the edge of your farm and then turn your acreage into an allotment.

If the Soviet government is so good at managing other countries—China and Mexico, for instance—as some observers say, we should think it could do better with Russia.

A returned American says the Chinese Nationalist soldiers are marching to the tune of "John Brown's Body" and "Yankee Doodle." No wonder they arrive.

APPERTAINING TO FINANCE

Most of us are familiar with the story of the improvident person who, on being warned by the head of his bank that he must make extensive deposits immediately in order that his drawing account might balance, made answer as follows:

'Say, look here! I'm getting good and tired of having you fellows bothering me about these petty financial details. If you begin pestering me again, I'll be derned if I don't take my overdraft out of your bank and transfer it to the Second National, across the street."

There's a companion story for this, not quite so old:

A gentleman in a Southern town, well known as brilliant but careless, was persistent in his applications for loans and extremely tardy about repaying them. He had induced a local bank to let him have forty dollars and gave his note therefor.

At the end of each go-day period he invariably appeared and asked that the note be renewed; and as there was nothing else to do, the bank always renewed it.

One day he appeared and said to the cashier:

"I'd like to renew that paper of mine you have here."

"Certainly," replied the cashier; "I'll fix it up for you."

The cashier made the proper preparations for the renewal; and then he said:

"Say, the directors were talking about this paper of yours the other day. They decided they wouldn't charge you interest on it any longer."

"That is very considerate of them," was the reply. "I'm mighty glad to hear it. I certainly am under obligations to them."

'Yes," continued the cashier, "we're not going to charge you interest, we're going to charge you storage!"

There are any number of writers of "westerns," an editor tells me, who have never seen a cowboy outside the movies. And what they know of open spaces is gleaned from Central park. Yet their popularity is chiefly among those they write about. Along the same line, there is a man who writes a fashion column for men, who is about the shoddiest dresser to be found outside of a 10-cent lodging house.

A high brown gal of the Harlem cabarets is said to have the most complete summer wardrobe hereabouts. The story goes she cashed in on a $30,000 building investment in the Black Belt and turning it over to a fashionable dressmaker, said: "Shoot the works. I'm going to Europe and grab a count."

And a report from a tailoring association announces the average New Yorker buys three suits for business a year and a dinner suit every fourth year. On the other hand there is a boulevardier who buys clothes three times a year—15 suits at a crack. His riding, golf, tennis, evening and hunting clothes are extra.

Conserving Waste Wood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—When a standing tree is felled it is said to be good logging and good milling if 40 per cent of it is converted into usuable lumber. The average result is around 33 per cent. In utilizing the lumber at least one-fourth is lost in turning out the finished product, according to the computations of the experts, hence there is a wastage of approximately 75 per cent of the tree. Hence the exceedingly important problem of reducing that waste.

This problem is regarded as all the more important because of the constantly diminishing supply of timber in the world and particularly in the United States. Something has to be done about it, and a great deal is being done. However, much remains to be done.

Everything from chopsticks for exportation to China and Japan to alcohol, both ethyl and wood, for the ulterior purposes of American bootleggers is being made out of waste wood, and the end is not yet. Scientists are working constantly on the problem and almost daily are devising new uses to bring about ultimately the complete consumption of nature's great gift to mankind.

It is almost beyond human conception to grasp the amount of timber that is consumed each year in the united States. It runs to something like 53 billion board feet—square feet one inch thick—and persons who delight in computations of the sort have figured that this would be enough to construct a board walk 20 feet in width from the earth to the moon.

Along with this almost an equal amount is used as fuel annually—a quantity that would make a woodpile half a mile in height and almost three-quarters of a mile square at its base. In the rural districts of the United States there are doubtless numerous small boys who will make oath that they carry in that amount of wood every year, but their imaginations run far ahead of their actual labors. And yet, while a woodpile of that size is inconceivable, it is to be remembered that it does not suffice, so to speak, to boil all the eggs that are consumed in this country each twelve-month, for great quantities of coal and no small amount of gas, oil, and electricity are also used for that purpose.

Waste Not What It Was Formerly.

Of course the waste of timber is nothing now compared to what it was in the days when only lumber or firewood was made of a tree, and when they were "choicey" about their lumber and firewood. The lumber had to be of a width and of a grain or it would be cast aside, and the firewood had to be from timber that was easily cut and split or it would be left to rot on the ground. In those days a serious problem at every mill was what to do with slabs, chips, short cuts, and sawdust. No one thought of utilizing them; the only concern was how to get rid of them.

Now it is predicted that the near future will see timber handled by a group of industrial establishments and laboratories, directed by experts and chemists who will see to it that each tree yields everything of use there is in it from roots to branches.

Such a plant, says one scientist, might take a Douglas Fir, for example, and utilize its trunk for lumber for houses; the bark for wallboard or filler for paper; the trimmings for lath and "hogged fuel" for power: and the residue for charcoal for stock feed and other uses. From the branches, top, and stump, resin, turpentine, and other chemicals would be extractible, leaving more charcoal. Larger pieces of wood that once might have been wasted would be ground up for wood pulp fro wrapping paper and newsprint, and the liquor from the pulp mill might be used as a binder for the sawdust, thereby converting the last left-over into a fuel.

A bookkeeper in a northwestern lumber mill found his way to fortune through knowing what to do with waste lumber. The mill was on the verge of bankruptcy, but had accumulated a tremendous quantity of short lengths that might be valuable if a

"Tact" In China

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of Cantonese leaders," remarks an American editor, "if they avoid conflict with foreign troops in Shanghai and thereby prevent future trouble with the governments they represent."

Suppose we look at the other side of it, and reply:

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of foreign leaders (European and American) if they avoid conflict with Cantonese troops in Shanghai, and thereby prevent trouble with the (Nationalist) government those troops represent."

The tact seems to be up to the western powers now trying to sit tight at Shanghai while the old Chinese system blows up around them.

There are two very important things to do there, if these western powers, including America, are to get along with China from now on. One is to pick the winning faction in this civil war, and the other is to deal wisely with that faction.

Recent developments should make this delicate problem easier than it has been. The Nationalist or Cantonese forces under Chiang Kai-Shek, representing the political party called Kuo-Min-Tang, are now in possession of Shanghai and nearly all the rest of China. The northern armies representing the old, reactionary, corrupt system under which China has suffered for ages, seem to be melting away. The libeal movement, inspired originally by Sun Yat Sen, who drew his political ideals from America, is apparently succeeding.

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of Cantonese leaders," remarks an American editor, "if they avoid conflict with foreign troops in Shanghai and thereby prevent future trouble with the governments they represent."

Suppose we look at the other side of it, and reply:

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of foreign leaders (European and American) if they avoid conflict with Cantonese troops in Shanghai, and thereby prevent trouble with the (Nationalist) government those troops represent."

The tact seems to be up to the western powers now trying to sit tight at Shanghai while the old Chinese system blows up around them.

There are two very important things to do there, if these western powers, including America, are to get along with China from now on. One is to pick the winning faction in this civil war, and the other is to deal wisely with that faction.

Recent developments should make this delicate problem easier than it has been. The Nationalist or Cantonese forces under Chiang Kai-Shek, representing the political party called Kuo-Min-Tang, are now in possession of Shanghai and nearly all the rest of China. The northern armies representing the old, reactionary, corrupt system under which China has suffered for ages, seem to be melting away. The libeal movement, inspired originally by Sun Yat Sen, who drew his political ideals from America, is apparently succeeding.

There is said to be division in the ranks of the Nationalists, between the republican element and the Communist element which is friendly to Soviet Russia, with the commander-in-chief, Chiang Kai-Shek, opposing the Communist group.

Thus it looks sensible, and also in harmony with the ideals expressed by the leading western powers, especially America, to deal directly and promptly with the Nationalist leader, as the representative of China, and make such concessions to Chinese sovereignty as are necessary.

Average Prosperity

Seeking light on the country's present business situation, Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, finds it very complicated. The facts are hard to get at, he says, and are contradictory when you do get hold of them. But he seems satified that conditions on the whole are good.

"Trade is spotted," he observes, "but entirely satisfactory to all who accept the fact that even in the United States an occasional year must slip by without breaking records."

Last year was adjudged, at its close, the peak of American prosperity for all time. And that in spite of the fact that it seemed slow in getting under way, and most of us, as the year proceeded, had no idea that all records were being smashed.

It may be taken for granted that the present year will not break last year's remarkable record for industrial production, volume of trade and general well-being, and probably not equal it. But none of us need be astonished if it comes pretty close. And in any case, as Mr. Price intimates, we shall have no kick coming if it proves to be merely an "average year."

It is the average that indicates the American level of prosperity; and only a little study of conditions abroad gives one a thrilling sense of how immeasurably this living standard level surpasses that of other nations.

Turn-Table Houses

A house model exhibited at Nice, France, is mounted on a turntable, with an electric motor attachment, so that the building can be turned in any direction by merely turning a switch. French architects are said to approve of the idea.

That would be very convenient in enabling the family to have a change of scene whenever they liked, without leaving the house. It would also be pleasant to follow the sun automatically, keeping that luminary shining into the living room or dining room or sun room all day. Many of our alleged sun rooms now are sadly lacking in sunshine. Add the new glass invented in England, whereby the ultra-violet rays are enabled to pass through, and everyone can get the full benefit of sunlight, including a coat of tan, indoors.

Likewise the sun may be dodged on a hot summer day, by a process easier than pulling down the shades. There is developing, by the way, a modern cult of light-worshippers who insist that window shades should never be pulled down.

What next? A mechanism to raise or lower a house like a barber's chair?

How to make money out of farming: Bring the city to the edge of your farm and then turn your acreage into an allotment.

If the Soviet government is so good at managing other countries—China and Mexico, for instance—as some observers say, we should think it could do better with Russia.

A returned American says the Chinese Nationalist soldiers are marching to the tune of "John Brown's Body" and "Yankee Doodle." No wonder they arrive.

APPERTAINING TO FINANCE

Most of us are familiar with the story of the improvident person who, on being warned by the head of his bank that he must make extensive deposits immediately in order that his drawing account might balance, made answer as follows:

'Say, look here! I'm getting good and tired of having you fellows bothering me about these petty financial details. If you begin pestering me again, I'll be derned if I don't take my overdraft out of your bank and transfer it to the Second National, across the street."

There's a companion story for this, not quite so old:

A gentleman in a Southern town, well known as brilliant but careless, was persistent in his applications for loans and extremely tardy about repaying them. He had induced a local bank to let him have forty dollars and gave his note therefor.

At the end of each go-day period he invariably appeared and asked that the note be renewed; and as there was nothing else to do, the bank always renewed it.

One day he appeared and said to the cashier:

"I'd like to renew that paper of mine you have here."

"Certainly," replied the cashier; "I'll fix it up for you."

The cashier made the proper preparations for the renewal; and then he said:

"Say, the directors were talking about this paper of yours the other day. They decided they wouldn't charge you interest on it any longer."

"That is very considerate of them," was the reply. "I'm mighty glad to hear it. I certainly am under obligations to them."

'Yes," continued the cashier, "we're not going to charge you interest, we're going to charge you storage!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 25.—Thoughts while strolling: Sign near the Ritz: "Why Palm Beach? Get a society tan here." The giant doorman at the Roosevelt. Sam Kingston, the Broadway Adonis. Cafe features salt rising bread. I'd like one that doesn't decorate dishes with sprays of parsley.

Why do men caught talking to themselves begin humming a tune or whistling? Too many black-haired film heroes. Need a few blondes. Autographed slickers. Pierre Key, the critic. Never hear of an alto singer anymore. Moe and Mike's kindling cellar.

What became of striped wall paper? The hurdy gurdy arrives. And the kokey pokey man. Hotels with street windows. And yawning brass spittoons. Book stalls and nodding old proprietors. Warehouses with musty smells and air of depression.

Shirtless young men who play ball in the street. Listless children who drag rag dolls and boxes along pavements. Slatternly women who sit at windows. Basement dining rooms without curtains. Old men who seem to shrink from human contact. And pale shut-ins.

Turkish coffee shops. Viennese bakeries. Window cigarette rollers. Tailors sitting cross legged on tables in semi-darkness. Sallow young men who read Russian novels as they walk. Long haired fiddlers and girls as chic as those on Fifth avenue.

"I Cure Men" signs. Brackish odors from the river. The toot of tugs. A wax musee with a chamber of horrors. And outside ballyhoo. Canary colored buttoned shoes with mountainous toes. Racks of gaudy suspenders and wild two-gun movies.

A disheveled drunk lurches across the sidewalks and sinks at the curb. Fumbling through his pockets. "Sales" in every other store. Wedding dresses and suits for hire. Shawled women carrying baskets on their heads. And a blind man thrums a guitar.

A box office man in a New York theatre usually accupies his off evenings in attending performances at other theatres. Sailors spend leisure hours rowing in Central park, but the hand-painted doughnut goes to the writer of western stories who spends much money and idle time in a Sixth Avenue shooting gallery. There's a citified slant on western "atmosphere" for you.

There are any number of writers of "westerns," an editor tells me, who have never seen a cowboy outside the movies. And what they know of open spaces is gleaned from Central park. Yet their popularity is chiefly among those they write about. Along the same line, there is a man who writes a fashion column for men, who is about the shoddiest dresser to be found outside of a 10-cent lodging house.

A high brown gal of the Harlem cabarets is said to have the most complete summer wardrobe hereabouts. The story goes she cashed in on a $30,000 building investment in the Black Belt and turning it over to a fashionable dressmaker, said: "Shoot the works. I'm going to Europe and grab a count."

And a report from a tailoring association announces the average New Yorker buys three suits for business a year and a dinner suit every fourth year. On the other hand there is a boulevardier who buys clothes three times a year—15 suits at a crack. His riding, golf, tennis, evening and hunting clothes are extra.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Conserving Waste Wood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—When a standing tree is felled it is said to be good logging and good milling if 40 per cent of it is converted into usuable lumber. The average result is around 33 per cent. In utilizing the lumber at least one-fourth is lost in turning out the finished product, according to the computations of the experts, hence there is a wastage of approximately 75 per cent of the tree. Hence the exceedingly important problem of reducing that waste.

This problem is regarded as all the more important because of the constantly diminishing supply of timber in the world and particularly in the United States. Something has to be done about it, and a great deal is being done. However, much remains to be done.

Everything from chopsticks for exportation to China and Japan to alcohol, both ethyl and wood, for the ulterior purposes of American bootleggers is being made out of waste wood, and the end is not yet. Scientists are working constantly on the problem and almost daily are devising new uses to bring about ultimately the complete consumption of nature's great gift to mankind.

It is almost beyond human conception to grasp the amount of timber that is consumed each year in the united States. It runs to something like 53 billion board feet—square feet one inch thick—and persons who delight in computations of the sort have figured that this would be enough to construct a board walk 20 feet in width from the earth to the moon.

Along with this almost an equal amount is used as fuel annually—a quantity that would make a woodpile half a mile in height and almost three-quarters of a mile square at its base. In the rural districts of the United States there are doubtless numerous small boys who will make oath that they carry in that amount of wood every year, but their imaginations run far ahead of their actual labors. And yet, while a woodpile of that size is inconceivable, it is to be remembered that it does not suffice, so to speak, to boil all the eggs that are consumed in this country each twelve-month, for great quantities of coal and no small amount of gas, oil, and electricity are also used for that purpose.

Waste Not What It Was Formerly.

Of course the waste of timber is nothing now compared to what it was in the days when only lumber or firewood was made of a tree, and when they were "choicey" about their lumber and firewood. The lumber had to be of a width and of a grain or it would be cast aside, and the firewood had to be from timber that was easily cut and split or it would be left to rot on the ground. In those days a serious problem at every mill was what to do with slabs, chips, short cuts, and sawdust. No one thought of utilizing them; the only concern was how to get rid of them.

Now it is predicted that the near future will see timber handled by a group of industrial establishments and laboratories, directed by experts and chemists who will see to it that each tree yields everything of use there is in it from roots to branches.

Such a plant, says one scientist, might take a Douglas Fir, for example, and utilize its trunk for lumber for houses; the bark for wallboard or filler for paper; the trimmings for lath and "hogged fuel" for power: and the residue for charcoal for stock feed and other uses. From the branches, top, and stump, resin, turpentine, and other chemicals would be extractible, leaving more charcoal. Larger pieces of wood that once might have been wasted would be ground up for wood pulp fro wrapping paper and newsprint, and the liquor from the pulp mill might be used as a binder for the sawdust, thereby converting the last left-over into a fuel.

A bookkeeper in a northwestern lumber mill found his way to fortune through knowing what to do with waste lumber. The mill was on the verge of bankruptcy, but had accumulated a tremendous quantity of short lengths that might be valuable if a

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CAPITOL FIRE REPORT FILED

The loss to the state of West Virginia in the fire which destroyed the frame office building occupied by several departments and commissions, aggregated $120,316, while the insurance on contents of the building amounted to $95,000, the legislature was told today by Governor Gore, who submitted to the solons the report of his committee which inquired into the fire.

The buildings were not owned by the state, but had been previously sold to W. B. Geary and others of Charleston.

Headed by Attorney General Howard Lee, the investigating committee was unable to secure any information as to how the fire started, adding, however, that "we could find no evidence indicating in any degree that the fire was of other than purely accidental origin." The report further said that "we do not consider that the fire was any more than might have been reasonably expected at any time within the last five or six years."

MARTIN HANDED JAIL SENTENCE

Chester Martin, charged with contributing to the delinquency of three Chester children, was sentenced to six months in jail when arraigned this week before Judge J. Harold Brennan in circuit court at New Cumberland.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CAPITOL FIRE REPORT FILED

The loss to the state of West Virginnia in the fire which destroyed the frame office building occupied by several departments and commissions, aggregated $120,316, while the insurance on contents of the building amounted to $95,000, the legislature was told today by Governor Gore, who submitted to the solons the report of his committee which inquired into the fire.

The buildings were not owned by the state, but had been previously sold to W. B. Geary and others of Charleston.

Headed by Attorney General Howard Lee, the investigating committee was unable to secure any information as to how the fire started, adding, however, that "we could find no evidence indicating in any degree that the fire was of other than purely accidental origin." The report further said that "we do not consider that the fire was any more than might have been reasonably expected at any time within the last five or six years."

MARTIN HANDED JAIL SENTENCE

Chester Martin, charged with contributing to the delinquency of three Chester children, was sentenced to six months in jail when arraigned this week before Judge J. Harold Brennan in circuit court at New Cumberland.

Elinus Mack, of New Cumberland, tried on a like charge was acquitted. The jury was out eight minutes and took only one ballot.

Case of George Witchovich charged with assault was set for trial next Tuesday. Damage case of Isadore Frolow against Nick Sotiriados was settled out of court.

Ralph Crago was fined $100 and given 30 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to violating the liquor laws.

Aid Society Meets.

Members of division No. 2, Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist Episcopal church, met last night in the tabernacle. Mrs. Lon Ten Eyck and Mrs. C. W. Ewing were in charge.

Expert on Quilting

Mrs. Mary Anderson, who was brought to Boston by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford from the famous Berea school in Kentucky, to demonstrate the making of quilts, is shown demonstrating her art to two visitors at the Bed Covering Exhibition in the New England City.

VIRGIL HUFF, AGED 23, DIES

Virgil Huff, 23 years old, Pughtown, died yesterday in the home of his aunt, Mrs. William Allison, Steubenville, after an illness of a complication of diseases.

He is survived by his widow, nee Miss Edith Virden, two children, Leon and Nora; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Huff, and three brothers, Archie, Ray and Ulysses, all of Pughtown.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in the Pughtown Presbyterian church, in charge of Rev. J. T. Cowings. Burial will be made in Locust Hill cemetery.

Revival Meets Continue.

Large crowds continue to attend revival meetings in the Nazarene church being conducted by Rev. Carrie Sloan. Meetings will continue next week with Rev. Lulu Kell delivering the sermons.

Missionary Meeting.

Members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church met last night in the parsonage. Regular program was carried out.

Many Attend Supper.

Supper held last night in the basement of the First Presbyterian church was large attended. The affair was in charge of the women of the congregation.

Road Bond Bill Passed.

Road bond bill was passed yesterday in the senate by a vote of 24 to 5. The measure was dispatched to the house where it was referred to the road committee.

New Pastor Named.

Rev. J. E. Kidwell, of Chesapeake, O., has been chosen pastor of the New Cumberland Christian church. He will assume his duties April 1.

If a good citizen waits until he has been married 50 years he may get his name in the papers.—Coshocton Tribune.

Headlights in front of us and tail lights behind us, wail the hundreds of carts parked in the downtown streets.—Zanesville Signal.

This year will be half gone before long and all the 1928 models of autos are not yet on the market.—Dayton Herald.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the death of our beloved brother-in-law, Mr. Charles Souers. We thank Rev. Benedum, Adj. Lower, singers and those who sent flowers.

SOCIETY

FORMER RESIDENTS OF COLUMBIANA COUNTY ATTEND CLEVELAND BANQUET

Many of 1,500 Members of Association Will Observe One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Birthday Celebration.

The Columbiana County association of Cuyahoga county, composed of 1,500 former residents of the Ohio river county who now reside in Cleveland, will celebrate the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the formation of the county with a banquet in the Epworth Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Prospect avenue and 25th street, in the Forest City, tonight.

A program of short addresses, together with a history of the county, will be featured after the dinner which is expected to attract several hundred guests.

As a surprise feature, late editions of all Columbiana newspapers, including the East Liverpool Review-Tribune, will be distributed among the guests.

Miss Pauline Bolles Hostess.

Miss Pauline Bolles was hostess to the members of the Merry Makers' club last evening at her home in Peach alley. The social hours were spent in playing 500, trophies being won by Mesdames Harry Larkins and B. O. Harris.

Refresiments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Larkins.

Mrs. Hazel Calhoun was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held March 31, at the home of Mrs. William Curran, in West Fourth street.

Birthday Anniversary Party.

Honoring the second birthday anniversary of her daughter, Anna, Mrs. A. P. Rubin entertained a group of little folks yesterday afternoon, at her home, 246 West Fourth street. Juvenile games were pastimes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs Rubin, assisted by Misses Mary Barborrak and Laura Butch. Covers were arranged for Lillie Sosnow, Betty Rubin, Lee Gail and Joan Altman, Pearl Bloor, Dorothy and Lettie Brooks, Bobby Shapiro, Maurice and Esther Rubin, Gail Harkins, Betty and Charles Smith, Arthur and Ellen Grumet, and Mrs. Clyde Smith. A color scheme of pink and yellow predominated in the appointments.

Mt. Union Honors Kenneth Knowles.

Kenneth Knowles, of East Liverpool, a member of junior class at Mount Union college, Alliance, has been chosen to deliver the Mantle oration in connection with the annual commencement, June 13.

In the choice of Knowles to deliver the address, he is given one of the most prominent parts that can be accorded any junior.

Knowles has had considerable experience in oratory and public speaking work, being a former member of the college debate squad and member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity.

In addition to being an ex-debater, Knowles is also a former member of the college student senate, having sat on that body two successive years.

Jolly Five Club Session.

The Jolly Five club met last night at the home of Miss Hilda Baumgard in Martin street. A short business session preceded music, games and a guessing contest, which was won by Miss Infelda Tohlison.

Refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. John Lackey. Covers were arranged for Misses Ruth Payton Imelda Tohmlison, Frances Johanning, Mary Farson, and Hilda Baumgard.

Young People's Class Will Honor Beethoven's Memory

Miss Lysbeth Hamill will receive the Young People's class in musical appreciation Saturday afternoon, at her studio in Thompson Place, when a program of Beethoven's music will be given in commemoration of the composer's death which occurred on March 26, 1827. Each pupil will give a short talk on the form of composition she plays.

The program follows:

"The Life and Works of Beethoven" —Marjorie McNicol.

"Rondoletto" in B—Deborah Mountford.

"Andante" in F—Margaret Martino.

"Minuet" in G—Susan Birbeck.

"Scherzo" in F—Mary Gerace.

"Minuetto" from "Sonata" in E flat —Emma May Fleming.

"L'Adieu"—Mary Louise Bergner.

"Beethoven's Centenary"—Emma May Fleming.

Studios, churches, schools, theatres and music halls, all over the civilized world will pay tribute to the memory of Beethoven. Tomorrow young piano students will play Beethoven's "Minuets," "Rondos," and "Sonatas;" vocal artists will sing his beautiful song, "Adelaide;" the concert pianist will interpret the "Pathetique," the "Appassionata," and the "Moonlight" sonatas; the lecturer will tell anew of dignity and resignation and pathos and stark tragedy of the life of the dead composer; the symphony orchestra will give entire programs of Beethoven music, with the "Eroica," originally dedicated to Napoleon, the fifth, and ninth symphonies standing out preeminently, and radio stations will contribute to this memorial service by broadcasting the voluminous compositions of this giant of the musical world.

Music lovers will hear some embryo concert violinist playing the "Minuet in G;" a string quartet; a trumpet blasting forth the call from the "Eroica;" an organist producing with splendid orchestral effect an "Adagio" or "Andante" from one of the numerous sonatas; a studio orchestra rendering one of the several overtures to "Leonore" (also known as "Fidelio"), Beethoven's only opera or a great symphony orchestra playing.

Birthday Anniversary Dinner.

Mrs. May Welsh entertained a group of friends at her home in Ray street Wednesday evening, honoring the eighty-second birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Harriet Clunk, and the forty-second birthday anniversary of her brother, James Clunk. A 6 o'clock dinner was served. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Trainer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowersock and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper and family, James Clunk and family, Mrs. Laura Trainer, and Arthur Welsh and Edward Moore.

After-dinner diversions were music and games.

Dinner at Hamilton Home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hamilton entertained a group of friends last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner at their home in Huston avenue. The table was decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. Tall rose tapers tied with green tulle and sweetpeas were used in the effects. Places were arranged for 12 persons.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Owen and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Failer of East Palestine.

Bridge Club Party.

Members of the Thursday Evening Bridge club met last evening at the home of Mrs. James Fortiner, Jr., St. Clair avenue. Three tables were in play. Misses Ruth Webber and Bernice Manor received trophies.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. William Travis, and Miss Elsie Fortiner.

Special guests were Misses Virginia Faulkner, Mernice McCullough and Ruth Sloan.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Miss Grace Webber on St. Clair avenue.

Hostess to Golden Eagle Club.

Mrs. Elmer Wasson entertained the members of the Golden Eagle club last evening at her home in West Ninth street. A short business session was followed by a guessing contest, which was won by Mrs. Leland Kennedy. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Leland Shenkle and Thomas Greenwood. Covers were arranged for 16 persons.

Special guests were Mesdames Leland Kennedy and Thomas Greenwood.

On next Thursday Mrs. Charles Clark, College-street, will receive the club.

Aloha Club Entertained.

Members of the Aloha Five Hundred club were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Myers in Perry avenue. Two tables were in play. Trophies were awarded Mesdames H. D. Parsons and Frank Green. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Parsons.

SOCIETY

Many of 1,500 Members of Association Will Observe One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Birthday Celebration.

The Columbiana County association of Cuyahoga county, composed of 1,500 former residents of the Ohio river county who now reside in Cleveland, will celebrate the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the formation of the county with a banquet in the Epworth Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Prospect avenue and 25th street, in the Forest City, tonight.

A program of short addresses, together with a history of the county, will be featured after the dinner which is expected to attract several hundred guests.

As a surprise feature, late editions of all Columbiana newspapers, including the East Liverpool Review-Tribune, will be distributed among the guests.

Miss Pauline Bolles Hostess.

Miss Pauline Bolles was hostess to the members of the Merry Makers' club last evening at her home in Peach alley. The social hours were spent in playing 500, trophies being won by Mesdames Harry Larkins and B. O. Harris.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Larkins.

Mrs. Hazel Calhoun was a special guest.

Birthday Anniversary Party.

Honoring the second birthday anniversary of her daughter, Anna, Mrs. A. P. Rubin entertained a group of little folks yesterday afternoon, at her home, 246 West Fourth street. Juvenile games were pastimes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs Rubin, assisted by Misses Mary Barborrak and Laura Butch. Covers were arranged for Lillie Sosnow, Betty Rubin, Lee Gail and Joan Altman, Pearl Bloor, Dorothy and Lettie Brooks, Bobby Shapiro, Maurice and Esther Rubin, Gail Harkins, Betty and Charles Smith, Arthur and Ellen Grumet, and Mrs. Clyde Smith. A color scheme of pink and yellow predominated in the appointments.

Mt. Union Honors Kenneth Knowles.

Kenneth Knowles, of East Liverpool, a member of junior class at Mount Union college, Alliance, has been chosen to deliver the Mantle oration in connection with the annual commencement, June 13.

In the choice of Knowles to deliver the address, he is given one of the most prominent parts that can be accorded any junior.

Knowles has had considerable experience in oratory and public speaking work, being a former member of the college debate squad and member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity.

In addition to being an ex-debater, Knowles is also a former member of the college student senate, having sat on that body two successive years.

Jolly Five Club Session.

The Jolly Five club met last night at the home of Miss Hilda Baumgard in Martin street. A short business session preceded music, games and a guessing contest, which was won by Miss Infelda Tohlison.

Refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. John Lackey. Covers were arranged for Misses Ruth Payton Imelda Tohmlison, Frances Johanning, Mary Farson, and Hilda Baumgard.

Young People's Class Will Honor Beethoven's Memory

Miss Lysbeth Hamill will receive the Young People's class in musical appreciation Saturday afternoon, at her studio in Thompson Place, when a program of Beethoven's music will be given in commemoration of the composer's death which occurred on March 26, 1827. Each pupil will give a short talk on the form of composition she plays.

The program follows:

"The Life and Works of Beethoven" —Marjorie McNicol.

"Rondoletto" in B—Deborah Mountford.

"Andante" in F—Margaret Martino.

"Minuet" in G—Susan Birbeck.

"Scherzo" in F—Mary Gerace.

"Minuetto" from "Sonata" in E flat —Emma May Fleming.

"L'Adieu"—Mary Louise Bergner.

"Beethoven's Centenary"—Emma May Fleming.

Studios, churches, schools, theatres and music halls, all over the civilized world will pay tribute to the memory of Beethoven. Tomorrow young piano students will play Beethoven's "Minuets," "Rondos," and "Sonatas;" vocal artists will sing his beautiful song, "Adelaide;" the concert pianist will interpret the "Pathetique," the "Appassionata," and the "Moonlight" sonatas; the lecturer will tell anew of dignity and resignation and pathos and stark tragedy o the life of the dead composer; the symphony orchestra will gi e entire programs of Beethoven music, with the "Eroica," originally dedicated to Napoleon, the fifth, and ninth symphonies standing out preeminently, and radio stations will contribute to this memorial service by broadcasting the voluminous compositions of this giant of the musical world.

Music lovers will hear some embryo concert violinist playing the "Minuet in G;" a string quartet; a trumpet blasting forth the call from the "Eroica;" an organist producing with splendid orchestral effect an "Adagio" or "Andante" from one of the numerous sonatas; a studio orchestra rendering one of the several overtures to "Leonore" (also known as "Fidelio"). Beethoven's only opera or a great symphony orchestra playing.

Birthday Anniversary Dinner.

Mrs. May Welsh entertained a group of friends at her home in Ray street Wednesday evening, honoring the eighty-second birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Harriet Clunk, and the forty-second birthday anniversary of her brother, James Clunk. A 6 o'clock dinner was served. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Trainer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowersock and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper and family, James Clunk and family, Mrs. Laura Trainer, and Arthur Welsh and Edward Moore.

After-dinner diversions were music and games.

Dinner at Hamilton Home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hamilton entertained a group of friends last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner at their home in Huston avenue. The table was decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. Tall rose tapers tied with green tulle and sweetpeas were used in the effects. Places were arranged for 12 persons.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Owen and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Faller of East Palestine.

Bridge Club Party.

Members of the Thursday Evening Bridge club met last evening at the home of Mrs. James Fortiner, Jr., St. Clair avenue. Three tables were in play. Misses Ruth Webber and Bernice Manor received trophies.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. William Travis, and Miss Elsie Fortiner.

Special guests were Misses Virginia Faulkner, Mernice McCullough and Ruth Sloan.

Hostess to Golden Eagle Club.

Mrs. Elmer Wasson entertained the members of the Golden Eagle club last evening at her home in West Ninth street. A short business session was followed by a gu ssing contest, which was won by Mrs. Leland Kennedy. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Leland Shenkle and Thomas Greenwood. Covers were arranged for 16 persons.

Special guests were Mesdames Leland Kennedy and Thomas Greenwood.

On next Thursday Mrs. Charles Clark, College-street, will receive the club.

Aloha Club Entertained.

Members of the Aloha Five Hundred club were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Myers in Perry avenue. Two tables were in play. Trophies were awarded Mesdames H. D. Parsons and Frank Green. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Parsons.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Elmer Eppley, Indiana avenue, Chester, March 31.

Rosebud Club Entertained.

The Rosebud Euchre club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Gleckner in Blakely street. Six tables were in play, trophies being awarded Mesdames Elizabeth Bratt, Jennie Wright, and Rosetta Briggs, and Messrs. Charles Hoyt, Alfred Gleckner and John E. Anderson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Benton Knowles.

The club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Benton Knowles in Church alley.

Club Members Attend Theatre.

A theatre party was held by seventeen members of the Go-As-You-Are club last evening, after which luncheon was served in a restaurant.

The regular meeting of the club will be held Thursday, April 7, at the home of Mrs. Charles Kidd in West Second street.

Aid Society Food Sale.

A food sale will be conducted in the D. M. Ogilvie store, Fifth street, tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock, under auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church. The sale will be in charge of Mesdames George T. McLaughlin and George Moore.

That "Kruschen" Feeling

Here's dear old Grandpa again—just brimming over with high spirits and sheer joy of living.

He gets up every morning feeling that he could do the staircase in one He greets the day with a smile, and his friends with the hearty handclasp of real good-fellowship.

He is welcome wherever he goes—no one can resist his cheery way of always looking on the bright side of things.

Do you feel like this?

If not, there's something wrong. You think it's your nature. It isn't—it's your health.

Just consider. You are probably getting too little fresh air and exercise—perhaps you spend too much time sitting over your daily tasks, and, as a result, you get run down with worry, overwork or errors of diet. Consequently, you need a corrective. You need Kruschen Salts.

Kruschen contains just the six salts, blended in just the right proportion, that are essential to keep you in continual good health. Under their tonic influence the liver and kidneys eliminate all waste matter. Your whole body is braced and revived.

The dose is only two small tablets which dissolve instantly in your morning cup of coffee or tea—you can't taste it, you'll never know it's in your morning cup. Take it in hot water if you want too—good health for a trifle a day.

60 Tablets—60 Cents, at all druggists.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does It

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must, of necessity, obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally, your system should extract these vital salts from your food—meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, milk, eggs, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork and worry, anxiety, sendentary occupation and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportions of these essential life-giving salts, then you suffer from depression, headaches, constipation or disordered liver.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Besides cleansing the body of impurities, gently, surely and painlessly, they possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which every body is composed.

That "Kruschen" Feeling

Here's dear old Grandpa again—just brimming over with high spirits and sheer joy of living.

He gets up every morning feeling that he could do the staircase in one He greets the day with a smile, and his friends with the hearty handclasp of real good-fellowship.

He is welcome wherever he goes—no one can resist his cheery way of always looking on the bright side of things.

Do you feel like this?

If not, there's something wrong. You think it's your nature. It isn't—it's your health.

Just consider. You are probably getting too little fresh air and exercise—perhaps you spend too much time sitting over your daily tasks, and, as a result, you get run down with worry, overwork or errors of diet. Consequently, you need a corrective. You need Kruschen Salts.

Kruschen contains just the six salts, blended in just the right proportion, that are essential to keep you in continual good health. Under their tonic influence the liver and kidneys eliminate all waste matter. Your whole body is braced and revived.

The dose is only two small tablets which dissolve instantly in your morning cup of coffee or tea—you can't taste it, you'll never know it's in your morning cup. Take it in hot water if you want too—good health for a trifle a day.

60 Tablets—60 Cents, at all druggists.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does It

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must, of necessity, obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally, your system should extract these vital salts from your food—meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, milk, eggs, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork and worry, anxiety, sendentary occupation and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportions of these essential life-giving salts, then you suffer from depression, headaches, constipation or disordered liver.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Besides cleansing the body of impurities, gently, surely and painlessly, they possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which every body is composed.

150 AMERICANS AND OTHERS EVACUATING NANKING

NAVAL FORCES AWAIT ACTION OF CANTONESE

LEADER TO ACT

Fate of Captives is Unknown, Pekin Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A threat by Admiral H. H. Hough to bombard Nanking apparently compelled the Chinese commanders in the city to adopt a more conciliatory policy today toward Americans and other foreigners, and they are now evacuating the city under the protecting guns of the warships.

This was disclosed in a message from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, received at the navy department at 11 a. m.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(10.40 P. M.)—The powers have won their demands from the Cantonese and 150 Americans and an unknown number of British and Japanese have been evacuated from Nanking, according to official advices to the American naval headquarters here tonight.

The evacuation of Americans in all Cantonese controlled centers, ordered last night by the America legation, was in progress today according to reports receive here.

The legation's evacuation order affects 500 Americans in Canton, 70 in Swatow, one hundred and four in Foochow, 150 in Amoy and 16 in Chanoha.

The situation in Hankow is reporting as becoming more acute.

PEKIN, March 25.—Rear Admiral Hough today advised the United States legation by wireless that the British, Japanese and American naval commanders at Nanking had decided to refrain from drastic action to effect the release of 150 Americans detained by the Chinese pending the arrival of Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, commander of the Cantonese army.

The original plan, following the sending of an ultimatum, was to shell the Cantonese military headquarters at Nanking and release by force the Americans. At 9 o'clock this morning, the hour set for the expiration of the ultimatum, the Americans were still in Nanking and had not been delivered up to the foreign naval forces.

An earlier radiogram from Nanking, timed 4 a. m., said that all efforts to get the Americans from the city had been unsuccessful. At that time their fate was unknown.

Gen. Chang Kai-Shek sent word that he would arrive in Nanking tomorrow to protect all foreigners.

Missionaries in Nanking.

American Minster MacMurray stated that the Nanking outrage took place despite every effort of the United States consul to get in communication with responsible leaders of the Cantonese forces to obtain protection for foreign lives and property.

In addition to missionaries, the Americans at Nanking included employes of the Standard Oil company, American tobacco firms and attaches of the American university.

Believing that the Cantonese are either unable or unwilling to protect Americans, Minister MacMurray has ordered complete evacuation of Americans from the consular districts of Shanghai, Nanking, Chunking, Changshau, Swatow, Amoy, Foochow and Canton, but not from points outside control of the Cantonese armed forces.

With a helicopter in good order you could start from the roof of your apartment house or office building, go where you like, and land on any other roof or office building.

RUSSIAN enthusiasts trying spread equality of the sexes in the east find that you cannot change the Asiatic mind overnight. On "Woman's Day" the Asiatic women, obeying Bolshevik orders, appeared without veils on their faces and nets on their hair.

Three women that appeared thus near Tashkent were killed by Mohammedan zealots.

The 15-year-old daughter of a Bolshevik official, was tied to a stake on the banks of a river by orders of the Ichan, a Mohammedian priest, who blessed the crowd as it threw stones and broken pieces of brick at the helpless girl.

120 Americans

The 155 American men, women and children who were detained in Nanking were still held by the Chinese, according to word received during the morning.

A Japanese warship had landed a force of 30 men at Nanking early in the day to investigate the shore situation and found that the Japanese consulate had been looted, but that virtually all the Japanese nationals had evacuated the city.

Gen. Butler Arrives.

There were heavy casualties among the Chinese during the firing at Nanking and while the American and British warships were bombarding to prevent the Cantonese from storming Socony hill where the foreigners had taken refuge.

Gen. Smedley Butler, who has been appointed commander of all the United States marines in the zone of hostilities, arrived on the liner President Pierce. He immediately went on board the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and conferred at length with Admiral Williams, commander of the United States naval forces in Chinese waters. Afterwards Gen. Butler visited marine headquarters prior to visiting general headquarters with Gen. Duncan.

The Chinese batteries opened fire and the Preston returned the fire immediately.

Reports to the legation here are indefinite but it is understood that the action occurred while American refugees were being removed from Chinkiang.

Nationalist Attack Expected.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—The British defense forces were on the alert tonight, when reports were received just before midnight that Nationalist attacks against the international settlement were anticipated at dawn.

The first and second line of defenses were ordered fully manned and the curfew restrictions were drastically enforced.

MANILA, P. I., March 25.—Intensifying the American naval concentration in China, four more destroyers sailed from here today. Three destroyers, the Peary, Ford and Pittsburgh, are already enroute to Shanghai.

The destroyers sailing today and their destination are the Parrott for Foochow, the Bulmer for Amoy the Edsall for Swatow and the MacLeish for Shanghai.

The destroyers were ordered to pick up American refugees if conditions in China become too hazardous.

Cabinet Defines Chinese Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Unlimited backing for Admirals Williams and Hough, who are on the spot in China, and strict accountability from the Chinese nationalist government for the killing of Americans and destruction of their property.

This was written as the administration's policy in today's cabinet meeting, which devoted nearly two hours to consideration of the critical situation prevailing at Shanghai and Nanking.

The two American admirals have been given the widest discretion possible, and they will be backed to the limit, members of the cabinet said after the meeting. At the same time it was made clear at the state department that the Cantonese will be held strictly to account for the action of their nationals.

There was not attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Under the leadership of U. S. Steel and General Motors, the industrial stocks continued their rally in early trading today. Efforts of the bearish professionals to turn the list downward at the opening were frustrated by the aggressive tactics of the bulls, aided by good investment buying and a favorable reserve bank report. Call money renewals were posted at 4 per cent.

In the absence of new developments in business and trade, technical conditions within the market itself were the guiding factors in shaping the course of prices in this period. Heavy short selling in the first four sessions of the week has increased the short interest considerably. When the bears found that prices were again on the advance they hurriedly covered up a good portion of these short lines.

Strength of United States Steel common, both the old and the prospective new stock, was one of the most important incidents of this period the stock was taken in good volume around the record high price of 165. Selling above 177, General Motors showed a recovery of about 6 points from the low of the week, while New York Central, above 144, made the best showing for the railroad group

Oil stocks were steady, with Lago Petroleum carrying its advance to 27¾, having broken away from its three-to-one ratio of Pan-American Petroleum B, into which a large portion of the stock has been converted Houston Oil returned to the active list, with a strong move to above 99 Commodity markets were unsteady, with grain and cotton slightly higher, sugar unchanged and oil fractionally lower for refined grades. Foreign exchanges were steady in the face of increasing complications in China and the Balkans.

U .S. Flyers Go to Venezuela.

BALBOA, March 25.—The American army good will plane San Antonio, carrying Lieutenants Whitehead and Weddington, hopped off from France field here this morning at 7:55 o'clock for Venezuela, where the belated fliers will rejoin Marjor Dargue, commander of the flight, and his party

Wounded Consul Was Educated at Wooster College

WASHINGTON, March 25.—John C. Davis, American consul at Nanking, reported to have been seriously wounded in the outbreaks there yesterday, has been in the foreign service for 17 years.

He was born in China, of American parents, March 5, 1882. He attended schools in the United States including Wooster college in Ohio, and later returned to China, where he acted as private tutor and instructor in various American schools there.

He was appointed deputy consul-general at Shanghai April 14, 1910 Since then he has held consular posts at Canton, Chefoo, Antung, and Nanking, where he has been since May, 1919.

ANOTHER CLASH AT SHANGHAI

Chinese Marines Attempt to Disarm 200 Guerillas.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—While foreign warships bombard Nanking, the situation in Shanghai has again become tense with brisk fighting in progress.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a company of Chinese marines, who have joined the Nationalists, attempted to disarm 200 guerillas in the vicinity of the arsenal and precipitated a pitched battle in which four guerillas, seven marines and one civilian were killed. The marines after an hour of fighting succeeded in disarming the guerillas and arrested 60 of them.

Two Guerillas Executed.

Guerillas today looted a British-owned cotton mill on the Chinese side of Soochow creek, carrying off $3.000 and wrecking furniture and office fixtures.

At 3:30 this afternoon disorders broke forth again in the troubled Chapei district, when guerillas, who had avoided being disarmed, began looting and plundering, sacking the Holy Family school and numerous Chinese and foreign residences and stores.

The Cantonese authorities have announced drastic punishment for those found guilty of disorders and as an example a band of guerillas were rounded up and two immediately executed by a firing squad.

The labor situation was better today when 100,000 strikers resumed work, including a number of street car workers, one-fifth of the street cars are now in operation. Postmen have not resumed work.

Second Defense Lines.

Conditions are quieter in the international settlement with foreign cafes and cabarets announcing daylight attractions and early dinners, which have been made necessary by a 10 o'clock curfew. Residents are not allowed on the streets after 10 o'clock and wholesale arrests of Chinese are planned if the curfew is disobeyed.

Second defense lines have been raised throughout the international settlement which is now a maze of barriers with barricades at practically every corner and patrols on duty everywhere.

Early tonight the Coldstream Guards and the Bedfords, assisted by Chinese police, occupied two police stations in the Chinese city, ejecting and disarming guerillas and announcing their intention of holding the stations until the proper authorities are ready to take them over.

Many Americans and other foreigners have signed a petition of thanks, addressed to the British government, for the measures of protection taken to defend Shanghai. This address declares that the British defenders probably prevented the complete foreign evacuation of Shanghai.

The Japanese are sending 12,000 additional troops to Shanghai.

LONDON, March 25.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that firing has broken out again and that three persons have been killed by snipers in the French concession.

Sprig Wins Grand National, Classic In Steeplechases

Bovill III, owned by G. W. Pennington, finished second and Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford, of New York, finished third.

U. S. DESTROYER SHELLS FORT IN CHINKIANG

American Guns Answer Chinese Battery Attack.

FIRE BROADSIDES

Action Occurs While Refugees are Being Removed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—American guns were again in action in China today.

Cantonese in charge of the forts above and below Chinkiang opened fire on the American destroyer William B. Preston, acting as escort for refugee ships, and the Preston returned the fire from her four-inch battery, according to a dispatch to the navy from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

There were no American casualties. The message did not state the damage inflicted on the Chinese forts by the Preston's guns.

Admiral Williams reported the situation at Chinkiang as serious.

All Americans are preparing to leave Chingiang. Admiral Williams reported, as the Chinese are looting foreign property and firing into concessions. The foreigners have taken refuge in the concessions, the Americans at the Standard Oil property, and the British at the Asiatic Petroleum company's holdings.

Eighty-seven women and 52 children were sent from Nanking today to Shanghai aboard the steamers Kingwo and Wenchow, Williams reported. It was while escorting these vessels that the destroyer Preston was fired upon.

Attempted Rescue.

"The attempted rescue of foreigners within Nanking by joint American and British negotiations with local Chinese is under way," Williams' message said.

"No communication has been established with foreigners in the city up to 11 a. m. The entire Standard Oil staff there safe. Only one known dead, Dr. Williams, of Nanking university. British consul wounded and still in city. One British sailor on Emerald killed by fire of snipers. Japanese landed 50 men covered by three destroyers."

This message was dated March 25, at 4:43 p. m., China time.

Admiral Williams reported he had sent this message to Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, commander of the Yangtse patrol force on board the U. S. S. Isabel at Nanking:

"American British and Japanese commanders-in-chief agree that if possible further drastic action should be avoided until Gen. Chian Kai-Shek has been given an opportunity to fulfill his guarantee to provide adequate protection to all foreigners.

Williams Advises Attack.

Following this message from Williams to Hough, the latter answered:

"I do not believe the details of the situation are completely understood by the commander-in-chief. Unless the situation changes I will later shell salient points."

Hough expressed doubt that Chian Ki-Shek could guarantee the safety of the remaining foreigners. This message was dated at 4:30 p. m., March 25.

Admiral Williams immediately replied to Hough saying: "Use your own judgment in handling the situation.

"If Wrong, Take It Back; If Right, Stand," Ford Said

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 25.—"If you are wrong, take it back, if you are right, stand by it." This was the reply of Henry Ford, America's first billionaire, to the demand of Aaron Sapiro for a retraction of the attacks upon him in the Dearborn Independent, it was revealed today at the Ford-Sapiro million-dollar libel suit. William J. Cameron, editor of the Ford publication, testified before a jury in federal court here, that the auto king dismissed with a wave of his hand Sapiro's complaint that the Independent's articles were libels. He declared Ford had told him to "take it back" if wrong but to "stand by it" if correct.

This testimony came after Cameron told how he edited the page of the Dearborn Independent devoted exclusively to Henry Ford. The auto king, the witness said, had "nothing to do" with the page.

150 AMERICANS AND OTHERS EVACUATING NANKING

NAVAL FORCES AWAIT ACTION OF CANTONESE

LEADER TO ACT

Fate of Captives is Unknown, Pekin Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A threat by Admiral H. H. Hough to bombard Nanking apparently compelled the Chinese commanders in the city to adopt a more conciliatory policy today toward Americans and other foreigners, and they are now evacuating the city under the protecting guns of the warships.

This was disclosed in a message from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, received at the navy department at 11 a. m.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(10.40 P. M.)—The powers have won their demands from the Cantonese and 150 Americans and an unknown number of British and Japanese have been evacuated from Nanking, according to official advices to the American naval headquarters here tonight.

The evacuation of Americans in all Cantonese controlled centers, ordered last night by the America legation, was in progress today according to reports receive here.

The legation's evacuation order affects 500 Americans in Canton, 70 in Swatow, one hundred and four in Foochow, 150 in Amoy and 16 in Chanoha.

The situation in Hankow is reporting as becoming more acute.

PEKIN, March 25.—Rear Admiral Hough today advised the United States legation by wireless that the British, Japanese and American naval commanders at Nanking had decided to refrain from drastic action to effect the release of 150 Americans detained by the Chinese pending the arrival of Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, commander of the Cantonese army.

The original plan, following the sending of an ultimatum, was to shell the Cantonese military headquarters at Nanking and release by force the Americans. At) o'clock this morning, the hour set for the expiration of the ultimatum, the Americans were still in Nanking and had not been delivered up to the foreign naval forces.

An earlier radiogram from Nanking, timed 4 a. m., said that all efforts to get the Americans from the city had been unsuccessful. At that time their fate was unknown.

Gen. Chang Kai-Shek sent word that he would arrive in Nanking tomorrow to protect all foreigners.

Missionaries in Nanking.

American Minster MacMurray stated that the Nanking outrage took place despite every effort of the United States consul to get in communication with responsible leaders of the Cantonese forces to obtain protection for foreign lives and property.

In addition to missionaries, the Americans at Nanking included employes of the Standard Oil company, American tobacco firms and attaches of the American university.

Believing that the Cantonese are either unable or unwilling to protect Americans, Minister MacMurray has ordered complete exacuation of Americans from the consular districts of Shanghai, Nanking, Chunking, Changshau, Swatow, Amoy, Foochow and Canton, but not from points outside control of the Cantonese armed forces.

RUSSIAN enthusiasts trying spread equality of the sexes in the east find that you cannot change the Asiatic mind overnight. On "Woman's Day" the Asiatic women, obeying Bolshevik orders, appeared without veils on their faces and nets on their hair.

Three women that appeared thus near Tashkent were killed by Mohammedan zealots.

The 15-year-old daughter of a Bolshevik official, was tied to a stake on the banks of a river by orders of the Ichan, a Mohammedian priest, who blessed the crowd as it threw stones and broken pieces of brick at the helpless girl.

The 155 American men, women and children who were detained in Nanking were still held by the Chinese, according to word received during the morning.

A Japanese warship had landed a force of 30 men at Nanking early in the day to investigate the shore situation and found that the Japanese consulate had been looted, but that virtually all the Japanese nationals had evacuated the city.

Gen. Butler Arrives.

There were heavy casualties among the Chinese during the firing at Nanking and while the American and British warships were bombarding to prevent the Cantonese from storming Socony hill where the foreigners had taken refuge.

Gen. Smedley Butler, who has been appointed commander of all the United States marines in the zone of hostilities, arrived on the liner President Pierce. He immediately went on board the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and conferred at length with Admiral Williams, commander of the United States naval forces in Chinese waters. Afterwards Gen. Butler visited marine headquarters prior to visiting general headquarters with Gen. Duncan.

The Chinese batteries opened fire and the Preston returned the fire immediately.

Reports to the legation here are indefinite but it is understood that the action occurred while American refugees were being removed from Chinkiang.

Nationalist Attack Expected.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—The British defense forces were on the alert tonight, when reports were received just before midnight that Nationalist attacks against the international settlement were anticipated at dawn.

The first and second line of defenses were ordered fully manned and the curfew restrictions were drastically enforced.

MANILA, P. I., March 25.—Intensifying the American naval concentration in China, four more destroyers sailed from here today. Three destroyers, the Peary, Ford and Pittsburgh, are already enroute to Shanghai.

The destroyers sailing today and their destination are the Parrott for Foochow, the Bulmer for Amoy the Edsall for Swatow and the MacLeish for Shanghai.

The destroyers were ordered to pick up American refugees if conditions in China become too hazardous.

Cabinet Defines Chinese Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Unlimited backing for Admirals Williams and Hough, who are on the spot in China, and strict accountability from the Chinese nationalist government for the killing of Americans and destruction of their property.

This was written as the administration's policy in today's cabinet meeting, which devoted nearly two hours to consideration of the critical situation prevailing at Shanghai and Nanking.

The two American admirals have been given the widest discretion possible, and they will be backed to the limit, members of the cabinet said after the meeting. At the same time it was made clear at the state department that the Cantonese will be held strictly to account for the action of their nationals.

There was not attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Under the leadership of U. S. Steel and General Motors, the industrial stocks continued their rally in early trading today. Efforts of the bearish professionals to turn the list downward at the opening were frustrated by the aggressive tactics of the bulls, aided by good investment buying and a favorable reserve bank report. Call money renewals were posted at 4 per cent.

In the absence of new developments in business and trade, technical conditions within the market itself were the guiding factors in shaping the course of prices in this period. Heavy short selling in the first four sessions of the week has increased the short interest considerably. When the bears found that prices were again on the advance they hurriedly covered up a good portion of these short lines.

Strength of United States Steel common, both the old and the prospective new stock, was one of the most important incidents of this period the stock was taken in good volume around the record high price of 165. Selling above 177, General Motors showed a recovery of about 6 points from the low of the week, while New York Central, above 144, made the best showing for the railroad group.

Oil stocks were steady, with Lago Petroleum carrying its advance to 27¾, having broken away from the three-to-one ratio of Pan-American Petroleum B, into which a large portion of the stock has been converted. Houston Oil returned to the active list, with a strong move to above 99. Commodity markets were unsteady, with grain and cotton slightly higher, sugar unchanged and oil fractionally lower for refined grades. Foreign exchanges were steady in the face of increasing complications in China and the Balkans.

Wounded Consul Was Educated at Wooster College

WASHINGTON, March 25.—John C. Davis, American consul at Nanking, reported to have been seriously wounded in the outbreaks there yesterday, has been in the foreign service for 17 years.

He was born in China, of American parents, March 5, 1882. He attended schools in the United States including Wooster college in Ohio, and later returned to China, where he acted as private tutor and instructor in various American schools there.

He was appointed deputy consul-general at Shanghai April 14, 1910. Since then he has held consular posts at Canton, Chefoo, Antung, and Nanking, where he has been since May, 1919.

ANOTHER CLASH AT SHANGHAI

Chinese Marines Attempt to Disarm 200 Guerillas.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—While foreign warships bombard Nanking, the situation in Shanghai has again become tense with brisk fighting in progress.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a company of Chinese marines, who have joined the Nationalists, attempted to disarm 200 guerillas in the vicinity of the arsenal and precipitated a pitched battle in which four guerillas, seven marines and one civilian were killed. The marines after an hour of fighting succeeded in disarming the guerillas and arrested 60 of them.

Two Guerillas Executed.

Guerillas today looted a British-owned cotton mill on the Chinese side of Soochow creek, carrying off $3,000 and wrecking furniture and office fixtures.

At 3:30 this afternoon disorders broke forth again in the troubled Chapei district, when guerillas, who had avoided being disarmed, began looting and plundering, sacking the Holy Family school and numerous Chinese and foreign residences and stores.

The Cantonese authorities have announced drastic punishment for those found guilty of disorders and as an example a band of guerillas were rounded up and two immediately executed by a firing squad.

The labor situation was better today when 100,000 strikers resumed work, including a number of street car workers, one-fifth of the street cars are now in operation. Postmen have not resumed work.

Second Defense Lines.

Conditions are quieter in the international settlement with foreign cafes and cabarets announcing daylight attractions and early dinners, which have been made necessary by a 10 o'clock curfew. Residents are not allowed on the streets after 10 o'clock and wholesale arrests of Chinese are planned if the curfew is disobeyed.

Second defense lines have been raised throughout the international settlement which is now a maze of barriers with barricades at practically every corner and patrols on duty everywhere.

Early tonight the Coldstream Guards and the Bedfords, assisted by Chinese police, occupied two police stations in the Chinese city, ejecting and disarming guerillas and announcing their intention of holding the stations until the proper authorities are ready to take them over.

Many Americans and other foreigners have signed a petition of thanks, addressed to the British government, for the measures of protection taken to defend Shanghai. This address declares that the British defenders probably prevented the complete foreign evacuation of Shanghai.

The Japanese are sending 12,000 additional troops to Shanghai.

LONDON, March 25.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that firing has broken out again and that three persons have been killed by snipers in the French concession.

Sprig Wins Grand National, Classic In Steeplechases

AINTREE RACE COURSE, Liverpool, England, March 25.—Sprig, owned by Mrs. M. Partridge, today won the Grand National—the world's greatest steeplechase.

U. S. DESTROYER SHELLS FORT IN CHINKIANG

American Guns Answer Chinese Battery Attack.

FIRE BROADSIDES

Action Occurs While Refugees are Being Removed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—American guns were again in action in China today.

Cantonese in charge of the forts above and below Chinkiang opened fire on the American destroyer William B. Preston, acting as escort for refugee ships, and the Preston returned the fire from her four-inch battery, according to a dispatch to the navy from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

There were no American casualties. The message did not state the damage inflicted on the Chinese forts by the Preston's guns.

Admiral Williams reported the situation at Chinkiang as serious.

All Americans are preparing to leave Chingiang, Admiral Williams reported, as the Chinese are looting foreign property and firing into concessions. The foreigners have taken refuge in the concessions, the Americans at the Standard Oil property, and the British at the Asiatic Petroleum company's holdings.

Eighty-seven women and 52 children were sent from Nanking today to Shanghai aboard the steamers Kingwo and Wenchow, Williams reported. It was while escorting these vessels that the destroyer Preston was fired upon.

Attempted Rescue.

"The attempted rescue of foreigners within Nanking by joint American and British negotiations with local Chinese is under way," Williams' message said.

"No communication has been established with foreigners in the city up to 11 a. m. The entire Standard Oil staff there safe. Only one known dead, Dr. Williams, of Nanking university. British consul wounded and still in city. One British sailor on Emerald killed by fire of snipers. Japanese landed 50 men covered by three destroyers."

This message was dated March 25, at 4:43 p. m., China time.

Admiral Williams reported he had sent this message to Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, commander of the Yangtse patrol force on board the U. S. S. Isabel at Nanking:

"American British and Japanese commanders-in-chief agree that if possible further drastic action should be avoided until Gen. Chian Kai-Shek has been given an opportunity to fulfill his guarantee to provide adequate protection to all foreigners.

Williams Advises Attack.

Following this message from Williams to Hough, the latter answered:

"I do not believe the details of the situation are completely understood by the commander-in-chief. Unless the situation changes I will later shell salient points."

Hough expressed doubt that Chian Ki-Shek could guarantee the safety of the remaining foreigners. This message was dated at 4:30 p. m., March 25.

Admiral Williams immediately replied to Hough saying: "Use your own judgment in handling the situation.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Unlimited backing for Admirals Williams and Hough, who are on the spot in China, and strict accountability from the Chinese nationalist government for the killing of Americans and destruction of their property.

This was written as the administration's policy in today's cabinet meeting, which devoted nearly two hours to consideration of the critical situation prevailing at Shanghai and Nanking.

The two American admirals have been given the widest discretion possible, and they will be backed to the limit, members of the cabinet said after the meeting. At the same time it was made clear at the state department that the Cantonese will be held strictly to account for the action of their nationals.

There was not attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Under the leadership of U. S. Steel and General Motors, the industrial stocks continued their rally in early trading today. Efforts of the bearish professionals to turn the list downward at the opening were frustrated by the aggressive tactics of the bulls, aided by good investment buying and a favorable reserve bank report. Call money renewals were posted at 4 per cent.

In the absence of new developments in business and trade, technical conditions within the market itself were the guiding factors in shaping the course of prices in this period. Heavy short selling in the first four sessions of the week has increased the short interest considerably. When the bears found that prices were again on the advance they hurriedly covered up a good portion of these short lines.

Strength of United States Steel common, both the old and the prospective new stock, was one of the most important incidents of this period the stock was taken in good volume around the record high price of 165. Selling above 177, General Motors showed a recovery of about 6 points from the low of the week, while New York Central, above 144, made the best showing for the railroad group

Oil stocks were steady, with Lago Petroleum carrying its advance to 27¾, having broken away from the three-to-one ratio of Pan-American Petroleum B, into which a large portion of the stock has been converted. Houston Oil returned to the active list, with a strong move to above 99 Commodity markets were unsteady, with grain and cotton slightly higher, sugar unchanged and oil fractionally lower for refined grades. Foreign exchanges were steady in the face of increasing complications in China and the Balkans.

U .S. Flyers Go to Venezuela.

BALBOA, March 25.—The American army good will plane San Antonio, carrying Lieutenants Whitehead and Weddington, hopped off from France field here this morning at 7:55 o'clock for Venezuela, where the belated fliers will rejoin Marjor Dargue, commander of the flight, and his party

Wounded Consul Was Educated at Wooster College

WASHINGTON, March 25.—John C. Davis, American consul at Nanking, reported to have been seriously wounded in the outbreaks there yesterday, has been in the foreign service for 17 years.

He was born in China, of American parents, March 5, 1882. He attended schools in the United States including Wooster college in Ohio, and later returned to China, where he acted as private tutor and instructor in various American schools there.

He was appointed deputy consul-general at Shanghai April 14, 1910 Since then he has held consular posts at Canton, Chefoo, Antung, and Nanking, where he has been since May, 1919.

ANOTHER CLASH AT SHANGHAI

Chinese Marines Attempt to Disarm 200 Guerillas.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—While foreign warships bombard Nanking, the situation in Shanghai has again become tense with brisk fighting in progress.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a company of Chinese marines, who have joined the Nationalists, attempted to disarm 200 guerillas in the vicinity of the arsenal and precipitated a pitched battle in which four guerillas, seven marines and one civilian were killed. The marines after an hour of fighting succeeded in disarming the guerillas and arrested 60 of them.

Two Guerillas Executed,

Guerillas today looted a British-owned cotton mill on the Chinese side of Soochow creek, carrying off $3,000 and wrecking furniture and office fixtures.

At 3:30 this afternoon disorders broke forth again in the troubled Chapei district, when guerillas, who had avoided being disarmed, began looting and plundering, sacking the Holy Family school and numerous Chinese and foreign residences and stores.

The Cantonese authorities have announced drastic punishment for those found guilty of disorders and as an example a band of guerillas were rounded up and two immediately executed by a firing squad.

The labor situation was better today when 100,000 strikers resumed work, including a number of street car workers, one-fifth of the street cars are now in operation. Postmen have not resumed work.

Second Defense Lines.

Conditions are quieter in the international settlement with foreign cafes and cabarets announcing daylight attractions and early dinners, which have been made necessary by a 10 o'clock curfew. Residents are not allowed on the streets after 10 o'clock and wholesale arrests of Chinese are planned if the curfew is disobeyed.

Second defense lines have been raised throughout the international settlement which is now a maze of barriers with barricades at practically every corner and patrols on duty everywhere.

Early tonight the Coldstream Guards and the Bedfords, assisted by Chinese police, occupied two police stations in the Chinese city, ejecting and disarming guerillas and announcing their intention of holding the stations until the proper authorities are ready to take them over.

Many Americans and other foreigners have signed a petition of thanks, addressed to the British government, for the measures of protection taken to defend Shanghai. This address declares that the British defenders probably prevented the complete foreign evacuation of Shanghai.

The Japanese are sending 12,000 additional troops to Shanghai.

LONDON, March 25.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that firing has broken out again and that three persons have been killed by snipers in the French concession.

Sprig Wins Grand National Classic In Steeplechases

Bovill III, owned by G. W. Pennington, finished second and Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford, of New York, finished third.

A football coach says the game is being made too complicated for the student mind. And here we thought the athletes made the best grades.—Defiance Crescent-News.

U. S. DESTROYER SHELLS FORT IN CHINKIANG

American Guns Answer Chinese Battery Attack.

FIRE BROADSIDES

Action Occurs While Refugees are Being Removed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—American guns were again in action in China today.

Cantonese in charge of the forts above and below Chinkiang opened fire on the American destroyer William B. Preston, acting as escort for refugee ships, and the Preston returned the fire from her four-inch battery, according to a dispatch to the navy from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

There were no American casualties. The message did not state the damage inflicted on the Chinese forts by the Preston's guns.

Admiral Williams reported the situation at Chinkiang as serious.

All Americans are preparing to leave Chingiang, Admiral Williams reported, as the Chinese are looting foreign property and firing into concessions. The foreigners have taken refuge in the concessions, the Americans at the Standard Oil property, and the British at the Asiatic Petroleum company's holdings.

Eighty-seven women and 52 children were sent from Nanking today to Shanghai aboard the steamers Kingwo and Wenchow, Williams reported. It was while escorting these vessels that the destroyer Preston was fired upon.

Attempted Rescue.

"The attempted rescue of foreigners within Nanking by joint American and British negotiations with local Chinese is under way," Williams' message said.

"No communication has been established with foreigners in the city up to 11 a. m. The entire Standard Oil staff there safe. Only one known dead, Dr. Williams, of Nanking university. British consul wounded and still in city. One British sailor on Emerald killed by fire of snipers. Japanese landed 50 men covered by three destroyers."

This message was dated March 25, at 4:43 p. m., China time.

Admiral Williams reported he had sent this message to Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, commander of the Yangtse patrol force on board the U. S. S. Isabel at Nanking:

"American British and Japanese commanders-in-chief agree that if possible further drastic action should be avoided until Gen. Chian Kai-Shek has been given an opportunity to fulfill his guarantee to provide adequate protection to all foreigners.

Williams Advises Attack.

Following this message from Williams to Hough, the latter answered:

"I do not believe the details of the situation are completely understood by the commander-in-chief. Unless the situation changes I will later shell salient points."

Hough expressed doubt that Chian Ki-Shek could guarantee the safety of the remaining foreigners. This message was dated at 4:30 p. m., March 25.

Chief "Under Cover" Man Resign Job; Drew Large Salary

WASHINGTON, March 25. — A. Bruce Bielaski, the government's chief "under cover" agent in New York, announced today after a conference with L. C. Andrews, dry chief, that he would resign his position.

Wets in congress charged Bielaski was paid $25,000 a year by the government, and assisted to operate government speakeasies to entrap dry law violators.

Jock and Bobby Setting Pace in Atlanta Tourney

EAST LAKE COUNTRY CLUB, ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Jock Hutchinsen and Bobby Cruickshank started off in the second qualifying round of the $12,000 southern open tournament with a pair of birdie 3's on No. 1 this morning. Al Espinosa, playing with them, took a par 4.

Cruickshank and Hutchinsen added par 3's on No. 2 while Espinosa took a four.

Arrangements will be made by the Chamber of Commerce. The visitors will be guests of the Rotary club at a luncheon meeting.

No. 6 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell, and the East Liverpool plant of the R. Thomas & Son's will be visited by the student group. They will return to Pittsburgh on the 4:54 p. m. train.

DE PINEDO OFF FOR PARA MARIMBO

"If Wrong, Take It Back; If Right, Stand," Ford Said

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 25.—"If you are wrong, take it back, if you are right, stand by it." This was the reply of Henry Ford, America's first billionaire, to the demand of Aaron Sapiro for a retraction of the attacks upon him in the Dearborn Independent, it was revealed today at the Ford-Sapiro million-dollar libel suit. William J. Cameron, editor of the Ford publication, testified before a jury in federal court here, that the auto king dismissed with a wave of his hand Sapiro's complaint that the Independent's articles were libels. He declared Ford had told him to "take it back" if wrong but to "stand by it" if correct.

This testimony came after Cameron told how he edited the page of the Dearborn Independent devoted exclusively to Henry Ford. The auto king, the witness said, had "nothing to do" with the page.

Ask the Chef— He Knows the Secret

MANY chefs—masters of the art of baking—prefer Made-Rite Flour because it assures excellent results every day—with the least possible attention. This flour of flavor carries its delicate, appealing taste to the finished breads and pastries. Made-Rite Flour possesses these wanted qualities because only carefully selected hard winter wheat is used in the milling.

Just as Made-Rite Flour unfailingly serves the chef, so does it serve the housewife. For three generations it has given thorough satisfaction in homes throughout the nation. Try it!

TAKE CARE OF STORAGE AND CLEANING NOW.

"Present day methods have made a great difference in old furs. Garments which apparently are ready for the discard can be remodeled, cleaned and put in condition that not only makes them presentable but in a condition to wear for some time and give many additional years of service.

"The wear of a fur garment depends greatly upon the care taken of it. Improper cleaning methods and summer storage often result in considerable more deterioration than several seasons of hard usage. The use of grease and oil cutting agents in cleaning furs extracts the valuable and essential oils from the hides and causes the fur to wilt and fall out.

Storage is an important proposition. Not only should the garment be protected from moths and dirt but should be kept in a cold temperature to prevent deterioration. We have a contract with a concern in Buffalo, one of the largest fur storage concerns in the United States, whereby a garment is sent to Buffalo and kept in a freezing temperature all during the storage period. The garment is insured against loss or damage of any kind, can be returned to the owner within three days, and is returned cleaned and made to look more like new than the average fur owner realizes is possible."

NORTH CAROLINA WOMEN AID STATE BY COMBINING TO WEAR COTTON DRESSES

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina clubwomen are combining in an effort to restore cotton to its throne. A committee has been appointed to study the industry with a view toward alleviating the present depression.

Plan are under way to wage a campaign throughout the state to encourage the wearing of cotton dress. One day of the Federation of Club Women's convention in Durham this year will be known as "cotton day."

Every delegate at the convention will be expected to wear a cotton dress, according to present plans. Prizes will be awarded in bed spread, towel and hose contests.

Final Exhibition for Cubs.

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—Having said goodbye to their training camp on Catalina island, the Cubs were here today for the final exhibition series with Coast league teams. They play the Angels here today and tomorrow and Hollywood on Sunday.

Ask the Chef— He Knows the Secret

MANY chefs—masters of the art of baking—prefer Made-Rite Flour because it assures excellent results every day—with the least possible attention. This flour of flavor carries its delicate, appealing taste to the finished breads and pastries. Made-Rite Flour possesses these wanted qualities because only carefully selected hard winter wheat is used in the milling.

Just as Made-Rite Flour unfailingly serves the chef, so does it serve the housewife. For three generations it has given thorough satisfaction in homes throughout the nation. Try it!

TAKE CARE OF STORAGE AND CLEANING NOW.

"Present day methods have made a great difference in old furs. Garments which apparently are ready for the discard can be remodeled, cleaned and put in condition that not only makes them presentable but in a condition to wear for some time and give many additional years of service.

"The wear of a fur garment depends greatly upon the care taken of it. Improper cleaning methods and summer storage often result in considerable more deterioration than several seasons of hard usage. The use of grease and oil cutting agents in cleaning furs extracts the valuable and essential oils from the hides and causes the fur to wilt and fall out.

Storage is an important proposition. Not only should the garment be protected from moths and dirt but should be kept in a cold temperature to prevent deterioration. We have a contract with a concern in Buffalo, one of the largest fur storage concerns in the United States, whereby a garment is sent to Buffalo and kept in a freezing temperature all during the storage period. The garment is insured against loss or damage of any kind, can be returned to the owner within three days, and is returned cleaned and made to look more like new than the average fur owner realizes is possible."

MARY BRIAN IN COMEDY HIT

"Her Father Said No" Scores at Ceramic Theatre.

Marking a high spot in what is accepted as a "comedy year," "Her Father Said No" opened to an enthusiastic and appreciative audience yesterday at the Ceramic theatre. Brimming with clever and uproadious comedy scenes, the picture is a surefire hit, as was proved by its reception here, and is in many respect one of the best feature "fun-films" yet brought out.

The story itself is simple, but with abundant opportunity for deliciously humorous situations, which come with sufficient frequency to keep the house in a continual gurgle of laughter. Danny Martin, a rising young prize-fighter, falls in love with the girl whose father is violently opposed to pugilists. How the young man strives to overcome the parental objections, and eventually marries the girl under the very nose of her unsuspecting sire, forms the basis of the tale, along with a delightful background of life at a millionaire health resort, where the tired business men are pounded and dieted into health.

Mary Brian, the little screen star who made such a success in "Peter Pan," "Beau Geste," "Behind the Front" and "The Enchanted Hill," has the leading feminine role, and makes a thoroughly adorable heroine. Comedy honors go to Al Cooke and Kit Guard, the famous two-reel fun-providers who have in this picture an opportunity to unlimber their full battery of mirth-provoking tricks. Danny O'Shea, little Frankie Darro, John Steppling, Gene Strong and Betty Caldwell make up an admirable supporting cast. Two well-known comedy writers are responsible for the story, Al Boasberg having adapted the screen play from H. C. Witwer's magazine hit, "Charlotte's Ruse." Jack McKeown made an excellent job of the direction.

ASK NEW TRIAL IN WELLSVILLE POLICEMAN'S MURDER

NICK SCACCUTO FIGHT GOES TO APPEALS COURT

NOW IN PRISON

Accused Man Was Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

Nick Scaccuto, Wellsville, serving a life term for the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on May 17, last, today asked the appellate court for a new trial.

A brief was filed, alleging that the common pleas court failed to charge the jury upon the correct law of conspiracy, and also claiming that the court "erred in failing to charge upon the weight of the evidence and upon circumstantial evidence."

The brief was brought into the court by Attorney Joseph V. Zottarelli, of Cleveland, in behalf of the plaintiff in error. Other counsel for the plaintiff in error appearing in the brief are James E. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and George T. Farrell and Billingsley and Moore, of Lisbon.

The brief follows the bill of exceptions filed in the court of appeals.

Objection is also noted to a part of the closing argument of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes. Attorney Farrell at the time of the argument, protested that it went "outside the evidence."

BLAZE CAUSES $1,500 DAMAGE

Fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage amounting to $1,500 to the residence of W. E. Jones, Twelfth street, between Center and Commerce streets, at 2 o'clock this morning.

Although the flames spread rapidly after the alarm was sounded, firemen kept the blaze confined largely to the first floor. The home is a two-story structure.

Jones was the only inmate at the time. His wife, it is said, is a patient in a hospital in Beaver Falls.

KOUNTZ AVENUE CLASS SERVICES

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, will conduct services in the Kountz avenue Sunday school Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Beginning Monday evening, meetings will be held during the week, beginning each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

MISSIONARIES PLAN VISIT

Christian Church Workers to be Here in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are expected to arrive here the first of May.

In a letter received by Rev. and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Davis announced they had sailed from Bombay, India, on March 12, for Liverpool, England. The trip, it is expected, will take a month, with brief stops at Port Said and Marseilles.

According to present plans, Mr. and Mrs. Davis expect to leave England on April 16 for the United States and after a brief visit with relatives in Massachusetts, will come to Wellsville.

Mr. Davis has been an Indian missionary for 25 years. At present he is receiving the full support of the local Christian church. His trip to America marks the beginning of a year's furlough. During this time he will make his headquarters with Rev. and Mrs. Lee.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

Services will be held in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sermon-theme for the morning, "The Grace of Living." Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.

Young People's society at 7:00. Subject: "What Does a Missionary Do?" Leaders, Nan Falconer and Frances Mick.

The church year closes on March 31st. The trustees request that all pledges for the church improvement fund, benevolent work and church support be paid on or before next Sunday. The offering of the morning will be devoted to benevolent work.

Preaching in the Long's Run Presbyterian church next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Sermon-theme: "The Grace of Giving." The offering of the day will be devoted to benevolent work. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.

'MUSKIE' CAGE SQUADS HERE

Conference Champs Entered in Tri-State Tourney.

Wellsville, during the week-end, will entertain two Muskingum college basketball teams that will be entered in the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament tonight and tomorrow in East Liverpool.

The teams are the Stag club and the Sphinx club, consisting of members of the Muskingum Ohio conference championship squad.

On the Sphinx club will be found Ted Vernia, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Vernia, of Broadway, Bob Taylor, one of the greatest centers in the Ohio conference, Bill Harrop, M. Garner, R. J. "Brigham" Young, Montgomery, Calhoun and Wilson.

Clifford "Red" Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr, of Broadway, heads the Stag club squad that will make a strong bid for tourney honors. Orr was one of the leading forwards of the conference during the past year and a big factor in Muskingum's dash to the title.

The Wellsville Independents, consisting of high school players will open the tourney play tonight with the East Liverpool Peacock five, the game being scheduled for 6 o'clock.

PENNSY FILES DEFENSE CLAIM

The Pennsylvania Railroad company, defendant in an action for $10,000 damages filed against it in this county by Herbert Keown, of 510 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., for injuries sustained during the wreck of a Fort Wayne passenger train near Summitville last summer, has filed its answer to the petition of the plaintiff.

As a defense the defendant declares that the plaintiff previous to filing his petition in the courts in this county filed one in the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh, and that that case is still pending and undisposed of.

PERSONALS

Earl Culp, Clarence Scott and William Taylor were Pittsburgh visitors last night.

Mrs. Edward Householder, of Clark avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Plan Summer Program.

Summer athletic sports and activities were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Girls' Basketball club last evening at the home of Miss Mary Wright. Arrangements are being made for a meeting next month. Miss Clara Lewis presided at the piano and Miss Jane Price rendered several vocal selections. Luncheon was served.

Five bridegrooms, honored at a wedding breakfast held in a quarry at Kirkstall, England, recently, were toasted in steaming tea by the other guests.

COMPLETE PIANO RECITAL PROGRAM

Program for the piano recital to be given by pupils of Miss Jean Fogo Tuesday night in the First Methodist Episcopal church has been completed. Miss Ruth Leon Heddleston, of East Liverpool, dramatic reader, will be the assisting artist.

Additional features will be the two-piano number, Brahm's Hungarian dance No. 6, played by Misses Ruth Wilson, Melvine Nixon, Ruth Henthorne and Helen Vance. As a closing feature a group of 35 children will present a short two-act operetta, "Cinderella." An invitation is extended to the general public.

SALINEVILLE

A concert will be given at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening.

Rev. Jamison, of Muskingum, has been in Salineville for a few days in the interest of Muskingum college.

A basketball team from Muskingum college will play the league team of Salineville, at Addison hall, Friday evning at 7:30.

Mrs. H. B. Haverfield, Mrs. Helen Hill and Miss Violet Barcus attended the executive committee meteing of the Missionary society of the Steubenville Presbytery, of the United Presbyterian church, at the First Church, Wellsville, Wednesday. Dinner was served at the church.

The third of the series of talks on "Good Citizenship," being given at the Central school building, to the high school students, was delivered from the subject, "Vital Factors in Good Citizenship—Health and Morality" by the Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening. The speaker urged the care of health, "easy to lose it but hard to regain." The same he pointed out is true of a good name, "'No Trouble to Lose It, But Almost Impossible to Get It Back When Once It is Lost." A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold'" Rev. Ross S. Wilson will speak Wednesday, April 6th on "Independence and Initiative in the Citizen."

BIBLE STUDY CLUB TO MEET

Members of the Bible Study club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Berger, in Eighteenth street. Mrs. F. E. Vernia will be the leader. The lesson will be taken from Job, 29 to 36.

Hillcrest Club Supper.

Arrangements have been completed for the supper to be held by the Community club of Hillcrest tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall.

170 ATTEND RECEPTION FOR REV. F. H. MAGILL

Presbyterian Pastor to Leave City Next Week.

GOES TO NEWARK

Luncheon, Program are Features of Farewell Fete.

Approximately 170 members of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church attended the farewell reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Magill last night in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. Magill, pastor, will deliver his final sermon Sunday morning and evening. Accompanied by his family he will leave early in the week for Newark where he will take charge of the Presbyterian church pastorate.

Last night's reception was held under auspices of Circle No. 3, with Mrs. Harry Myers and Mrs. John Deidrick as chairman. Their aides included Mesdames Fassett, Workman, Allen, Mortland, Haugh, Brannan, McQueen and Miss Otis Donaldson.

The reception committee included Mesdames Whitacre and Roberts and Miss Mary Cope.

Luncheon was served in the dining room. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the appointments and decorations. A short program, following the luncheon, was opened with selections by the Sunday school orchestra.

A reading was given by Mrs. C. J. Vogel. Miss Mary Deidrick pleased with a cornet solo.

Several selections were rendered by a double male quartet, including R. T. Smith, James McQueen, W. R. MacDonald, H. H. Myers, C. J. Russell, E. L. Coburn, J. F. McQueen and W. J. Ferguson.

Mrs. J. M. King Hostess.

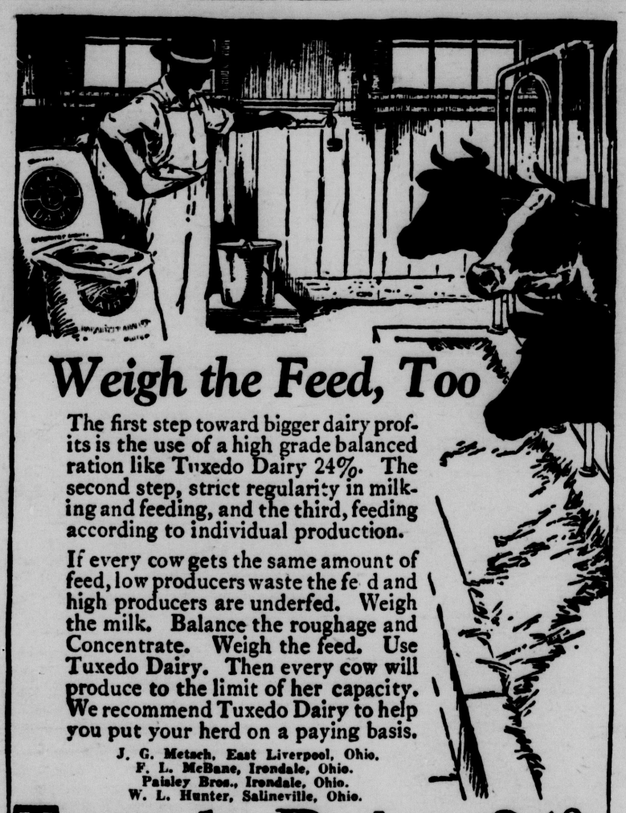
Mrs. Helen Arnold, of Ann Arbor, Mich., will be honor guest at a tea to be given this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. King, Main street.

WILL DELIVER LAST TALK HERE

Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., who has been conducting services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, will probably hold his final meeting of the present series tonight.

His subject will be, "I Saw the Wicked Buried Which Have Come and Gone from the Place of the Holy."

The revivals probably will be continued next week.



Weigh the Feed, Too

The first step toward bigger dairy profits is the use of a high grade balanced ration like Tuxedo Dairy 24%. The second step, strict regularity in milking and feeding, and the third, feeding according to individual production.

"My Friends and I Were Scared"

Effective Way Found to Break Up This Long-Standing Cold

"Last fall I caught a heavy cold that settled on my lungs. No medicine I used seemed to help it any. I began to lose weight, and I coughed a great deal. My friends and I were scared.

"One old neighbor brought me over a half bottle of World's Tonic. She said I needed strength to throw off the cold, and she called World's Tonic "bottled energy." More to please her than anything else, I took it as directed. That half bottle helped me wonderfully, and the next bottle cleared up the cough. After three bottles I began to gain weight, and all symptoms of the cold disappeared. I never knew a medicine so effective."

Mrs. T. Chance, Eleventh street, Wellsville.

Sensible in All Illnesses

World's Tonic is not a specific for colds, but it broke up that cold by the same thing it does for any illness. It cleared away the impurities in the blood, enabled this blood to kill off the germs, and supplied just what the system needed to gain strength. Because it is so effective in chronic catarrh, in this case it was equally effective in acute catarrh.

An illness hangs on because of weakness. Correct that weakness with World's Tonic, and your strength will help greatly to overcome the trouble. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and other good druggists. (222)

ASK NEW TRIAL IN WELLSVILLE POLICEMAN'S MURDER

NICK SCACCUTO FIGHT GOES TO APPEALS COURT

NOW IN PRISON

Accused Man Was Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

Nick Scaccuto, Wellsville, serving a life term for the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on May 17, last, today asked the appellate court for a new trial.

A brief was filed, alleging that the common pleas court failed to charge the jury upon the correct law of conspiracy, and also claiming that the court "erred in failing to charge upon the weight of the evidence and upon circumstantial evidence."

The brief was brought into the court by Attorney Joseph V. Zottarelli, of Cleveland, in behalf of the plaintiff in error. Other counsel for the plaintiff in error appearing in the brief are James E. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and George T. Farrell and Billingsley and Moore, of Lisbon.

The brief follows the bill of exceptions filed in the court of appeals.

Objection is also noted to a part of the closing argument of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes. Attorney Farrell at the time of the argument, protested that it went "outside the evidence."

BLAZE CAUSES $1,500 DAMAGE

Fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage amounting to $1,500 to the residence of W. E. Jones, Twelfth street, between Center and Commerce streets, at 2 o'clock this morning.

Although the flames spread rapidly after the alarm was sounded, firemen kept the blaze confined largely to the first floor. The home is a two-story structure.

Jones was the only inmate at the time. His wife, it is said, is a patient in a hospital in Beaver Falls.

KOUNTZ AVENUE CLASS SERVICES

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, will conduct services in the Kountz avenue Sunday school Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Beginning Monday evening, meetings will be held during the week, beginning each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

MISSIONARIES PLAN VISIT

Christian Church Workers to be Here in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are expected to arrive here the first of May.

In a letter received by Rev. and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Davis announced they had sailed from Bombay, India, on March 12, for Liverpool, England. The trip, it is expected, will take a month, with brief stops at Port Said and Marseilles.

According to present plans, Mr. and Mrs. Davis expect to leave England on April 16 for the United States and after a brief visit with relatives in Massachusetts, will come to Wellsville.

Mr. Davis has been an Indian missionary for 25 years. At present he is receiving the full support of the local Christian church. His trip to America marks the beginning of a year's furlough. During this time he will make his headquarters with Rev. and Mrs. Lee.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

Services will be held in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sermon-theme for the morning, "The Grace of Living." Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.

Young People's society at 7:00. Subject: "What Does a Missionary Do?" Leaders, Nan Falconer and Frances Mick.

The church year closes on March 31st. The trustees request that all pledges for the church improvement fund, benevolent work and church support be paid on or before next Sunday. The offering of the morning will be devoted to benevolent work.

Preaching in the Long's Run Presbyterian church next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Sermon-theme: "The Grace of Giving." The offering of the day will be devoted to benevolent work. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.

'MUSKIE' CAGE SQUADS HERE

Conference Champs Entered in Tri-State Tourney.

Wellsville, during the week-end, will entertain two Muskingum college basketball teams that will be entered in the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament tonight and tomorrow in East Liverpool.

The teams are the Stag club and the Sphinx club, consisting of members of the Muskingum Ohio conference championship squad.

On the Sphinx club will be found Ted Vernia, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Vernia, of Broadway, Bob Taylor, one of the greatest centers in the Ohio conference, Bill Harrop, M. Garner, R. J. "Brigham" Young, Montgomery, Calhoun and Wilson.

Clifford "Red" Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr, of Broadway, heads the Stag club squad that will make a strong bid for tourney honors. Orr was one of the leading forwards of the conference during the past year and a big factor in Muskingum's dash to the title.

The Wellsville Independents, consisting of high school players will open the tourney play tonight with the East Liverpool Peacock five, the game being scheduled for 6 o'clock.

PENNSY FILES DEFENSE CLAIM

The Pennsylvania Railroad company, defendant in an action for $10,000 damages filed against it in this county by Herbert Keown, of 510 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., for injuries sustained during the wreck of a Fort Wayne passenger train near Summitville last summer, has filed its answer to the petition of the plaintiff.

As a defense the defendant declares that the plaintiff previous to filing his petition in the courts in this county filed one in the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh, and that that case is still pending and undisposed of.

PERSONALS

Earl Culp, Clarence Scott and William Taylor were Pittsburgh visitors last night.

Mrs. Edward Householder, of Clark avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Plan Summer Program.

Summer athletic sports and activities were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Girls' Basketball club last evening at the home of Miss Mary Wright. Arrangements are being made for a meeting next month. Miss Clara Lewis presided at the piano and Miss Jane Price rendered several vocal selections. Luncheon was served.

Five bridegrooms, honored at a wedding breakfast held in a quarry at Kirkstall, England, recently, were toasted in steaming tea by the other guests.

COMPLETE PIANO RECITAL PROGRAM

Program for the piano recital to be given by pupils of Miss Jean Fogo Tuesday night in the First Methodist Episcopal church has been completed. Miss Ruth Leon Heddleston, of East Liverpool, dramatic reader, will be the assisting artist.

Additional features will be the two-piano number, Brahm's Hungarian dance No. 6, played by Misses Ruth Wilson, Melvine Nixon, Ruth Henthorne and Helen Vance. As a closing feature a group of 35 children will present a short two-act operetta, "Cinderella." An invitation is extended to the general public.

SALINEVILLE

A concert will be given at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening.

Rev. Jamison, of Muskingum, has been in Salineville for a few days in the interest of Muskingum college.

A basketball team from Muskingum college will play the league team of Salineville, at Addison hall, Friday evning at 7:30.

Mrs. H. B. Haverfield, Mrs. Helen Hill and Miss Violet Barcus attended the executive committee meteing of the Missionary society of the Steubenville Presbytery, of the United Presbyterian church, at the First Church, Wellsville, Wednesday. Dinner was served at the church.

The third of the series of talks on "Good Citizenship," being given at the Central school building, to the high school students, was delivered from the subject, "Vital Factors in Good Citizenship—Health and Morality" by the Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening. The speaker urged the care of health, "easy to lose it but hard to regain." The same he pointed out is true of a good name, "No Trouble to Lose It, But Almost Impossible to Get It Back When Once It is Lost." A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold" Rev. Ross S. Wilson will speak Wednesday, April 6th on "Independence and Initiative in the Citizen."

BIBLE STUDY CLUB TO MEET

Members of the Bible Study club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Berger, in Eighteenth street. Mrs. F. E. Vernia will be the leader. The lesson will be taken from Job, 29 to 36.

Hillcrest Club Supper.

Arrangements have been completed for the supper to be held by the Community club of Hillcrest tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall.

170 ATTEND RECEPTION FOR REV. F. H. MAGILL

Presbyterian Pastor to Leave City Next Week.

GOES TO NEWARK

Luncheon, Program are Features of Farewell Fete.

Approximately 170 members of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church attended the farewell reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Magill last night in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. Magill, pastor, will deliver his final sermon Sunday morning and evening. Accompanied by his family he will leave early in the week for Newark where he will take charge of the Presbyterian church pastorate.

Last night's reception was held under auspices of Circle No. 3, with Mrs. Harry Myers and Mrs. John Deidrick as chairman. Their aides included Mesdames Fassett, Workman, Allen, Mortland, Haugh, Brannan, McQueen and Miss Otis Donaldson.

The reception committee included Mesdames Whitacre and Roberts and Miss Mary Cope.

Luncheon was served in the dining room. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the appointments and decorations. A short program, following the luncheon, was opened with selections by the Sunday school orchestra.

A reading was given by Mrs. C. J. Vogel. Miss Mary Deidrick pleased with a cornet solo.

Several selections were rendered by a double male quartet, including R. T. Smith, James McQueen, W. R. MacDonald, H. H. Myers, C. J. Russell, E. L. Coburn, J. F. McQueen and W. J. Ferguson.

Mrs. J. M. King Hostess.

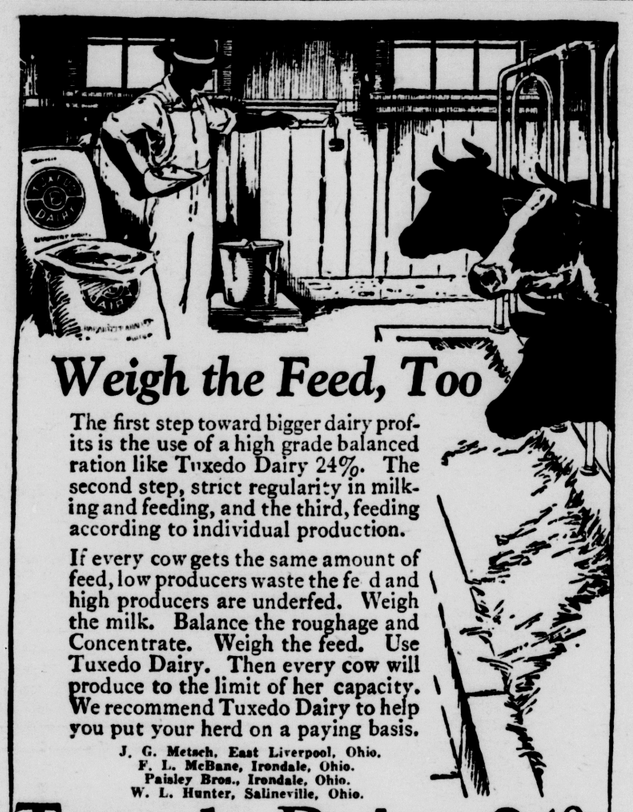
Mrs. Helen Arnold, of Ann Arbor, Mich., will be honor guest at a tea to be given this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. King, Main street.

WILL DELIVER LAST TALK HERE

Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., who has been conducting services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, will probably hold his final meeting of the present series tonight.

His subject will be, "I Saw the Wicked Buried Which Have Come and Gone from the Place of the Holy."

The revivals probably will be continued next week.



Weigh the Feed, Too

The first step toward bigger dairy profits is the use of a high grade balanced ration like Tuxedo Dairy 24%. The second step, strict regularity in milking and feeding, and the third, feeding according to individual production.

If every cow gets the same amount of feed, low producers waste the feed and high producers are underfed. Weigh the milk. Balance the roughage and Concentrate. Weigh the feed. Use Tuxedo Dairy. Then every cow will produce to the limit of her capacity. We recommend Tuxedo Dairy to help you put your herd on a paying basis.

"My Friends and I Were Scared"

Effective Way Found to Break Up This Long-Standing Cold

"Last fall I caught a heavy cold that settled on my lungs. No medicine I used seemed to help it any. I began to lose weight, and I coughed a great deal. My friends and I were scared.

"One old neighbor brought me over a half bottle of World's Tonic. She said I needed strength to throw off the cold, and she called World's Tonic "bottled energy." More to please her than anything else, I took it as directed. That half bottle helped me wonderfully, and the next bottle cleared up the cough. After three bottles I began to gain weight, and all symptoms of the cold disappeared. I never knew a medicine so effective."

Mrs. T. Chance, Eleventh street, Wellsville.

Sensible in All Illnesses

World's Tonic is not a specific for colds, but it broke up that cold by the same thing it does for any illness. It cleared away the impurities in the blood, enabled this blood to kill off the germs, and supplied just what the system needed to gain strength. Because it is so effective in chronic catarrh, in this case it was equally effective in acute catarrh.

An illness hangs on because of weakness. Correct that weakness with World's Tonic, and your strength will help greatly to overcome the trouble. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and other good druggists. (222)

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy had been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, ad she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

CHAPTER FIVE.

Gran'ma had never lost a battle Little was now left to her embittered spirit save the habit of fighting on. She was implacable. The sort of life she could understand was flouted every day, every hour, by the very air she breathed in Elizabeth and New York. She believed, or honestly thought she believed, in every literal word of the St. James Bible. As a mere matter of self-respect she was savagely intolerant. There were days, even weeks, when it seemed impossible to do anything that would please her. Yet she even believed herself just. She even believed herself kind. Never, for a moment, during the unrelenting grind of the year, had she lost faith in herself. Never even had she slighted, however limited the means at her hand, her personal appearance; never relaxed, never slumped, never so much as lounged comfortably in a chair. Even when ill it was distasteful to her to eat abed. And it was characteristic now that in her extreme perturbation over Hattie's delinquency, she had not neglected to draw the lace cap over her bald spot. She never permitted any one to see that.... Alice and Hattie did at times think gently enough and even speak of her hard life. They both wanted to be kind to her. But she didn't know how to meet them half way. She had always ruled, and had to rule now.

Hattie stood, wistfully pale, in the doorway. If only Gran'ma would let her alone just now and give her that chance to show what a good girl she could be! On the spot she formed a resolve not to miss another church service, not even miss Sunday school.

"Where have you been?" The voice was high, stern, cold.

Hattie's lip quivered. She must be patient and kind. She even tried to phrase a few quiet words.

But then her nerves gave way. Crying out—"Oh, why do you go at me like this? I haven't done anything wrong! I haven't! I haven't! It isn't a boy! It isn't anything! I never go out and have fun with the other girls!—" She rushed down the hall and locked herself in her own tiny bedroom beyond the kitchenette and flung herself on the bed there. Her only window gave onto a narrow and dark court.

Later she heard Emily crying up in the living room where mother and daughter slept in the folding davenport. Meekly she helped the hollow-eyed Alice get breakfast, and then contrived to slip out without seeing Gran'ma. A dogged task lay before her, but her resolve was high. She would prove to them, steady week after steady week, that she was a good girl. In time, doubtless, the little crisis would blow over. They'd see.

All the morning her thin arms moved with the swift precision of a machine. Mrs. Mullane gave her a smile at noon. But as the afternoon wore slowly away her resolution wavered. Thoughts of the magical evening at the studio kept creeping into her mind and refused to be downed. A legendry Armand de Brissac overshadowed her weaking spirit. Lucille came in at five, taking it as a matter of course that they would go up there. She received Hattie's timid protest incredulously, saying shortly—"Getting temperamental already, are we?" And so it came about that Hattie, almost as if she had known all along that it was inevitable, went again. She seemed merely a shy little girl with a nervous smile that came and went rather meaninglessly and with excitement in her eyes. The matter of fact Lucille had no means of knowing that the girl felt herself to be engulfed in an irresistible, thrilling moral disaster.

For an hour Alice Hand had stood by the push button, leaning drowsily against the wall, yawning, her thin brows contracted in a nervous frown. She tiptoed now to the door of the kitchenette for a glance at the nickel-plated alarm clock there. It was ten minutes to eleven. She lighted the gas heater and hurriedly made some coffee, then returned to her vigil. She must keep awake. Gran'ma exhausted by the excitement of the preceding night and by a second evening of nervous wrangling had dropped off to sleep. The door buzzer might not or might awaken her, though probably it would. She didn't often sleep soundly.

Twenty minutes past eleven. Half past. Her own nerves were near a break. She was working on them all of every day in the store; steadily, she knew, consuming them. For a year she had dreaded this inevitable crisis in Hattie's young life. She had brooded bitterly on the necessity of living in town. The city was evil, and crassly triumphant. It devoured girls She knew about that. If only they could have afforded to live in a suburb and give Hattie something of an education; keep her where she'd come to know a better sort of people. All this subway and shop business was bound to wear her down. Bound to. As a family they weren't getting anywhere, were just gradually wearing out. And when she herself cracked, they'd all go. Money that was it. Money enough to put Gran'ma some place where she'd be decently cared for. You couldn't care for her, pet her, fuss over her, soften her sharp angles, and, besides, cook the morning and evening meal and work all day in the store. You couldn't. .

Twenty-five minutes to twelve. The child might not come home at all. A down-town preacher had said in the papers that sixty-five thousand girls had disappeared during 1926. Why might not Hattie be one of those to go in 1927? Alice lost all control of her thoughts at this point, had to let them dwell on fantastically horrible details of wrecked young lives—the sort of details you read nearly every day in the papers. This had been a growing nervous tendency of late.

The buzzer sounded. Instantly she pressed the button, then stepped out on the landing and threw the door nearly to behind her. Gran'ma didn't call. Perhaps it hadn't awakened her. If she did awake, she'd surely call out in that harsh voice. She'd feel that she must command the situation. And, as surely, she'd awaken Emily.

Alice knew that she ought to keep cool, not scold. If only she could! Gran'ma now had scolded about going out nights for years before the thing began. It had only just begun. Gran'ma believed firmly, like the old Puritans, in stern repression. She was afraid of life; fought it; had always fought it. Life, to her, was the merest grim schooling for a queerly concrete Heaven. Perhaps there was still something to be gained by standing, at critical moments, between Gran'ma and Hattie, by fending off that naggin.

"Keep quiet!" Alice admonished, determined to be calm. "Grand'ma's asleep. Go right to your room."

Demurely Hattie obeyed. She even smiled faintly. Seldom able to fathom the thoughts behind that immature face, Alice found this new cool complacency baffling.

Very softly she closed the door, and followed the girl.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy had been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, ad she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

the living room where mother and daughter slept in the folding davenport. Meekly she helped the hollow-eyed Alice get breakfast, and then contrived to slip out without seeing Gran'ma. A dogged task lay before her, but her resolve was high. She would prove to them, steady week after steady week, that she was a good girl. In time, doubtless, the little crisis would blow over. They'd see.

All the morning her thin arms moved with the swift precision of a machine. Mrs. Mullane gave her a smile at noon. But as the afternoon wore slowly away her resolution wavered. Thoughts of the magical evening at the studio kept creeping into her mind and refused to be downed. A legendry Armand de Brissac overshadowed her weaking spirit. Lucille came in at five, taking it as a matter of course that they would go up there. She received Hattie's timid protest in-she must command the situation. And, as surely, she'd awaken Emily.

Alice knew that she ought to keep cool, not scold. If only she could! Gran'ma now had scolded about going out nights for years before the thing began. It had only just begun. Gran'ma believed firmly, like the old Puritans, in stern repression. She was afraid of life; fought it; had always fought it. Life, to her, was the merest grim schooling for a queerly concrete Heaven. Perhaps there was still something to be gained by standing, at critical moments, between Gran'ma and Hattie, by fending off that naggin.

"Keep quiet!" Alice admonished, determined to be calm. "Grand'ma's asleep. Go right to your room."

Demurely Hattie obeyed. She even smiled faintly. Seldom able to fathom the thoughts behind that immature face, Alice found this new cool complacency baffling.

Very softly she closed the door, and followed the girl.

CHAPTER FIVE.

Gran'ma had never lost a battle Little was now left to her embittered spirit save the habit of fighting on. She was implacable. The sort of life she could understand was flouted every day, every hour, by the very air she breathed in Elizabeth and New York. She believed, or honestly thought she believed, in every literal word of the St. James Bible. As a mere matter of self-respect she was savagely intolerant. There were days, even weeks, when it seemed impossible to do anything that would please her. Yet she even believed herself just. She even believed herself kind. Never, for a moment, during the unrelenting grind of the year, had she lost faith in herself. Never even had she slighted, however limited the means at her hand, her personal appearance; never relaxed, never slumped, never so much as lounged comfortably in a chair. Even when ill it was distasteful to her to eat abed. And it was characteristic now that in her extreme perturbation over Hattie's delinquency, she had not neglected to draw the lace cap over her bald spot. She never permitted any one to see that.... Alice and Hattie did at times think gently enough and even speak of her hard life. They both wanted to be kind to her. But she didn't know how to meet them half way. She had always ruled, and had to rule now.

Hattie stood, wistfully pale, in the doorway. If only Gran'ma would let her alone just now and give her that chance to show what a good girl she could be! On the spot she formed a resolve not to miss another church service, not even miss Sunday school.

"Where have you been?" The voice was high, stern, cold.

Hattie's lip quivered. She must be patient and kind. She even tried to phrase a few quiet words.

But then her nerves gave way. Crying out—"Oh, why do you go at me like this? I haven't done anything wrong! I haven't! I haven't! It isn't a boy! It isn't anything! I never go out and have fun with the other girls!—" She rushed down the hall and locked herself in her own tiny bedroom beyond the kitchenette and flung herself on the bed there. Her only window gave onto a narrow and dark court.

Later she heard Emily crying up in credulously, saying shortly—"Getting temperamental already, are we?" And so it came about that Hattie, almost as if she had known all along that it was inevitable, went again. She seemed merely a shy little girl with a nervous smile that came and went rather meaninglessly and with excitement in her eyes. The matter of fact Lucille had no means of knowing that the girl felt herself to be engulfed in an irresistible, thrilling moral disaster.

For an hour Alice Hand had stood by the push button, leaning drowsily against the wall, yawning, her thin brows contracted in a nervous frown. She tiptoed now to the door of the kitchenette for a glance at the nickel-plated alarm clock there. It was ten minutes to eleven. She lighted the gas heater and hurriedly made some coffee, then returned to her vigil. She must keep awake. Gran'ma exhausted by the excitement of the preceding night and by a second evening of nervous wrangling had dropped off to sleep. The door buzzer might not or might awaken her, though probably it would. She didn't often sleep soundly.

Twenty minutes past eleven. Half past. Her own nerves were near a break. She was working on them all of every day in the store; steadily, she knew, consuming them. For a year she had dreaded this inevitable crisis in Hattie's young life. She had brooded bitterly on the necessity of living in town. The city was evil, and crassly triumphant. It devoured girls She knew about that. If only they could have afforded to live in a suburb and give Hattie something of an education; keep her where she'd come to know a better sort of people. All this subway and shop business was bound to wear her down. Bound to. As a family they weren't getting anywhere, were just gradually wearing out. And when she herself cracked, they'd all go. Money that was it. Money enough to put Gran'ma some place where she'd be decently cared for. You couldn't care for her, pet her, fuss over her, soften her sharp angles, and, besides, cook the morning and evening meal and work all day in the store. You couldn't.

Twenty-five minutes to twelve. The child might not come home at all. A down-town preacher had said in the papers that sixty-five thousand girls had disappeared during 1926. Why might not Hattie be one of those to go in 1927? Alice lost all control of her thoughts at this point. had to let them dwell on fantastically horrible details of wrecked young lives—the sort of details you read nearly every day in the papers. This had been a growing nervous tendency of late.

The buzzer sounded. Instantly she pressed the button, then stepped out on the landing and threw the door nearly to behind her. Gran'ma didn't call. Perhaps it hadn't awakened her. If she did awake, she'd surely call out in that harsh voice. She'd feel that

G. Y. Travis, Executor of the estate of Isabelle M. Thompson, Deceased. Plaintiff vs. Susan Birbeck, Margaret Klasgye, Myrtle Dunlop, Raymond E. Thompson, William H. Thompson, Mary Rinehart, Anna Gutelius, and The Union Savings & Loan Company, Defendants.

Anna Gutelius, who resides at No. 961 Park Avenue, Burlingame San Mateo County, State of California and Mary Rinehart, who resides at Box No. 127, Mount Dora, Lake County, State of Florida, will take notice that G. Y. Travis as Executor of the estate of Isabelle M. Thompson, Deceased, on the 24th day of February, 1927, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said Decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and charges of administering her estate; that she died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate: Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana, and State of Ohio and known as and being the East rectangular Thirty (30) feet of lot number Ninety Seven (97) as numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of said City. Said part of said lot fronts Thirty (30) feet on Fourth Street and extends back therefrom along the west line of Peach Alley One Hundred Thirty (130) feet to Church Alley. That the Union Savings & Loan Company claims to hold a Mortgage thereon in the amount of $2408.13 The prayer of the petition is that The Union Savings & Loan Company be required to answer, setting forth the particulars of its mortgage lien thereon and that said property be sold to pay the debt and charges aforesaid.

Anna Gutelius and Mary Rinehart are hereby notified that they have been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 9th day of April, 1927.

G. Y. Travis, Executor of the estate of Isabelle M. Thompson, Deceased.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy had been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, ad she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

the living room where mother and daughter slept in the folding davenport. Meekly she helped the hollow-eyed Alice get breakfast, and then contrived to slip out without seeing Gran'ma. A dogged task lay before her, but her resolve was high. She would prove to them, steady week after steady week, that she was a good girl. In time, doubtless, the little crisis would blow over. They'd see.

All the morning her thin arms moved with the swift precision of a machine. Mrs. Mullane gave her a smile at noon. But as the afternoon wore slowly away her resolution wavered. Thoughts of the magical evening at the studio kept creeping into her mind and refused to be downed. A legendry Armand de Brissac overshadowed her weaking spirit. Lucille came in at five, taking it as a matter of course that they would go up there. She received Hattie's timid protest in-

she must command the situation. And, as surely, she'd awaken Emily.

Alice knew that she ought to keep cool, not scold. If only she could! Gran'ma now had scolded about going out nights for years before the thing began. It had only just begun. Gran'ma believed firmly, like the old Puritans, in stern repression. She was afraid of life; fought it; had always fought it. Life, to her, was the merest grim schooling for a queerly concrete Heaven. Perhaps there was still something to be gained by standing, at critical moments, between Gran'ma and Hattie, by fending off that naggin.

"Keep quiet!" Alice admonished, determined to be calm. "Grand'ma's asleep. Go right to your room."

Demurely Hattie obeyed. She even smiled faintly. Seldom able to fathom the thoughts behind that immature face, Alice found this new cool complacency baffling.

Very softly she closed the door, and followed the girl.

CHAPTER FIVE.

Gran'ma had never lost a battle. Little was now left to her embittered spirit save the habit of fighting on. She was implacable. The sort of life she could understand was flouted every day, every hour, by the very air she breathed in Elizabeth and New York. She believed, or honestly thought she believed, in every literal word of the St. James Bible. As a mere matter of self-respect she was savagely intolerant. There were days, even weeks, when it seemed impossible to do anything that would please her. Yet she even believed herself just. She even believed herself kind. Never, for a moment, during the unrelenting grind of the year, had she lost faith in herself. Never even had she slighted, however limited the means at her hand, her personal appearance; never relaxed, never slumped, never so much as lounged comfortably in a chair. Even when ill it was distasteful to her to eat abed. And it was characteristic now that in her extreme perturbation over Hattie's delinquency, she had not neglected to draw the lace cap over her bald spot. She never permitted any one to see that.... Alice and Hattie did at times think gently enough and even speak of her hard life. They both wanted to be kind to her. But she didn't know how to meet them half way. She had always ruled, and had to rule now.

Hattie stood, wistfully pale, in the doorway. If only Gran'ma would let her alone just now and give her that chance to show what a good girl she could be! On the spot she formed a resolve not to miss another church service, not even miss Sunday school.

"Where have you been?" The voice was high, stern, cold.

Hattie's lip quivered. She must be patient and kind. She even tried to phrase a few quiet words.

But then her nerves gave way. Crying out—"Oh, why do you go at me like this? I haven't done anything wrong! I haven't! I haven't! It isn't a boy! It isn't anything! I never go out and have fun with the other girls!—" She rushed down the hall and locked herself in her own tidy bedroom beyond the kitchenette and flung herself on the bed there. Her only window gave onto a narrow and dark court.

Later she heard Emily crying up in creduously, saying shortly—"Getting temperamental already, are we?" And so it came about that Hattie, almost as if she had known all along that it was inevitable, went again. She seemed merely a shy little girl with a nervous smile that came and went rather meaninglessly and with excitement in her eyes. The matter of fact Lucille had no means of knowing that the girl felt herself to be engulfed in an irresistible, thrilling moral disaster.

For an hour Alice Hand had stood by the push button, leaning drowsily against the wall, yawning, her thin brows contracted in a nervous frown. She tiptoed now to the door of the kitchenette for a glance at the nickel-plated alarm clock there. It was ten minutes to eleven. She lighted the gas heater and hurriedly made some coffee, then returned to her vigil. She must keep awake. Gran'ma exhausted by the excitement of the preceding night and by a second evening of nervous wrangling had dropped off to sleep. The door buzzer might not or might awaken her, though probably it would. She didn't often sleep soundly.

Twenty minutes past eleven. Half past. Her own nerves were near a break. She was working on them all of every day in the store; steadily, she knew, consuming them. For a year she had dreaded this inevitable crisis in Hattie's young life. She had brooded bitterly on the necessity of living in town. The city was evil, and crassly triumphant. It devoured girls. She knew about that. If only they could have afforded to live in a suburb and give Hattie something of an education; keep her where she'd come to know a better sort of people. All this subway and shop business was bound to wear her down. Bound to. As a family they weren't getting anywhere, were just gradually wearing out. And when she herself cracked, they'd all go. Money that was it. Money enough to put Gran'ma some place where she'd be decently cared for. You couldn't care for her, pet her, fuss over her, soften her sharp angles, and, besides, cook the morning and evening meal and work all day in the store. You couldn't.

Twenty-five minutes to twelve. The child might not come home at all. A down-town preacher had said in the papers that sixty-five thousand girls had disappeared during 1926. Why might not Hattie be one of those to go in 1927? Alice lost all control of her thoughts at this point, had to let them dwell on fantastically horrible details of wrecked young lives—the sort of details you read nearly every day in the papers. This had been a growing nervous tendency of late.

The buzzer sounded. Instantly she pressed the button, then stepped out on the landing and threw the door nearly to behind her. Gran'ma didn't call. Perhaps it hadn't awakened her. If she did awake, she'd surely call out in that harsh voice. She'd feel that

Mount Sigma Nu And Muskingum Sphinx Cage Favorites

Picked To Clash For Tri-State Tourney Title Here Saturday

The Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the wonderful "Lefty" Miller, and the Muskingum Sphinx squad, directed by Bob Taylor, peer of Ohio conference centers, today reigned as favorites to battle in the final game of the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament which gets under way tonight at 6 o'clock at the high school gymnasium.

The Sigma Nus and the Sphinx club are favorites chiefly because of two great centers, whose work, barring the unforseen, probably will be outstanding throughout the tournament.

But to get into the championship tilt the Mounts and the Muskies must fight their way through four other college squads including stars from Western Reserve, Wooster, Bethany and Muskingum, the latter being the Stag club, led by Clifford "Red" Orr, of Wellsville, star forward. And in addition to these, the finalists must overcome the desperate resistance that is certain to come from Youngstown and Canton city championship teams.

Rex McConnell's Roger Jewelers enter the tournament as Canton's city champs, winning that honor this week. for the second consecutive year, in a sensational battle with the Crider Milks.

The Youngstown Eagles, who are paired off with the East Liverpool Keystones in the fourth contest on tonight's schedule here, Wednesday night grabbed off the Class A championship of the Steel City in a five-minute overtime game with the Trus-con Diamonds, led by Big Tony Paulsey, former South High center.

The Canton Roger Jewelers will not be permitted to play Stahler, Burris and Van Allman, who indulged in out-and-out professional basketball this winter, but the loss of these men will be offset to a great extent by the addition of Center Robinson, Kenyon college star.

Six great college aggregations—The Sphinx and Stag of Muskingum, Sigma Nus of Mt. Union, Sigma Nus of Bethany, Wooster and the Phi Gamma Deltas of Western Reserve, in addition to Youngstown and Canton city championship squads, as well as numerous other topnotch outfits are certain to make the tourney an unqualified success.

The lid will be pried off tonight at 6 o'clock when Allison's Peacocks clash with the Wellsville Independents, composed largely of Wellsville high school stars.

Miller will play center for the Mt. Union Sigma Nus in the Tri-State tourney here tonight and tomorrow. He has been playing this season with the Akron Goodyears.

Training Camps

Tribe Beats Cards.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 25.—Hard practice today and a Regular-Yanigan game Saturday is the program mapped out for the Indians by Manager Jack McCallister. The tribe was more confident today following the 6 to 1 victory over the world champion St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. McCallister was well pleased with the pitching of Karr and Levsen. Big George Uhle is also rounding into shape rapidly, and is expected to be ready to pitch the opening game of the season in Cleveland April 12.

Robins Out of Slump.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., March 25.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews apparently have emerged from their batting slump. In defeating the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 5, the Robins made 13 hits.

Sox Take Series.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, March 25.—Ray Schalk, White Sox pilot, was elated today over the showing made by his boys in their four-game series against the Wichita Falls "Spudders" of the Texas league. Sox won the final game yesterday, 15 to 5, giving them the series three to one.

The complete playing time schedule follows:

Tonight—6 o'clock; Saturday morning—8 o'clock; Saturday afternoon—1 o'clock; Saturday night semi-finals and final—7:30 o'clock.

Trophies will be awarded after the final game Saturday night. Halves will be "sandwiched" in order to allow continuous play and do away with the loss of time.

MID-WEST GIRLS TEAMS IN FINALS

WICHITA, Kansas, March 25.—The national high school girls' basketball tournament had narrowed down to two mid-western states today. Four teams representing Oklahoma and Kansas will play the semi-finals.

The east's last hope, Huntington, W. Va., went down last night before the strong Lawton, Okla., five. The score was 33 to 19.

Kansas will be represented by teams from Caldwell and Cockerill.

EVEN MONEY TO 7-5 ON TAYLOR

CHICAGO, March 25.—Bets ranging from even money to 7 to 5 on the champion were being laid today on Bud Taylor, bantamweight title holder, who meets, Tony Canzoneri, New York, in ten rounds Saturday night.

Johnny Vacca of Boston, who holds two recent decisions over Fidel La Barba, flyweight champ, will meet Archie Bell of Brooklyn in one of the eight round preliminaries.

JUNIOR TEAMS CLASH AT 'Y'

Buckeyes, Five Horsemen and Hill Tops Winners.

Buckeyes, 83; West End Rinkeydinks, 11.

Five Horsemen, 49; Wellsville Buccaneers, 15.

Hill Tops, 23; McKinley Rinkeydinks, 22.

These are the results of the Y-Junior basketball tournament clashes at the 'Y' last night. The Buckeyes slaughtered the West End Rinkeydinks, 83 to 11, the Five Horsemen set too fast a pace for the Wellsville Buccaneers, winning 49 to 15, while the Hill Tops had a hard time defeating the McKinley Rinkeydinks, 23 to 22.

The Buckeyes-West End Rinkeydinks combat was nothing but a scoring spree for the Buckeyes, the West End passers offering very little opposition. All the Buckeyes performed in their usual clever manner and figured in the scoring, Witherow, McConville and Feit being the scoring stars. McCoy, Watkins and Wines were the best performers for the West End five.

The Five Horsemen were a little too big and fast for the Wellsville Buccaneers and a plucky, but outclassed Wellsville aggregation went down to defeat. Schneidmiller, Nease, Cooper and Irwin were the main factors in the Horsemen victory, Schneidmiller registering ten buckets. Fiber, Shay and Bonacci played well for the Buccaneers.

The Hill Tops-McKinley Rinkeydinks battle was the most exciting and interesting of the three games, the Hill Tops coming through with a victory in the last minute of play, Burbick shooting in the winning field goal. The game was close all the way and with the McKinley passers leading, 22 to 21, and the minute to go, Burbick shot in his deciding field goal. Burbick, Anderson and Blazer played the leading roles in the Hill Tops' triumph while Reese, Kittridge and Pennebaker put up the best brand of basketball for the McKinley five.

Buckeyes	W.	E.	Rinkeydinks
Wildblood	F		McCoy
Feit	F		Watkins
Small	C		Banks
McConville	G		Wines
Skidmore	G		Hobbs

Substitutions — McConville for Small, Witherow for Feit, Feit for McConville, Lindell for Feit, Hanlon for Hobbs.

Field goals—Witherow 9, McConville 8, Feit 8, Wildblood 7, Small 4, Lindell 3, Skidmore, Watkins 2, McCoy.

Referee—C. McConville.

Buccaneers		Five Horsemen
Fiber	F	Nease
Drummond	F	Shepperd
Shay	C	Schneidmiller
Bonacci	G	Cooper
Thompson	G	Irwin

Score of first half—Five Horsemen 21, Wellsville Buccaneers 7.

Substitutions—Vincent for Irwin, Schneller for Shepperd, Russell for Shay, Kiggins for Thompson.

Referee—McConville.

McKinley Rinkeydinks		Hill Tops
Reese	F	Ward
Lane	F	Burbick
Kittridge	C	Anderson
Ashbaugh	G	Blake
Pennebaker	G	Blazer

Score of first half—McKinley Rinkeydinks 16, Till Tops 15.

Substitutions—Crawford for Anderson, Thomas for Lane.

Referee—McConville.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK — Johnny Filucci, New York, defeated Eddie Elkins, New York, 6 rounds.

STATE REVISES GAME LAW LIMIT

COLUMBUS, O., March 24.—The lower house today adopted the Ott bill, 87-24, changing the open season of fur bearing animals from Nov. 1 to March 1, to November 15 to March 15, effective in Cuyahoga, Summit, Stark, Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull, Geauga and Portage counties.

Braves Trim Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—In a wild and wooly game featured by the pitching of Frank Wilson, the Boston Braves downed the Yankees, 10 to 9. Wilson, who is a National league umpire, pitched 19 players out of the game. He is the umpire who recently chased Ty Cobb off the field and also banished 15 other Mackmen.

MORRIS TOPS CUE RIVALS

Prizes Awarded at Close of American Tourney.

With a record of 11 won and two lost, Creed Morris copped off first place money in the American pocket billiard tournament which closed last night.

The stars finished as follows:

	W.	L.
Creed Morris	11	2
Ed Reney	10	3
Frank Sainer	10	3
Harry Johnson	10	3
Bill Hanna	7	6

Morris was awarded $35, first place money, and Reney, Sainer and Johnson divided second, third and fourth place prizes of $20, $15 and $12, respectively.

Bill Osborne's high run of 32 was good for a special prize of $5.

BIG TEN TANK STARS IN MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 25.—All teams in the Big Ten conference with the exception of Ohio State will participate in the Big Ten conference swimming meet which will be held at the University of Illinois today and tomorrow.

Minnesota and Michigan are expected to cop major honors this year, with Michigan having a little edge over the Gophers.

Michigan has gone through the present season without a defeat while the Gophers received their first wallop in two years when they were defeated by Michigan a month ago.

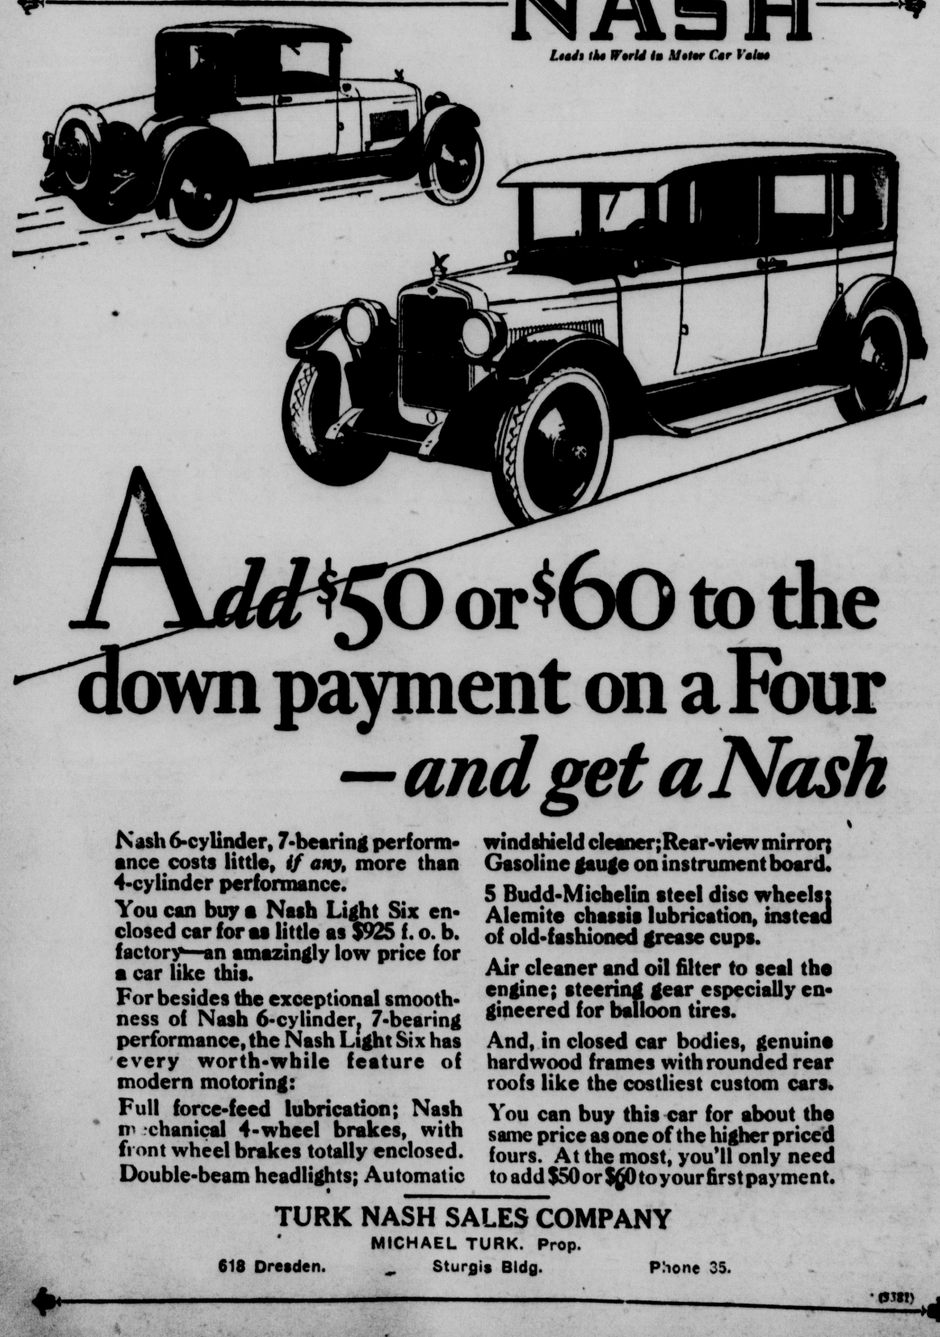
NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value



Add $50 or $60 to the down payment on a Four —and get a Nash

Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance costs little, if any, more than 4-cylinder performance.

You can buy a Nash Light Six enclosed car for as little as $925 f. o. b. factory—an amazingly low price for a car like this.

For besides the exceptional smoothness of Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance, the Nash Light Six has every worth-while feature of modern motoring:

And, in closed car bodies, genuine hardwood frames with rounded rear roofs like the costliest custom cars.

You can buy this car for about the same price as one of the higher priced fours. At the most, you'll only need to add $50 or $60 to your first payment.

MID-WEST GIRLS TEAMS IN FINALS

WICHITA, Kansas, March 25.—The national high school girls' basketball tournament had narrowed down to two mid-western states today. Four teams representing Oklahoma and Kansas will play the semi-finals.

The east's last hope, Huntington, W. Va., went down last night before the strong Lawton, Okla., five. The score was 33 to 19.

Kansas will be represented by teams from Caldwell and Cockerill.

EVEN MONEY TO 7-5 ON TAYLOR

CHICAGO, March 25.—Bets ranging from even money to 7 to 5 on the champion were being laid today on Bud Taylor, bantamweight title holder, who meets, Tony Canzoneri, New York, in ten rounds Saturday night.

Johnny Vacca of Boston, who holds two recent decisions over Fidel La Barba, flyweight champ, will meet Archie Bell of Brooklyn in one of the eight round preliminaries.

JUNIOR TEAMS CLASH AT 'Y'

Buckeyes, Five Horsemen and Hill Tops Winners.

Buckeyes, 83; West End Rinkeydinks, 11.

Five Horsemen, 49; Wellsville Buccaneers, 15.

Hill Tops, 23; McKinley Rinkeydinks, 22.

These are the results of the Y-Junior basketball tournament clashes at the 'Y' last night. The Buckeyes slaughtered the West End Rinkeydinks, 83 to 11, the Five Horsemen set too fast a pace for the Wellsville Buccaneers, winning 49 to 15, while the Hill Tops had a hard time defeating the McKinley Rinkeydinks, 23 to 22.

The Buckeyes-West End Rinkeydinks combat was nothing but a scoring spree for the Buckeyes, the West End passers offering very little opposition. All the Buckeyes performed in their usual clever manner and all figured in the scoring, Witherow, McConville and Feit being the scoring stars. McCoy, Watkins and Wines were the best performers for the West End five.

The Five Horsemen were a little too big and fast for the Wellsville Buccaneers and a plucky, but outclassed Wellsville aggregation went down to defeat. Schneidmiller, Nease, Cooper and Irwin were the main factors in the Horsemen victory, Schneidmiller registering ten buckets. Fiber, Shay and Bonacci played well for the Buccaneers.

The Hill Tops-McKinley Rinkeydinks battle was the most exciting and interesting of the three games, the Hill Tops coming through with a victory in the last minute of play, Burbick shooting in the winning field goal. The game was close all the way and with the McKinley passers leading, 22 to 21, and the minute to go, Burbick shot in his deciding field goal. Burbick, Anderson and Blazer played the leading roles in the Hill Tops' triumph while Reese, Kittridge and Pennebaker put up the best brand of basketball for the McKinley five.

Buckeyes	W.	E.	Rinkeydinks

Foul goals—Schneidmiller 4, Vincent, Shay 4, Bonacci.

Referee—McConville.

McKinley Rinkeydinks		Hill Tops
Reese	F	Ward
Lane	F	Burbick
Kittridge	C	Anderson
Ashbaugh	G	Blake
Pennebaker	G	Blazer

Score of first half—McKinley Rinkeydinks 16, Till Tops 15.

Substitutions—Crawford for Anderson, Thomas for Lane.

Referee—McConville.

Fight Results

AT GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—Jimmy Ireland, Baltimore, won from Kid Rash, New York, 10 rounds.

AT NEW YORK — Johnny Filucci, New York, defeated Eddie Elkins, New York, 6 rounds.

STATE REVISES GAME LAW LIMIT

COLUMBUS, O., March 24.—The lower house today adopted the Ott bill, 87-24, changing the open season of fur bearing animals from Nov. 1 to March 1, to November 15 to March 15, effective in Cuyahoga, Summit, Stark, Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull, Geauga and Portage counties.

Braves Trim Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—In a wild and wooly game featured by the pitching of Frank Wilson, the Boston Braves downed the Yankees, 10 to 9. Wilson, who is a National league umpire, pitched 19 players out of the game. He is the umpire who recently chased Ty Cobb off the field and also banished 15 other Mackmen.

MORRIS TOPS CUE RIVALS

Prizes Awarded at Close of American Tourney.

With a record of 11 won and two lost, Creed Morris copped off first place money in the American pocket billiard tournament which closed last night.

The stars finished as follows:

	W.	L.
Creed Morris	11	2
Ed Reney	10	3
Frank Sainer	10	3
Harry Johnson	10	3
Bill Hanna	7	6

Morris was awarded $35, first place money, and Reney, Sainer and Johnson divided second, third and fourth place prizes of $20, $15 and $12, respectively.

Bill Osborne's high run of 32 was good for a special prize of $5.

BIG TEN TANK STARS IN MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 25.—All teams in the Big Ten conference with the exception of Ohio State will participate in the Big Ten conference swimming meet which will be held at the University of Illinois today and tomorrow.

Minnesota and Michigan are expected to cop major honors this year, with Michigan having a little edge over the Gophers.

Michigan has gone through the present season without a defeat while the Gophers received their first wallop in two years when they were defeated by Michigan a month ago.

Mount Sigma Nu And Muskingum Sphinx Cage Favorites

Picked To Clash For Tri-State Tourney Title Here Saturday

The Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the wonderful "Lefty" Miller, and the Muskingum Sphinx squad, directed by Bob Taylor, peer of Ohio conference centers, today reigned as favorites to battle in the final game of the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament which gets under way tonight at 6 o'clock at the high school gymnasium.

The Sigma Nus and the Sphinx club are favorites chiefly because of two great centers, whose work, barring the unforseen, probably will be outstanding throughout the tournament.

But to get into the championship tilt the Mounts and the Muskies must fight their way through four other college squads including stars from Western Reserve, Wooster, Bethany and Muskingum, the latter being the Stag club, led by Clifford "Red" Orr, of Wellsville, star forward. And in addition to these, the finalists must overcome the desperate resistance that is certain to come from Youngstown and Canton city championship teams.

Rex McConnell's Roger Jewelers enter the tournament as Canton's city champs, winning that honor this week. for the second consecutive year, in a sensational battle with the Crider Milks.

The Youngstown Eagles, who are paired off with the East Liverpool Keystones in the fourth contest on tonight's schedule here, Wednesday night grabbed off the Class A championship of the Steel City in a five-minute overtime game with the Truscon Diamonds, led by Big Tony Paulsey, former South High center.

The Canton Roger Jewelers will not be permitted to play Stahler, Burris and Van Allman, who indulged in out-and-out professional basketball this winter, but the loss of these men will be offset to a great extent by the addition of Center Robinson, Kenyon college star.

Six great college aggregations—The Sphinx and Stag of Muskingum, Sigma Nus of Mt. Union, Sigma Nus of Bethany, Wooster and the Phi Gamma Deltas of Western Reserve, in addition to Youngstown and Canton city championship squads, as well as numerous other topnotch outfits are certain to make the tourney an unqualified success.

The lid will be pried off tonight at 6 o'clock when Allison's Peacocks clash with the Wellsville Independents, composed largely of Wellsville high school stars.

PRIZE LIST FOR TRI-STATE MEET

Powell's Passers to be Minus Center Ray Wilde and Guard Smith Anderson; Shupe to go to Pivot Post, Pusey at Guard.

Despite the fact that two first string stars probably will be out of the lineup, Bill Powell's Elks club tonight will try to make it two in a row over the Midland Collegians when the intercity cage rivals tangle in the second game of their series on the new Midland high school gymnasium.

In a rough and tumble exhibition here Wednesday night the Antlers finished ahead by a score of 32 to 25, but the game cost them the services of Center Ray Wilde who yesterday was hobbling around on crutches as a result of a sprained ankle.

An X-Ray examination of the injured foot was made yesterday and the result is not expected to show anything more than a severe sprain, which however, will be sufficient to keep the former Geneva star out of action tonight.

Coupled with this bads news in the announcement that Guard Smith Anderson has been called to Parkersburg, W. Va., on a business affair and won" possibly be able to perform tonight.

But in spite of these tough breaks, Coach Bill Powell is going to send his squad out on the floor with instructions to take the game and is confident that they'll either win or make it mighty close.

In all likelihood, Powell will shoot Dave Shupe in at center, with Nate Lippe and Carl Wilson on the forwards and "Chuck" McConville and Tom Pusey at the guards, and Joe Canne and Ken Clark ready for action at any time. This is not a bad looking lineup by any means.

The new Midland high school gymnasium is capable of seating approximately 700 persons and, in the event of a capacity house, a couple hundred more can be taken care of in sections of the gymnasium other than the customary seats.

There are no obstructions in front of the seats and as a result the entire crowd, from any angle, can get a clear view of proceedings. It is expected that several hundred local fans will take in the contest. The Midland gym is located between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The Crucible Sparks and the Homestead All Stars will play in the preliminary, beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

Yanks Look To Ruth and Rookie Hurlers

While Babe Ruth is the barometer for the Yankees' chances in a given pennant race Manager Huggins is aware that his success in molding together a fair pitching staff will increase the possibilities of Ruth slugging the Yanks to victory this year. And from the five youngsters above Huggins hopes to mold at least two regulars.

The Sports Hall of Fame

WILL two pitchers whom Dan Howley developed at Toronto for the Tigers and Ty Cobb not only help give George Moriarty a pennant his first year as a big league boss and help check Howley's Browns and their hopes.

It's within the range of possibilities.

The two pitchers are Owen Carroll and Jess Doyle.

Carroll won 21 games and lost 8 with Howley's championship Toronto team last season. Which should do as a formal introduction provided you hadn't heard much of the former Holy Cross pitching star.

Doyle, with the same club, won 15 games and lost 7—an average of better than .667.

Both pitchers were grabbed up by the Detroit Tigers a couple of years ago and turned over to Howley to develop. Ty Cobb, searching vainly for pitchers, counted on Howley's aid and the natural ability of the pitchers themselves to give him two dependable, if not eventually brilliant, pitchers. He could not wait, however, for his hopes to bear fruit.

Now Moriarty hopes to succeed where Cobb failed in developing a pitching staff that will give the slugging attack of the team some support. And two of the men on whom he is counting are Carroll and Doyle.

Meanwhile Howley labors diligently to shape some sort of a pitching staff out of good "paper" material, which has never given a consistent performance.

And everytime he leads his St. Louis cohorts into Detroit he will probably have the interesting experience of trying to beat the pitchers he prepped. How good he builded as coach of these hurlers will be ascertained later.

These hurtlers and two others from the new blood of Moriarty's staff. The others are Donald Hankins, purchased from Newark, and Owens, drafted from San Antonio.

Hankins won 16 and lost 7 games for Newark in the International League last year and is considered one of the outstanding minor league prospects.

Bobby Jones Trails By One Stroke; Other Stars Outdistanced

By David J. Walsh.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Another eighteen holes of that topographical siren known as East Lake, fair to the eye but false to all that is illusion, beckoned the haggard field that was to proceed on its way toward the greatest honor within the gift of southern golf, its open title. This per se, was its tactic destination, anyhow.

Actually and practically, which means being quite sensible about the thing, there was $12,000 in prize money at stake. It will be waiting at the end of the 72-hole journey for the men who can claim it by tomorrow night and your famished wanderer on the desert will travel less hurriedly toward a thimble of water than will a golf professional in the general direction of critical money like that.

This being the case, it is somehow whimsical to relate that Robert T. Jones, the well known amateur, is playing the home course that he knows like the pages of a favorite book and that, starting the second round today, he is only one stroke behind the leader. The latter happened to be Emmett French, of Youngstown or Southern Pines or both, Emmett having a 71 the first day against 72 for Bobby, Gene Sarazen and the Cleveland pair, Larry Nabholtz and W. H. Livie.

Hagen Has 80 Count.

Of course, there exists the old phobia that no champion can win at medal play over his own course but the suspicion has begun to percolate that Bobby, like John Paul, has just began to shoot. They say he plays East Lake over 72 about once a year, usually on the thirtieth day of one particular month, February, to be exact

Compare that record with yesterday's performance of Walter Hagen, who had an 80, with Willie Macfarlane's 81, the 78 of Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson, the 77 of Tom Armour, Leo Diegel, Wilfred Reid and Al Espinosa and the 76's of Jesse Sweetser, Jim Barnes, Harry Hampton, Freddie McLeod, Clarence Hackney and Cyril Walker. If Jones continues to 72 the situation, what chance have most of these scores in the final reckoning?

Hagen and Macfarlane, in fact, are just about eliminated from the $4,000 first prize after one round, unless they run absolutely amuck about the same time that everyone else suffers what is called a bad rally.

Today's eighteen hole test will complete the qualifying round, after which the best 64 scores and ties will see what they can do about it over the final 36 holes tomorrow. No real pre-tournament contender seems in danger of being eliminated by nightfall but some of the headliners like Hagen, Cruikshank, Macfarlane, Tom Kerrigan, Hutchison, Armour and Diegel will have to do better in the remaining rounds if they plan to take anything out of town except their otter shirt.

However, in spite of the profusion of water holes, all of the lame ducks are not paddling about East Lake today. Johnny Farrell is right up there with the pace at 73, so is Willie Klein and Jim Thompson, the Virginian, while Joe Turnesa, runner-up in the nationals, Al Watrous, John Golden, Jim Foulis, of Chicago, and J. P. Connell, of Baltusrol, are only a stride back with 74's.

Pete O'Hara, of New York, Dave Hackney, of Lawrence, Mass., George Voight of Washington and Bill Mehlhorn, of anywhere he hangs his hat, all have 75's and a fighting chance.

LATZO-DUNDEE TO SIGN TODAY

Match Must Get O. K. of Boxing Commission.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion, and Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, are reported as likely to sign articles here today for a bout to be held at the Polo Grounds late in May under the management of Promoter Humbert Fugazy. The match will have to be approved by the boxing commission next week, however, as Promoter Tex Rickard claims that he has Dundee under contract.

Despite the fact that two first string stars probably will be out of the lineup, Bill Powell's Elks club tonight will try to make it two in a row over the Midland Collegians when the intercity cage rivals tangle in the second game of their series on the new Midland high school gymnasium.

In a rough and tumble exhibition here Wednesday night the Antlers finished ahead by a score of 32 to 25, but the game cost them the services of Center Ray Wilde who yesterday was hobbling around on crutches as a result of a sprained ankle.

An X-Ray examination of the injured foot was made yesterday and the result is not expected to show anything more than a severe sprain, which however, will be sufficient to keep the former Geneva star out of action tonight.

Coupled with this bads news in the announcement that Guard Smith Anderson has been called to Parkersburg, W. Va., on a business affair and won" possibly be able to perform tonight.

But in spite of these tough breaks, Coach Bill Powell is going to send his squad out on the floor with instructions to take the game and is confident that they'll either win or make it mighty close.

In all likelihood, Powell will shoot Dave Shupe in at center, with Nate Lippe and Carl Wilson on the forwards and "Chuck" McConville and Tom Pusey at the guards, and Joe Canne and Ken Clark ready for action at any time. This is not a bad looking lineup by any means.

The new Midland high school gymnasium is capable of seating approximately 700 persons and, in the event of a capacity house, a couple hundred more can be taken care of in sections of the gymnasium other than the customary seats.

There are no obstructions in front of the seats and as a result the entire crowd, from any angle, can get a clear view of proceedings. It is expected that several hundred local fans will take in the contest. The Midland gym is located between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The Crucible Sparks and the Homestead All Stars will play in the preliminary, beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

The Sports Hall of Fame

Nominating WELKER COCHRAN.

BECAUSE he's the new 18.2 balk line billiard king.

Because he holds the title as a result of a brilliant series of victories over the leading cue stars of the game.

Because he is one of the game's great stylists. His perfect follow through stroke typifies his form.

Yanks Look To Ruth and Rookie Hurlers

While Babe Ruth is the barometer for the Yankees' chances in a given pennant race Manager Huggins is aware that his success in molding together a fair pitching staff will increase the possibilities of Ruth slugging the Yanks to victory this year. And from the five youngsters above Huggins hopes to mold at least two regulars.

The Sports Hall of Fame

WILL two pitchers whom Dan Howley developed at Toronto for the Tigers and Ty Cobb not only help give George Moriarty a pennant his first year as a big league boss but help check Howley's Browns and their hopes.

It's within the range of possibilities.

The two pitchers are Owen Carroll and Jess Doyle.

Carroll won 21 games and lost 8 with Howley's championship Toronto team last season. Which should do as a formal introduction provided you hadn't heard much of the former Holy Cross pitching star.

Doyle, with the same club, won 15 games and lost 7—an average of better than .667.

Both pitchers were grabbed up by the Detroit Tigers a couple of years ago and turned over to Howley to develop. Ty Cobb, searching vainly for pitchers, counted on Howley's aid and the natural ability of the pitchers themselves to give him two dependable, if not eventually brilliant, pitchers. He could not wait, however, for his hopes to bear fruit.

Now Moriarty hopes to succeed where Cobb failed in developing a pitching staff that will give the slugging attack of the team some support. And two of the men on whom he is counting are Carroll and Doyle.

Meanwhile Howley labors diligently to shape some sort of a pitching staff out of good "paper" material which has never given a consistent performance.

And everytime he leads his St. Louis cohorts into Detroit he will probably have the interesting experience of trying to beat the pitchers he propped. How good he builded as coach of these hurlers will be ascertained later.

These hurtlers and two others from the new blood of Moriarty's staff. The others are Donald Hankins, purchased from Newark, and Owens, drafted from San Antonio.

Hankins won 16 and lost 7 games for Newark in the International League last year and is considered one of the outstanding minor league prospects.

Bobby Jones Trails By One Stroke; Other Stars Outdistanced

By David J. Walsh.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Another eighteen holes of that topographical siren known as East Lake, fair to the eye but false to all that is illusion, beckoned the haggard field that was to proceed on its way toward the greatest honor within the gift of southern golf, its open title. This per se, was its tactic destination, anyhow.

Actually and practically, which means being quite sensible about the thing, there was $12,000 in prize money at stake. It will be waiting at the end of the 72-hole journey for the men who can claim it by tomorrow night and your famished wanderer on the desert will travel less hurriedly toward a thimble of water than will a golf professional in the general direction of critical money like that.

This being the case, it is somehow whimsical to relate that Robert T. Jones, the well known amateur, is playing the home course that he knows like the pages of a favorite book and that, starting the second round today, he is only one stroke behind the leader. The latter happened to be Emmett French, of Youngstown or Southern Pines or both, Emmett having a 71 the first day against 72 for Bobby, Gene Sarazen and the Cleveland pair, Larry Nabholtz and W. H. Livie.

Hagen Has 80 Count.

Of course, there exists the old phobia that no champion can win at medal play over his own course but the suspicion has begun to percolate that Bobby, like John Paul, has just began to shoot. EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW-TRIBUNE

FINAL EDITION

VOL. XLVII. NO. 118. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1927. PAGE SEVENTEEN

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES D STEWART

Nation Soon To Be In Hands Of An "Acting Government"

WASHINGTON, March 25.—As usual during the vacation season, the country will be in the hands of an "a cting" government before many more weeks are out.

Executive chiefs will be scattered hither and yon. Indeed, they've begun to leave already. It's a little early for the summer lay-off, but a department head generally can think up some tour of inspection he has to take when he wants to get away from Washington. These official tours merge into vacations, and the average vacation winds up with another official tour. He isn't a very ingenious cabinet member who can't think up excuses to keep him away from his desk from about the first of April until hard onto Thanksgiving day.

For awhile in the spring and awhile in the fall a first assistant per department ordinarily presides as "acting" boss. But these upper assistants get pretty well fagged out during the midsummer months, too, and there's quite a spell during the dog days when you can't find anybody but some permanent under-secretary on the job, look where you will.

THE president's vacation, to be sure, has a good many strings on it. To a great extent, he takes his work along with him. Nevertheless, Rudolph Forster, his executive secretary, who always stays and swelters in Washington, is expected to save "the old man" all the worry he can. Rudolph can hardly be described as an "acting" president, even when he's alone in the capital, but he settles a good many presidential questions for all that.

A cabinet member, however, when he tears out for Europe or the Caribbean or the Philippines, is about as free as a bird, and the chap who "acts" for him in his absence is, temporarily, the real thing.

The beauty of it is that business runs right along just as smoothly with not a cabinet member in town, as if the whole kit of them were punching the clock regularly, morning, noon and night, every day. Nobody ever heard of an executive department blowing up because the "chief" was away. For that matter, why should it? The "acting" understrapper carries the load anyway. He can carry it rather better by himself than he can with a political theorist telling him how. What he says is "Hosannah!" when he sees the boss packing his suitcase, and wishes him a nice trip and a long stay.

THE capitol end of town has its own peculiar off-season aspect, just as the executive end does.

It isn't as dead as you might think. The capitol building's pretty dull, except for tourists, but the senate and house office buildings buzz right along.

Most of the lawmakers have gone home but the wise ones all have left clerical forces to keep ears to the ground while they're gone. A congressman not only needs to know what his state or district wants; he also needs to know, here in Washington, can it be done?

A good secretary's business is to keep him posted—to let him know what trades are being made and what deals are being framed up and what he's got to give to somebody else, in order to get the other fellow to help him.

THIS dickering's done mainly in Washington and the right kind of a secretary knows all about it, the year 'round.

Congress' secretarial group is important enough to be known as the "third house." It includes some mighty slick young men and women, and it's busier, if anything, while other people are taking their vacations, as it can work more quietly, than it can next winter, when the regular session will be on.

So, during vacation, a capable secretary's a kind of "acting" congressman.

35,000 U. S. Lads This Year In Citizens' Military Camps

Largest Quota Will be Sent to Seventh Corps Area in Omaha.

WASHINGTON.—The citizens' military training camps are being prepared to receive 35,000 of the nation's youth this summer, according to allotment figures issued by the War Department.

The largest quota will be sent to camps in the seventh corps area, with headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska where 5,000 student soldiers will be distributed among the following: Fort Snelling, Minn.; Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; Fort Des Moines, Ia., and Fort Crook, Neb. Other quotas are:

First corps area, 3,000; camps at Fort Adams, R. I.; Camp Devens, Mass.; Fort McKinley, Me., and Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.

Second corps area, 4,700; camps at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.; Fort Niagara, N. Y.; Madison Barracks, N. Y.; Fort Hancock, N. J.; Fort Manmouth, N. J.; Fore DuPont, Del., and San Juan, Porto Rico.

Third corps area, 4,300; camps at Fort Howard, Md.; Fort Washington, Md.; Fort Hoyle, Md.; Fort Eutis, Va.; Fort Myers, Va.; Fort Monroe, Va., and Fort Humphreys, Va.

Fourth corps area, 4,000; camps at Fort Bragg, N. C.; Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.; Fort McPherson, Ga.; Fort Screven, Ga.; Camp MacClellan, Ala.; Fort Barrancas, Fla., and Fort Moultrie, S. C.

Fifth corps area, 4,000; camps at Camp Knox, Ky.; Fort Thomas, Ky., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Eighth corps area, 2,700; camps at Fort Houston, Tex.; Fort Bliss, Tex.; Fort Crockett, Tex.; Fort Sill, Okla.; Fort Logan, Colo., and Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Ninth corps area, 3,000; camps at Calif.; Fort Winfield Scott, Calif.; Del Monte, Calif.; Fort MacArthur, Camp Lewis, Wash.; Vancouver Barracks,, Wash.; Fort George Wright, Wash., and Fort Douglas, Utah.

Normally Shanghai is two years ahead of Paris in fashions, said a famous dress buyer recently.

Nation Soon To Be In Hands Of An "Acting Government"

WASHINGTON, March 25.—As usual during the vacation season, the country will be in the hands of an "acting" government before many more weeks are out.

Executive chiefs will be scattered hither and yon. Indeed, they've begun to leave already. It's a little early for the summer lay-off, but a department head generally can think up some tour of inspection he has to take when he wants to get away from Washington. These official tours merge into vacations, and the average vacation winds up with another official tour. He isn't a very ingenious cabinet member who can't think up excuses to keep him away from his desk from about the first of April until hard onto Thanksgiving day.

For awhile in the spring and awhile in the fall a first assistant per department ordinarily presides as "acting" boss. But these upper assistants get pretty well fagged out during the mid-summer months, too, and there's quite a spell during the dog days when you can't find anybody but some permanent under-secretary on the job, look where you will.

THE president's vacation, to be sure, has a good many strings on it. To a great extent, he takes his work along with him. Nevertheless, Rudolph Forster, his executive secretary, who always stays and swelters in Washington, is expected to save "the old man" all the worry he can. Rudolph can hardly be described as an "acting" president, even when he's alone in the capital, but he settles a good many presidential questions for all that.

A cabinet member, however, when he tears out for Europe or the Caribbean or the Philippines, is about as free as a bird, and the chap who "acts" for him in his absence is, temporarily, the real thing.

The beauty of it is that business runs right along just as smoothly with not a cabinet member in town, as if the whole kit of them were punching the clock regularly, morning, noon and night, every day. Nobody ever heard of an executive department blowing up because the "chief" was away. For that matter, why should it? The "acting" understrapper carries the load anyway. He can carry it rather better by himself than he can with a political theorist telling him how. What he says is "Hosannah!" when he sees the boss packing his suitcase, and wishes him a nice trip and a long stay.

THE capitol end of town has its own peculiar off-season aspect, just as the executive end does.

It isn't as dead as you might think. The capitol building's pretty dull, except for tourists, but the senate and house office buildings buzz right along.

Most of the lawmakers have gone home but the wise ones all have left clerical forces to keep ears to the ground while they're gone. A congressman not only needs to know what his state or district wants; he also needs to know, here in Washington, can it be done?

A good secretary's business is to keep him posted—to let him know what trades are being made and what deals are being framed up and what he's got to give to somebody else, in order to get the other fellow to help him.

THIS dickering's done mainly in Washington and the right kind of a secretary knows all about it, the year 'round.

Congress' secretarial group is important enough to be known as the "third house." It includes some mighty slick young men and women, and it's busier, if anything, while other people are taking their vacations, as it can work more quietly, than it can next winter, when the regular session will be on.

So, during vacation, a capable secretary's a kind of "acting" congressman.

35,000 U. S. Lads This Year In Citizens' Military Camps

Largest Quota Will be Sent to Seventh Corps Area in Omaha.

WASHINGTON.—The citizens' military training camps are being prepared to receive 35,000 of the nation's youth this summer, according to allotment figures issued by the War Department.

The largest quota will be sent to camps in the seventh corps area, with headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska where 5,000 student soldiers will be distributed among the following: Fort Snelling, Minn.; Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; Fort Des Moines, Ia., and Fort Crook, Neb. Other quotas are:

Class in Clogging Is Organized on Berkeley Campus

BERKELEY, Cal.—Old-fashioned clog dancing may replace the black bottom on the University of California campus.

A class in clogging has been started at the university and more than a hundred students have so far enrolled.

Clogging is an aid to beauty, according to Miss Louise Cobb, the instructor in the dance.

Sunshade Replacing Time Worn Veil by Women of Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE—The sunshade is replacing the Turkish veil which has recently been forbidden by order of the governor. The entire supply of parasols in Trebizond has been used up and orders have been placed in Constantinople for 20,000 to be delivered as soon as possible.

The women of the province of Trebizond are perhaps more modest than those of any of the provinces of the Turkish republic. And w[hen] the order went forth forbidding the usual face covering, they looked about immediately for something just as good as a protection from masculine gaze. The new "veil" which is a sunshade, has become exceedingly popular. It is carried at all hours and in any weather, whenever woman walks abroad in the streets.

Class in Clogging Is Organized on Berkeley Campus

BERKELEY, Cal.—Old-fashioned clog dancing may replace the black bottom on the University of California campus.

A class in clogging has been started at the university and more than a hundred students have so far enrolled.

Clogging is an aid to beauty, according to Miss Louise Cobb, the instructor in the dance.

Sunshade Replacing Time Worn Veil by Women of Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE—The sunshade is replacing the Turkish veil which has recently been forbidden by order of the governor. The entire supply of parasols in Trebizond has been used up and orders have been placed in Constantinople for 20,000 to be delivered as soon as possible.

The women of the province of Trebizond are perhaps more modest than those of any of the provinces of the Turkish republic. And when the order went forth forbidding the usual face covering, they looked about immediately for something just as good as a protection from masculine gaze. The new "veil" which is a sunshade, has become exceedingly popular. It is carried at all hours and in any weather, whenever woman walks abroad in the streets.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What do you need to know? Is there some point about your business or personal life that puzzles you? Is there something you want to know without delay? Submit your question to Frederic J. Haskin, Director of our Washington Information Bureau. He is employed to help you. Address your inquiry to The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C., and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. I understand that oysters are being grown on trees by government experts. How is it done? W. T. F.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries in cooperation with the State Fish Commission of Connecticut is experimenting in the propagation of oysters in the following manner: Birch brush and saplings are mainly used. These are stuck in the mud of tide flats and the young oysters settle on the brush and later they are distributed over oyster bottoms.

Q. What plays did Mary Pickford appear in on the speaking stage? C. Y.

A. Mary Pickford first appeared before the public with the Valentine Stock company of Toronto, Canada. She was then five years of age. She appeared on the speaking stage in the United States with Chauncey Olcott in "Edmund Burke" and in Belasco's productions "The Warrens of Virginia" and "The Good Little Devil."

Q. At what depth is a river considered navigable? G. F.

A. Rivers that will float logs are considered navigable.

Q. After what length of service can an army officer retire? N. W. G.

A. An officer can not retire at his own request with less than thirty years' service. It is compulsory that he retire at the age of 64.

Q. How many geese are necessary to furnish one pound of goose feathers for pillows? V. C.

A. The best goose feathers are procured from the live bird in the spring, about six birds of average size furnishing one pound of feathers.

Q. How many soldiers marched in the parade at Washington at the close of the Civil war? S. M. C.

A. What is known as the Grand Review was held in Washington, D. C., May 23d and 24th, 1865. The whole number of officers and enlisted men in and about Washington at that time was 152,445, according to the most accurate returns. The number actually participating in the parade was doubtless somewhat less than that number, as many were probably left in charge of camps and guarding property and equipment.

Q. How does the egg production in this country compare with the cotton production? E. C. W.

A. The value of eggs is about $500,000,000, while the cotton crop is about three times as much.

Q. Where is the castle of Ashby? L. B.

A. The ancient castle of Ashby is at Ashby-de-la-Zouch in Leicestershire, England. It is now in ruins and unoccupied.

Q. How long is the coast line of the United States? W. M. M.

A. The total coast line of the United States is 4,883 miles. The total length (tidal shore line) is 12,877 miles. This is the length of the shore line on tidal waters to points where such waters narrow to a width of 3 statute miles.

Q. Who was the Countess Potocka? H. W. F.

A. Sophie Potocka was born in Constantinople about 1766 and died in Berlin in 1822. She was the wife of a Polish Count, Stanislas Felix Potocki. Her parents were Greek and as a child sold her for 1,500 peasters or $375 to the French ambassador at Constantinople, who adopted her. She married the Count de Witt, who three years later divorced her at the request of Potocki and on the receipt of two million gulden. In 1790 she married Potocki and became famous for her beauty and cleverness throughout Russia and Germany.

Q. Does Lake Erie have tides? L. A.

A. Lake Erie has no tides, but has a heavy ground swell.

In spite of war conditions in China, the South Manchurian railway is doing one-fourth more business than a year ago.

Nowadays they sue for divorce and the custody of a reputation.—Mansfield Journal.

Americans have been invited to take part in the international fair to be held this year at Posen, Poland.

Drought in Palestine caused such great damage to grape vines that a great part of the famous vineyards of Latroun have been uprooted.

More than 6,000,000 pounds of soaps made in this country were used in other lands in the past year.

Pimples, Boils Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PIMPLES CAUSED DISFIGUREMENT

Developed Into Blotches. Cuticura Healed.

"My face was affected with pimples and blackheads which later developed into blotches and these itched something terrible. The pimples were rather large and red. They itched and had to be scratched which, of course, caused eruptions and disfigurement.

"I tried different ointments but all were of no avail. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time noticed a great change. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Angela Gall, 2012 W. 68th Pl., Chicago, Ill.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What do you need to know? Is there some point about your business or personal life that puzzles you? Is there something you want to know without delay? Submit your question to Frederic J. Haskin, Director of our Washington Information Bureau. He is employed to help you. Address your inquiry to The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C., and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. I understand that oysters are being grown on trees by government experts. How is it done? W. T. F.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries in cooperation with the State Fish Commission of Connecticut is experimenting in the propagation of oysters in the following manner: Birch brush and saplings are mainly used. These are stuck in the mud of tide flats and the young oysters settle on the brush and later they are distributed over oyster bottoms.

Q. What plays did Mary Pickford appear in on the speaking stage? C. Y.

A. Mary Pickford first appeared before the public with the Valentine Stock company of Toronto, Canada. She was then five years of age. She appeared on the speaking stage in the United States with Chauncey Olcott in "Edmund Burke" and in Belasco's productions "The Warrens of Virginia" and "The Good Little Devil."

Q. At what depth is a river considered navigable? G. F.

A. Rivers that will float logs are considered navigable.

Q. After what length of service can an army officer retire? N. W. G.

A. An officer can not retire at his own request with less than thirty years' service. It is compulsory that he retire at the age of 64.

Q. How many geese are necessary to furnish one pound of goose feathers for pillows? V. C.

A. The best goose feathers are procured from the live bird in the spring, about six birds of average size furnishing one pound of feathers.

Q. How many soldiers marched in the parade at Washington at the close of the Civil war? S. M. C.

A. What is known as the Grand Review was held in Washington, D. C., May 23d and 24th, 1865. The whole number of officers and enlisted men in and about Washington at that time was 152,445, according to the most accurate returns. The number actually participating in the parade was doubtless somewhat less than that number, as many were probably left in charge of camps and guarding property and equipment.

Q. How does the egg production in this country compare with the cotton production? E. C. W.

A. The value of eggs is about $500,000,000, while the cotton crop is about three times as much.

Q. Where is the castle of Ashby? L. B.

A. The ancient castle of Ashby is at Ashby-de-la-Zouch in Leicestershire, England. It is now in ruins and unoccupied.

Q. How long is the coast line of the United States? W. M. M.

A. The total coast line of the United States is 4,883 miles. The total length (tidal shore line) is 12,877 miles. This is the length of the shore line on tidal waters to points where such waters narrow to a width of 3 statute miles.

Q. Who was the Countess Potocka? H. W. F.

A. Sophie Potocka was born in Constantinople about 1766 and died in Berlin in 1822. She was the wife of a Polish Count, Stanislas Felix Potocki. Her parents were Greek and as a child sold her for 1,500 peasters or $375 to the French ambassador at Constantinople, who adopted her. She married the Count de Witt, who three years later divorced her at the request of Potocki and on the receipt of two million gulden. In 1790 she married Potocki and became famous for her beauty and cleverness throughout Russia and Germany.

Q. Does Lake Erie have tides? L. A.

A. Lake Erie has no tides, but has a heavy ground swell.

In spite of war conditions in China, the South Manchurian railway is doing one-fourth more business than a year ago.

Pimples, Boils Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PIMPLES CAUSED DISFIGUREMENT

Developed Into Blotches. Cuticura Healed.

"My face was affected with pimples and blackheads which later developed into blotches and these itched something terrible. The pimples were rather large and red. They itched and had to be scratched which, of course, caused eruptions and disfigurement.

"I tried different ointments but all were of no avail. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time noticed a great change. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Angela Gall, 2012 W. 68th Pl., Chicago, Ill.

Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes.

John Gilbert in Screen Success at American.

The story is of France of the seventeenth century, done by Sabatini, and a better "Bardelys" than John Gilbert could not have beeen selected, or even imagined.

This Bardelys person is a swashbuckling hero of the king's court, who is not above boasting that he can win any woman he sets his mind to, and he's right.

But the villainous Chatellerault, done by Roy D'Arcy, the sinister Crown Prince of "The Merry Widow" is skeptical of the wooing powers and wagers him a right goodly sum, which was the nickname for money in those heroic days, that he won't have much luck with the fair Roxalanne de Lavedan, the fair and beauteous heroine, played by Eleanor Boardman. Having himself been spurned by Roxalanne, Chatellerault felt that he was playing safe on inside information.

Bardelys sets off for the lands and the home of Roxalanne, and immediately after he meets her his troubles gebin. To avoid delay he had taken the identity of a certain fellow Lesperon, unknowing that this Lesperou was being sought as a traitor to the king.

On trial as Lesperon, Bardelys is brought before a stern judge, none else than Chatellerault, who repudiates him and sentences him to death

The story then plunges into an amazing series of dare devil stunts, which end with Bardelys winning the favor of the girl and his king.

Socialist Attitude Toward Marriage Flayed by Cardinal

VIENNA.—Cardinal Piffl, the primate of Austria, has attacked the Socialistic institutions of Vienna for the typical Socialist attitude toward marriage. The Socialist regime in the capital has been responsible for many laws which make divorce easy and otherwise contribute toward destroying the church's reverence of marriage.

The Cardinal in his lenten pastoral letter declared marriage and the family life were germ cells of society and when they sicken and die, the foundations of society are destroyed. Marriage is indissoluable, he says, and man's duty is to live up to the vows he made and woman's duty cannot be changed by secular law.

DIVORCE IN U. S. IS NATIONAL ISSUE, SAYS GERMAN PROFESSOR

BERLIN. — "Americans have every reason to be seriously concerned about the appalling increase of divorces in the states. It is high time for America to study this important problem closely and earnestly," is the keynote of an article by Professor Dr. Fritz-Konrad Krueger of Goettingen University.

"The increase of divorces is a national issue of tremendous importance. It looks as if the United States is gradually approaching conditions in the Roman Empire, where women jokingly gave their ages on the strength of their marriages instead of on the terms of the Consuls.

Kruger believes that the emancipation of women is greatly responsible for the increase. Also, he charges that people marry too young and throw themselves too much on buying everything on credit. Krueger believes that the increase of criminality among youth is largely due to children of divorced couples not being properly cared for.

DIVORCE IN U. S. IS NATIONAL ISSUE, SAYS GERMAN PROFESSOR

BERLIN. — "Americans have every reason to be seriously concerned about the appalling increase of divorces in the states. It is high time for America to study this important problem closely and earnestly," is the keynote of an article by Professor Dr. Fritz-Konrad Krueger of Goettingen University.

"The increase of divorces is a national issue of tremendous importance. It looks as if the United States is gradually approaching conditions in the Roman Empire, where women jokingly gave their ages on the strength of their marriages instead of on the terms of the Consuls.

Kruger believes that the emancipation of women is greatly responsible for the increase. Also, he charges that people marry too young and throw themselves too much on buying everything on credit. Krueger believes that the increase of criminality among youth is largely due to children of divorced couples not being properly cared for.

Northern Lumber Being Floated to California Harbors

SAN FRANCISCO. — Floating of giant log rafts from the Pacific Northwestern mills to Los Angeles harbor and San Diego will be renewed this year, according to reports received here today.

For a time the great masses of floating timber were a common sight to passengers on a coast-wise vessel, but during recent years the practice has been abandoned. Each raft, it was said, will contain from three to five million feet of timber.

Georgia Students Show Preference For Brunettes

EMORY UNIVERSITY, Ga. — All gentlemen do not prefer blondes, a poll of 600 students at Emory university, noted southern Methodist institution of learning reveals.

Only 37 out of the 600 prefer blondes, the rest declaring they have a marked prejudice for brunettes.

Answering the question what percentage of girls pet, the boys generally agreed that more than 50 per cent of them indulge in that pastime.

market could be found. The bookkeeper had the idea that created the market—a box factory that he now heads. Even box factories have their wastage, but where conditions are favorable it is now being salvaged and converted into wood pulp.

In the Ford plants, where they use daily the equivalent of sixty miles of boards a foot wide and an inch thick, each foreman is held responsible for his scrap pile, and it is said that practically everything in the lumber is utilized except the knot holes.

What May Be Done With Sawdust.

Sawdust, it is being demonstrated, can be put to an almost infinite variety of uses. Mixed with cement it makes an excellent floor, it is stated. This composition as a base, in which very short lengths of hardwood flooring are set like mosaic work, or to resemble tiles, makes possible a highly artistic floor. Reduce sawdust to what is known as wood flour, and mix it with a glue binder, chalk, clay, and inseed oil, and it can be molded into articles too numerous to mention but all of value. A mixture that sounds like it might be a cocktail turns out to be a composition shingle. It consists of one-third sawdust, one-third calcium phosphate, one one-third gelatinous or resinous material.

Charcoal has been made from wood for many years—no one knows exactly how many—but it is only within a comparatively recent date that man has learned the lesson of the by-products that can be saved. The gases generated in the making of charcoal are now saved and condensed, and from various woods there are now recovered wood alcohol, acetic acid for dyeing, acetone—used in the film industry—cresote, and pitch. From the soft woods which contain pitch and resin distillation yields wood turpentine, pine oils, and tar oils.

Gucose is being made, it is reported, by treating wood waste with dilute hydrochloric-acid gas and steam, and the product is used as a cattle food. Stock fed on it as a substitute for one-third their ordinary grain ration are said to thrive. The same process is said to produce from 65 to 70 gallons of grain, or ethyl, alcohol per ton of sawdust. That is where the bootleggers get into the game.

Ground wood, either as wood flour or wood pulp, offers amazing possibilities in the way of utilizing what otherwise would be wasted. In the first place, almost all kinds of woods, in pieces of whatever size or shape, can be used, and [illegible], nothing but destruction by [illegible] precludes its reuse indefinitely. Mixed with glue, wood pulp and wood flour can be made into various paper-mache products, such as picture frames, boxes, cornices, statues, and other ornaments.

One of the most interesting products of wood is cellulose, which may also be made from cotton linters. From cellulose the wonderful artificial silks known as celanese and rayon can be made—fabrics that in some respects are superior to those that come from the silkworm.

And so many other things can be made from cellulose—twine, rope, artificial leather, phonograph records, smokeless powder, guncotton, sausage casings, and a long list of chemical products—that it may well be likened to an inexhaustible mine.

market could be found. The bookkeeper had the idea that created the market—a box factory that he now heads. Even box factories have their wastage, but where conditions are favorable it is now being salvaged and converted into wood pulp.

In the Ford plants, where they use daily the equivalent of sixty miles of boards a foot wide and an inch thick, each foreman is held responsible for his scrap pile, and it is said that practically everything in the lumber is utilized except the knot holes.

What May Be Done With Sawdust.

Sawdust, it is being demonstrated, can be put to an almost infinite variety of uses. Mixed with cement it makes an excellent floor, it is stated. This composition as a base, in which very short lengths of hardwood flooring are set like mosaic work, or to resemble tiles, makes possible a highly artistic floor. Reduce sawdust to what is known as wood flour, and mix it with a glue binder, chalk, clay, and inseed oil, and it can be molded into articles too numerous to mention but all of value. A mixture that sounds like it might be a cocktail turns out to be a composition shingle. It consists of one-third sawdust, one-third calcium phosphate, one one-third gelatinous or resinous material.

Charcoal has been made from wood for many years—no one knows exactly how many—but it is only within a comparatively recent date that man has learned the lesson of the by-products that can be saved. The gases generated in the making of charcoal are now saved and condensed, and from various woods there are now recovered wood alcohol, acetic acid for dyeing, acetone—used in the film industry—cresote, and pitch. From the soft woods which contain pitch and resin distillation yields wood turpentine, pine oils, and tar oils.

Gucose is being made, it is reported, by treating wood waste with dilute hydrochloric-acid gas and steam, and the product is used as a cattle food. Stock fed on it as a substitute for one-third their ordinary grain ration are said to thrive. The same process is said to produce from 65 to 70 gallons of grain, or ethyl, alcohol per ton of sawdust. That is where the bootleggers get into the game.

Ground wood, either as wood flour or wood pulp, offers amazing possibilities in the way of utilizing what otherwise would be wasted. In the first place, almost all kinds of woods, in pieces of whatever size or shape, can be used, and second, nothing but destruction by fire precludes its reuse indefinitely. Mixed with glue, wood pulp and wood flour can be made into various paper-mache products, such as picture frames, boxes, cornices, statues, and other ornaments.

One of the most interesting products of wood is cellulose, which may also be made from cotton linters. From cellulose the wonderful artificial silks known as celanese and rayon can be made—fabrics that in some respects are superior to those that come from the silkworm.

And so many other things can be made from cellulose—twine, rope, artificial leather, phonograph records, smokeless powder, guncotton, sausage casings, and a long list of chemical products—that it may well be likened to an inexhaustible mine.

ESSAY CONTEST WILL BE HELD

Manuscripts for the essay contest sponsored by the Hancock county public schools must be in the hands of County Superintendent H. O. Miller by Friday, April 1.

Papers must be confined to between 750 and 1,000 words. No names will be used but each will be numbered on the back. The subject is "Thrift." Contestants will be permitted to delve into all phases of the subject.

SALARY RAISING BILL PENDING

Clerks of the circuit and county courts of Haucock and Brooke counties would receive an increase of salary under the terms of a bill pending in the legislature introduced by the delegate from Brooke county. In the event the mensure is enacted into a law its provisions would not be effective for several years.

Cattle Testing Planned.

State agricultural department in conjunction with county farm bureaus plan an intensive cattle testing drive during the summer. Several examinations have been made in Hancock county by state, federal and county agents.

Membership Growing.

Membership roll of the recently formed Fish and Game society is steadily growing and efforts are being made to make it a county wide organization. Meetings are held every other Tuesday in the office of Justice John A. Mylar.

Circuit Court Cases.

Number of criminal and civil cases have been disposed of this week before Judge J. Harold Brennan in circuit court at New Cumberland.

A gold ring which had slipped into a bowl of potato peelings from the finger of a Dutch woman was later found inside a goose which she was preparing for dinner.

REGULATE-DON'T PURGE BOWELS

Harsh Physics, Calomel, Salts and Purgatives Soon Lose Effect

"VINCO" is a chocolate coated tablet made of Herbs, Roots and Barks (no dope). Does not gripe or sicken. Your druggist will refund money if you do not get relief from the first 25c box.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel and harsh physics. Use only "VINCO" to regulate the bowels. Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO." They, too, will appreciate the difference between harsh physics and gentle, harmless "VINCO."

STUDENTS GO TO NASH PLANT

Naval School Lads See How Car is Made.

Inspection of the various operations entailed in the production of the Nash car was made by a delegation of 50 students of the aviation corps of the Great Lakes Naval Training station under the supervision of Lieut. Commander Weiss. Like many universities and other institutions of learning in the ce tral west, the Naval Training station has made inspection of the Nash plant, and other industrial plants, a part of the school curriculum.

Among the other schools to send students to the Nash factory, under the guidance of professors and instructors, are the University of Illinois, school of engineering; Northwestern university, school of commerce; University of Wisconsin; Armour institute; Ohio Northern university; University of Kansas; University of Arkansas; Purdue university; Lake Forest college; University of Oklahoma, school of engineering; Greer College of Automobile Engineering, and a number of high schools.

The students express keen interest in the various processes that go to make up the completed car and usually are outspoken in their amazement at the lengths to which Nash motors goes in the safe-guarding of quality through a most complete system of inspection and tests.

In addition to students, hundreds of others visit the Nash factories each year. Guides thoroughly familiar with the various production processes take visitors through the plant every day, one trip being made in the morning, and another in the afternoon.

SEDAN

If you are one of those sound automobile buyers who buy on comparative values, and if you compare the Greater Oakland Six against the best its field affords—you will discover that only the most advanced engineering could create it . . . and only super-precision methods could produce it.

In no other car of the $1000 class will you find such a matchless combination of engineering advancements as in the Greater Oakland Six. For no other car, regardless of price, provides Oakland's Rubber-Silenced Chassis and Harmonic Balancer, Oakland's full pressure oiling, bronze-backed interchangeable main bearings, foot controlled tilting-beam headlights and four-wheel brakes.

Nor in any other car of comparable price will you find so many examples of that super-precision in manufacture directly responsible for long car life and lasting owner satisfaction.

All Oakland piston pin bushings are diamond bored . . . All Oakland connecting rods are exactly matched for center of gravity and weight. All Oakland rotating parts from transmission to rear axle are completely balanced. These are practices which typify the most modern and exacting principles of scientific manufacture—and Oakland uses them all.

This super-precision manufacture explains why a Greater Oakland Six could come through its recent 100,000-mile endurance run in less than six months with flying colors . . . It tells why so many thousands of Oakland owners are amazed at the thrilling performance and rugged stamina of their cars. It reveals why the trend in fine car buying continues to swing toward the Greater Oakland Six. And if you drive the car . . . you will soon see why yourself!

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Children are gloriously well when their special needs are met with simple foods. A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk is one of the best of the "growth foods" now considered so important.

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 23% of the tissue-building protein a growing child must have.

And how children love the natural whole-grain flavor!

For many years the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even!

So that mothers who realize the importance of oatmeal as a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

STUDENTS GO TO NASH PLANT

Naval School Lads See How Car is Made.

Inspection of the various operations entailed in the production of the Nash car was made by a delegation of 50 students of the aviation corps of the Great Lakes Naval Training station under the supervision of Lieut. Commander Weiss. Like many universities and other institutions of learning in the ce tral west, the Naval Training station has made inspection of the Nash plant, and other industrial plants, a part of the school curriculum.

Among the other schools to send students to the Nash factory, under the guidance of professors and instructors, are the University of Illinois, school of engineering; Northwestern university, school of commerce; University of Wisconsin; Armour institute; Ohio Northern university; University of Kansas; University of Arkansas; Purdue university; Lake Forest college; University of Oklahoma, school of engineering; Greer College of Automobile Engineering, and a number of high schools.

The students express keen interest in the various processes that go to make up the completed car and usually are outspoken in their amazement at the lengths to which Nash motors goes in the safe-guarding of quality through a most complete system of inspection and tests.

In addition to students, hundreds of others visit the Nash factories each year. Guides thoroughly familiar with the various production processes take visitors through the plant every day, one trip being made in the morning, and another in the afternoon.

STUDENTS GO TO NASH PLANT

Naval School Lads See How Car is Made.

Inspection of the various operations entailed in the production of the Nash car was made by a delegation of 50 students of the aviation corps of the Great Lakes Naval Training station under the supervision of Lieut. Commander Weiss. Like many universities and other institutions of learning in the central west, the Naval Training station has made inspection of the Nash plant, and other industrial plants, a part of the school curriculum.

Among the other schools to send students to the Nash factory, under the guidance of professors and instructors, are the University of Illinois, school of engineering; Northwestern university, school of commerce; University of Wisconsin; Armour institute; Ohio Northern university; University of Kansas; University of Arkansas; Purdue university; Lake Forest college; University of Oklahoma, school of engineering; Greer College of Automobile Engineering, and a number of high schools.

The students express keen interest in the various processes that go to make up the completed car and usually are outspoken in their amazement at the lengths to which Nash motors goes in the safe-guarding of quality through a most complete system of inspection and tests.

In addition to students, hundreds of others visit the Nash factories each year. Guides thoroughly familiar with the various production processes take visitors through the plant every day, one trip being made in the morning, and another in the afternoon.

SEDAN

If you are one of those sound automobile buyers who buy on comparative values, and if you compare the Greater Oakland Six against the best its field affords—you will discover that only the most advanced engineering could create it . . . and only super-precision methods could produce it.

In no other car of the $1000 class will you find such a matchless combination of engineering advancements as in the Greater Oakland Six. For no other car, regardless of price, provides Oakland's Rubber-Silenced Chassis and Harmonic Balancer, Oakland's full pressure oiling, bronze-backed interchangeable main bearings, foot controlled tilting-beam headlights and four-wheel brakes.

Nor in any other car of comparable price will you find so many examples of that super-precision in manufacture directly responsible for long car life and lasting owner satisfaction.

All Oakland piston pin bushings are diamond bored . . . All Oakland connecting rods are exactly matched for center of gravity and weight. All Oakland rotating parts from transmission to rear axle are completely balanced. These are practices which typify the most modern and exacting principles of scientific manufacture—and Oakland uses them all.

This super-precision manufacture explains why a Greater Oakland Six could come through its recent 100,000-mile endurance run in less than six months with flying colors . . . It tells why so many thousands of Oakland owners are amazed at the thrilling performance and rugged stamina of their cars. It reveals why the trend in fine car buying continues to swing toward the Greater Oakland Six. And if you drive the car . . . you will soon see why yourself!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Children are gloriously well when their special needs are met with simple foods. A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk is one of the best of the "growth foods" now considered so important.

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 23% of the tissue-building protein a growing child must have.

And how children love the natural whole-grain flavor!

For many years the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even!

So that mothers who realize the importance of oatmeal as a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

DENIES SUICIDE EPIDEMIC EXISTS AMONG STUDENTS OF PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, Pa.—No suicide epidemic exists among the student population of Pennsylvania, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, asserted today.

Dr. Appel's assertion was based on an exhaustive search of records available in his department. The data compiled from the records of the health department was prompted by a suicide wave among young students which has swept the country since the first of the year.

The finding holds true, Dr. Appel said, despite the fact that in 1926 there were more suicides in Pennsylvania than in any other year since 1916. Last year there were 1129 suicides in the state, a rate of 12 per cent.

The highest suicide record ever recorded in the state was reached in December, 1926, with a percentage of 12.8 for each 100,000 of population as compared with 10.7 per cent in the same month of the previous year.

"This increase at all ages, however," Dr. Appel declared, "apparently was not accompanied by a disproportionate increase at the younger ages, press reports to the contrary, notwithstanding."

In recent months, according to the departments' statistics, the percentage of suicides of persons under twenty years of age as compared with all ages is but two per cent. This percentage was said to be the "usual proportion."

Commenting on this percentage Dr. Appel said:

"It is interesting to note that our experience in Pennsylvania is practically the same as that recorded by one of the largest life insurance companies in the country, among its millions of policy holders. The insurance company's report showed that the suicide rate among those aged fifteen to nineteen has decreased generally during the last few years."

Dr. Appel pointed out that the suicide rate for all ages before the war was higher than at present; that it dropped during the war, but since has been increasing until in 1926, it equalled the rate for 1916.

This yearly variation is due, Dr. Appel believes, partly at least, to economic conditions.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

But No Relief Came to Her Until She Took Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

Mrs. P. J. O'Brien, 1582 Wyandotte Ave., Cleveland, O., writes: "I was in such misery from stomach and liver trouble that I walked the floor and applied hot cloths to ease my pains. But these didn't help me much.

Redwood.

"When I had one of my spells of indigestion my stomach was so sore that I could hardly bear to lay my hand on it. It was bloated and distended with gas. I was so constipated that my bowels wouldn't act unless I took a laxative.

"I bless the day I started to take Redwood's Tepee Tonic for now I am a well woman. My stomach and liver are now in a perfectly healthy condition. I do not have to take laxatives and I can eat what I want without having indigestion."

Tepee Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug store in East Liverpool and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

DENIES SUICIDE EPIDEMIC EXISTS AMONG STUDENTS OF PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, Pa.—No suicide epidemic exists among the student population of Pennsylvania, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, asserted today.

Dr. Appel's assertion was based on an exhaustive search of records available in his department. The data compiled from the records of the health department was prompted by a suicide wave among young students which has swept the country since the first of the year.

The finding holds true, Dr. Appel said, despite the fact that in 1926 there were more suicides in Pennsylvania than in any other year since 1916. Last year there were 1129 suicides in the state, a rate of 12 per cent.

The highest suicide record ever recorded in the state was reached in December, 1926, with a percentage of 12.8 for each 100,000 of population as compared with 10.7 per cent in the same month of the previous year.

"This increase at all ages, however," Dr. Appel declared, "apparently was not accompanied by a disproportionate increase at the younger ages, press reports to the contrary, notwithstanding."

In recent months, according to the departments' statistics, the percentage of suicides of persons under twenty years of age as compared with all ages is but two per cent. This percentage was said to be the "usual proportion."

Commenting on this percentage Dr. Appel said:

"It is interesting to note that our experience in Pennsylvania is practically the same as that recorded by one of the largest life insurance companies in the country, among its millions of policy holders. The insurance company's report showed that the suicide rate among those aged fifteen to nineteen has decreased generally during the last few years."

Dr. Appel pointed out that the suicide rate for all ages before the war was higher than at present; that it dropped during the war, but since has been increasing until in 1926, it equalled the rate for 1916.

This yearly variation is due, Dr. Appel believes, partly at least, to economic conditions.

But No Relief Came to Her Until She Took Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

Mrs. P. J. O'Brien, 1582 Wyandotte Ave., Cleveland, O., writes: "I was in such misery from stomach and liver trouble that I walked the floor and applied hot cloths to ease my pains. But these didn't help me much.

Redwood.

"When I had one of my spells of indigestion my stomach was so sore that I could hardly bear to lay my hand on it. It was bloated and distended with gas. I was so constipated that my bowels wouldn't act unless I took a laxative.

"I bless the day I started to take Redwood's Tepee Tonic for now I am a well woman. My stomach and liver are now in a perfectly healthy condition. I do not have to take laxatives and I can eat what I want without having indigestion."

Tepee Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug store in East Liverpool and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

United States Consul Davis, Who Was Reported to Have Escaped With His Family, is Now Said to Have Been Seriously Wounded—Four More Destroyers Sail for China.

By Alfred Meyer.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(11 P. M.)—One hundred and twenty Americans are missing in Nanking, and it it officially believed they have been massacred, according to a dispatch received tonight from Admiral Hough, U. S. N., commanding the American forces in Nanking.

BOMBARDMENT OF BATTLESHIPS FIRES PORTION OF NANKING

LONDON, March 25.—A considerable portion of Nanking is burning, the fires having been started by the bombardment of British and American warships on Thursday, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai today.

Rioting, accompanied by rifle fire, broke out early Friday in the Jessfield district of Shanghai, said a second Central News dispatch from Shanghai. The trouble arose when cotton mill employes attempted to resume work and were prevented by armed pickets.

The industrial situation at Shanghai is said by the Central News to be improving.

The evacuation of the remaining foreigners in Nanking followed successful negotiations between Admiral Hough, U. S. N., and the senior British and Japanese naval officers and the general commanding the Cantonese forces, the radio advices stated.

More than 300 Americans have now been evacuated from Nanking, which had a permanent American population of 400.

150 Americans were evacuated yesterday.

150 Americans were evacuated today.

120 Americans are reported missing, and are believed to have been massacred.

The number of British civilians killed had not been estimated when the casualty list was sent from Nanking.

American and British warships renewed their bombardment of Nanking at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said another dispatch from that city.

Confirm Missionary's Death.

Admiral Hough's latest report that 120 Americans are missing and are believed to have been massacred confirms the International News Service dispatches that there were more than 100 American dead in Nanking.

An official report stated that American Consul General Davis is "safe," but it did not clear up earlier reports that Davis had been wounded.

The oficial advices stated that "a few American sailors were wounded," but did not state how they received their wounds.

Official confirmation has been received on the death of Dr. Williams, of Shawnee, Ohio, a United States missionary.

Serious Disorders at Chinkiang.

Bertram Giles, British consul general at Nanking, is now reported wounded and missing.

Reports were received today of serious disorders at Chinkiang, 60 miles from Nanking. Wholesale looting and anti-foreign outbursts are reported there and it is said that the situation is second only to that in Nanking. Reports also indicate anti-foreign demonstrations in Hankow and Wu Hu.

Steamers bringing refugees from Nanking have been delayed at Chinkiang picking up 20 refugees there, most of whom were Americans. The American population of Chinkiang was approximately 80.

Japanese Forces Land.

Earlier advices by radio indicated that the American and British naval authorities had decided to postpone drastic action against the Cantonese at Nanking pending the arrival of

DEVELOPMENTS IN WAR ZONE

Central China is today in a ferment of anti-foreign turmoil.

British and American warships have renewed bombardment of Nanking, where there are still some 150 American refugees reported. It is believed the bombardment was renewed because the Chinese failed to heed an ultimatum to deliver the foreigners aboard the warships by 10 o'clock this morning.

Terrific fires are reported in Nanking.

The Cantonese are reported to have lost 2,000 in the Nanking fighting.

Anti-foreign outbursts are reported in Hankow, Chinkiang, and Wu Hu, with the entire Yangtse valley aflame with anti-foreign rancor.

Disorders has been renewed at Shanghai where looting is reported in the Chapei district again.

All foreign powers are sending reinforcements to Nanking.

General Chiang Kai-Shek is reported enroute to Nanking in an attempt to restore order.

Today

They May Come, Unasked.

China Wakes Up.

Mr. Astor Sees Europe.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

ENGLAND is building two gigantic dirigibles capable of going anywhere in the world. They will cross the Atlantic ocean easily. And Britain is "waiting for an invitation" to send one of these big airships to the United States.

So far, so good; all very friendly.

But a day may come when some country will have airplanes, dirigibles and submarines that carry airplanes below the water, all capable of crossing the ocean, and send them to the United States, without any invitation.

It would be as well to be ready for that possibility.

GEN. PAI-TSUNG-HAI, commander of the victorious Cantonese troops, issues a proclamation calling on China to start and carry on a "world revolution."

Gen. Pai perhaps does not realize the size of his plan. There are many countries that had all the revolution they wanted between 1914 and 1918, and are willing to rest for awhile now.

But there is no doubt that China with the help of Russia is going to give bad headaches to many international business men.

The British especially, with their main office on the foggy island and their real business spread all over the world will dislike the "world revolution" idea.

VINCENT ASTOR, intelligent young citizen of New York, whose family has long been in the real estate business, returns from Paris with news that Paris is still "anti-Yankee." Also prices are high. A cocktail costs eight francs, which means 32 cents in real money. Several years ago the franc was 14 cents. Think of that.

Of Italy, Mr. Astor brings optimistic news. Trains are on time everywhere. It was not always so before Mussolini's time. Mussolini has pro-

RINI AND GIRL FILE MOTION FOR ACTION IN LISBON COURT

Hearing on Request Will be Held Next Week.

ATTORNEYS BUSY

Mrs. Marie Chorgas and Man go to County Jail.

Motion for bond for Salvadore Rini, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Marie Chorgas, of Minneapolis, Minn., in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on murder charges in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville, who was found dead in a Walnut street apartment, Tuesday night, will be made in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by Defense Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville and S. W. Crawford, of this city.

Prisoners are Silent.

Arguments on the motion probably will be held next Wednesday or Thursday as the prosecuting attorney must have five days' notice. Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes will oppose the move.

Defense counsel today denied that they had "talked over" the matter of bond with Acting Municipal Judge Ben L. Bennett at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Rini and Mrs. Chorgas, his sister-in-law, were taken to the county jail by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Sheriff Kindsvatter at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Acting upon the advice of their attorneys, neither of them made any statement before leaving for Lisbon.

Telegram from Woman's Husband.

Chief of Police Hugh McDermott received a telegram from James Chorgas, 19 Hogue avenue, North, Minneapolis, husband of the woman under arrest, last night, inquiring, "Is Mrs. Marie Chorgas held in jail there?" Chief McDermott wired back: "Mrs. Chorgas is in the county jail, charge murder."

According to the woman, her husband is engaged in the confectionery business in Minneapolis. She came here about a month ago to attend the trial of her brother, Roy Wallen, East Salineville coal miner, now serving a life sentence for the murder of Rodney Ogle, a neighbor.

The grand jury will meet on Monday, April 4, to investigate the charges against Rini and Mrs. Chorgas.

Funeral services for Anania will be held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery. The body is at the home of Felix N. Anania, Bradshaw avenue.

TRAIN KILLS PLOW SALESMAN

NORWALK, March 25.—J. G. Cain, aged about 55, of 251 Kevin Place, Toledo, a traveling salesman for the Burch Plow company of Crestline, was killed at Monroeville today when his automobile was struck by a westbound New York Central passenger train.

DETROIT GANGSTERS BLAMED FOR FINDLAY KILLING AND ROBBERY

Four Men and Two Women are Nabbed in Automobile Six Miles East of Windsor.

STORE WATCHMAN MURDER VICTIM

Bandits Fled After Slaying Aged Man and Taking $10,000 From Safe on January 30.

DETROIT, March 25.—Four men and two women arrested today in connection with the death of a night watchman in Findlay, Ohio, were released later after questioning of the suspects by Detroit and Windsor police. The authorities failed to link the six with the murder.

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—Four men and two women were arrested early today by Detroit and Windsor police in connection with the slaying of a Findlay, Ohio, night watchman during a robbery a month ago.

Detective Patrick O'Grady and several Windsor officers nabbed the suspects in an automobile on Riverside Drive, six miles east of Windsor.

The six persons were brought to Detroit where they were booked under the following names: Charles Perry, 35; John Davies, 43, Windsor; George Young, 27; Frank York, 41; Miss Jean Sousie, 25, and Miss Rose Dezes.

Victim's Keys Found.

FINDLAY, O., March 25.—Peter Grant, 53, night watchman of the C. F. Jackson department store here, was found murdered in the store January 30, and $10,000 taken from the safe.

A week later, a .32 calibre pistol, Grant's keys and 29 Jackson money bags were found along the Toledo-Columbus highway near Kenton.

On Feb. 28, Findlay police declared the robbery and murder had been committed by Detroit gangsters, and a search was begun in the vicinity of Detroit and Toledo.

Weirton Mill Man Fatally Crushed in Drilling Machine

Andrew Muroski, 40, Weirton, was fatally crushed last night when caught in a drilling machine while at work in the annealing department of the Weirton Steel company. He died half an hour after being admitted to the mill emergency hospital.

Coroner George A. Arner, of Chester, will conduct an inquest late this afternoon.

LIONS' CLUB URGES CUT IN MAYOR'S PAY

VOTE APRIL 7

Interest Manifested as Councilman Hughes Drafts Ordinance.

Two civic organizations were on record today on the proposed reduction in the mayor's salary, one urging the slash and the other opposing it

Members of the Lions' club, at a dinner meeting in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A., adopted a motion supporting the proposal. Secretary H. D. Rist will notify city council of this action.

The West End Civic association, at a meeting in the Curry Memorial chapel, West Eighth street, last evening, by a rising vote, opposed any change in the present salary of $1,800 per year, according to Mrs. Aaron Moore.

An ordinance, reducing the salary to $600 per year, prepared under instructions of Solon George A. Hughes of the ordinance committee, will be considered by council at a meeting on Thursday night, April 7.

MRS. LANE, 25, DIES IN HOME

Funeral Services Will be Held at 9 a. m. Monday.

Mrs. Maude Sharpe Lane, 25, wife of Dr. William Lane, Cleveland dentist, died in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Sharpe, 240 West Fifth street, at 7:25 o'clock this morning, after a long illness of complications of diseases.

Mrs. Lane, who was born in Kane, Pa., and later resided in Youngstown, came to East Liverpool, where she was employed in the First National bank, about five years ago.

Besides her mother, she leaves five brothers, Major R. J. Sharpe, Kane, Pa.; Robert C. Sharpe, Cleveland, and Edward, James and Evan, all of East Liverpool, and three sisters, Mesdames Oscar Ford, Toledo; Earl Eberly, Cleveland, and Louis Bates, Washington, D. C. Her father was the late Robert C. Sharpe, who died in Kane, Pa.

Funeral services will be held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, of which she was a member, at 9 o'clock Monday morning, in charge of Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, pastor. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

SHAWNEE, OHIO, MISSIONARY, IS SLAIN BY FIRE OF GUERILLAS

Rev. J. E. Williams Dies in Fighting at Nanking.

Daughter Connected With Y. W. C. A. at Shanghai.

NEW LEXINGTON, O., March 25.—Rev. J. E. Williams, a Presbyterian missionary, and a native of Shawnee, Ohio, near here, was today reported killed in the fighting at Nanking, China, according to cable advices.

He left a Presbyterian ministry here 20 years ago, to enter the missionary field. With him in China when he was last heard from at Shanghai, were his wife, and his daughter, Faith, who was connected with the Y. W. C. A. at Shanghai. Several weeks ago, Rev. Williams was transferred to Nanking, but it is not known here whether members of his family accompanied him from Shanghai to Nanking.

Mrs. James B. Collins, wife of a Shawnee banker, is a niece of Rev. Williams, and his brother, David E. Williams, also lives at New Lexington. Another daughter, Miss Dorothy Williams, is an instructor at Wellesley college, Boston, and a third daughter, Miss Mary Williams, teaches in the public schools at Boston.

Cantonese Blamed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Responsibility for the murder of Americans in Nanking, and the looting of the American consulate there, was placed directly upon the Cantonese Nationalists today by Consul John K. Davis, in an official report received here at noon.

Davis himself was reported wounded. His report, the first direct word from him since yesterday's terroism in Nanking, gave a meager but graphic description of his escape from the city.

Mrs. F. M. Campbell, 80, Dies in Son's Home in Chester

Mrs. F. M. Campbell, 80, formerly of Cairo, Neb., died last night in the home of her son, Allie Campbell, Fairview street, Chester, after two weeks' illness.

Mrs. Campbell, who was born in Pennsylvania, made her home in Nebraska until two years ago when she moved to Chester.

She is survived by five sons and one daughter: Harry, Belgrade, Neb.; Bernard, Colorado; Ralph, Los Angeles, Cal.; Frank, Ravenna, Neb.; Allie, Chester, and Mrs. Annie Hendrickson, Cairo, Neb.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 7:30 tonight, in charge of Rev. A. E. Sims, pastor of the Christian church. The body will be taken to Nebraska for burial.

Five-way Traffic Light Placed on E. Sixth Street

Installation of the new traffic light at the five-cornered street intersection at Broadway, East Sixth and Washington streets was started by service department employes today.

RIVER VICTIM'S BODY IS BURIED

Body of the unidentified woman, recovered from the Ohio river near Babb's Island, early Wednesday afternoon, was buried today in the United Presbyterian church cemetery near Calcutta. Short services were conducted at the grave by Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the church.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification was impossible, and Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, this morning instructed the Miller undertaking establishment to inter it.

Mrs. Harley Fuller Funeral Services At 2 p. m. Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Alberta Fuller, wife of Harley Fuller, 2038 Michigan avenue, East End, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Recovering from Operation.

Solon-at-large Will Enter August Primary for Republican Nomination, he Announces.

Councilman-at-large Thomas Farrall, Ravine street, serving his second term as a solon, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for mayor at the August primary election. Farrall, first to toss his hat in the ring for the mayoralty, is employed as a warehouseman at the China works of the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles pottery.

At least one other member of council, according to reports, will enter the Republican fight for the city executive's job.

Candidates for municipal ofices must file their petitions with the election board not later than June 10.

POTTERS INVITE RAMSAY MacDONALD, FORMER BRITISH PREMIER, TO REUNION

Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier in Great Britain and at present a member of the house of commons, today was invited to be a guest of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters at the third annual reunion which will be held at Meyers Lake park, Canton, Saturday, June 11.

MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Isabelle, will sail April 19 for an extended visit in the United States.

Governor Donahey and President William Green of the Ohio Federation of Labor were guests of the potters at their first picnic held at Canton, two years ago. Last year Secretary of Labor James J. Davis was the speaker.

BALTO, SEPPALA'S FAMOUS HUSKY HERO, GETS HOME IN CLEVELAND ZOO

CLEVELAND.—Balto, the hero dog who led Leonard Seppala's team of huskies into Nome two years ago, pulling that precious little cargo of diphtheria anti-toxin will make his future home in Brookside zoo, Cleveland.

Huskies, such as Balto may live to the ripe age of 20 years, dog experts declare. As Balto is but five years old at the present time, he is thought to be good for ten years more at least, perhaps longer for he will receive excellent care at the zoo.

Subscriptions accepted in the local drive, ranged all the way from pennies contributed by school children, upward.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

A cough or cold may only make you feel miserable today. But when you begin to feel "achy" and feverish, with a tightness in your chest, congestion is reaching your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops a cough and drives out the cold.

Hospital-Proved Medicine—not just a "cough syrup"! This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to every part of your system.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people. At all druggists. Save 20 cents by getting the dollar bottle, containing twice as much as the 60c trial size. c513

"Tact" In China

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of Cantonese leaders," remarks an American editor, "if they avoid conflict with foreign troops in Shanghai and thereby prevent future trouble with the governments they represent."

Suppose we look at the other side of it, and reply:

"It will require tact of a high degree on the part of foreign leaders (European and American) if they avoid conflict with Cantonese troops in Shanghai, and thereby prevent trouble with the (Nationalist) government those troops represent."

The tact seems to be up to the western powers now trying to sit tight at Shanghai while the old Chinese system blows up around them.

There are two very important things to do there, if these western powers, including America, are to get along with China from now on. One is to pick the winning faction in this civil war, and the other is to deal wisely with that faction.

Recent developments should make this delicate problem easier than it has been. The Nationalist or Cantonese forces under Chiang Kai-Shek, representing the political party called Kuo-Min-Tang, are now in possession of Shanghai and nearly all the rest of China. The northern armies representing the old, reactionary, corrupt system under which China has suffered for ages, seem to be melting away. The libeal movement, inspired originally by Sun Yat Sen, who drew his political ideals from America, is apparently succeeding.

There is said to be division in the ranks of the Nationalists, between the republican element and the Communist element which is friendly to Soviet Russia, with the commander-in-chief, Chiang Kai-Shek, opposing the Communist group.

Thus it looks sensible, and also in harmony with the ideals expressed by the leading western powers, especially America, to deal directly and promptly with the Nationalist leader, as the representative of China, and make such concessions to Chinese sovereignty as are necessary.

Average Prosperity

Seeking light on the country's present business situation, Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, finds it very complicated. The facts are hard to get at, he says, and are contradictory when you do get hold of them. But he seems satified that conditions on the whole are good.

"Trade is spotted," he observes, "but entirely satisfactory to all who accept the fact that even in the United States an occasional year must slip by without breaking records."

Last year was adjudged, at its close, the peak of American prosperity for all time. And that in spite of the fact that it seemed slow in getting under way, and most of us, as the year proceeded, had no idea that all records were being smashed.

It may be taken for granted that the present year will not break last year's remarkable record for industrial production, volume of trade and general well-being, and probably not equal it. But none of us need be astonished if it comes pretty close. And in any case, as Mr. Price intimates, we shall have no kick coming if it proves to be merely an "average year."

It is the average that indicates the American level of prosperity; and only a little study of conditions abroad gives one a thrilling sense of how immeasurably this living standard level surpasses that of other nations.

Turn-Table Houses

A house model exhibited at Nice, France, is mounted on a turntable, with an electric motor attachment, so that the building can be turned in any direction by merely turning a switch. French architects are said to approve of the idea.

That would be very convenient in enabling the family to have a change of scene whenever they liked, without leaving the house. It would also be pleasant to follow the sun automatically, keeping that luminary shining into the living room or dining room or sun room all day. Many of our alleged sun rooms now are sadly lacking in sunshine. Add the new glass invented in England, whereby the ultra-violet rays are enabled to pass through, and everyone can get the full benefit of sunlight, including a coat of tan, indoors.

Likewise the sun may be dodged on a hot summer day, by a process easier than pulling down the shades. There is developing, by the way, a modern cult of light-worshippers who insist that window shades should never be pulled down.

What next? A mechanism to raise or lower a house like a barber's chair?

If the Soviet government is so good at managing other countries—China and Mexico, for instance—as some observers say, we should think it could do better with Russia.

APPERTAINING TO FINANCE

Most of us are familiar with the story of the improvident person who, on being warned by the head of his bank that he must make extensive deposits immediately in order that his drawing account might balance, made answer as follows:

'Say, look here! I'm getting good and tired of having you fellows bothering me about these petty financial details. If you begin pestering me again, I'll be derned if I don't take my overdraft out of your bank and transfer it to the Second National, across the street."

There's a companion story for this, not quite so old:

A gentleman in a Southern town, well known as brilliant but careless, was persistent in his applications for loans and extremely tardy about repaying them. He had induced a local bank to let him have forty dollars and gave his note therefor.

At the end of each go-day period he invariably appeared and asked that the note be renewed; and as there was nothing else to do, the bank always renewed it.

One day he appeared and said to the cashier:

"I'd like to renew that paper of mine you have here."

"Certainly," replied the cashier; "I'll fix it up for you."

The cashier made the proper preparations for the renewal; and then he said:

"Say, the directors were talking about this paper of yours the other day. They decided they wouldn't charge you interest on it any longer."

"That is very considerate of them," was the reply. "I'm mighty glad to hear it. I certainly am under obligations to them."

'Yes," continued the cashier, "we're not going to charge you interest, we're going to charge you storage!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 25.—Thoughts while strolling: Sign near the Ritz: "Why Palm Beach? Get a society tan here." The giant doorman at the Roosevelt. Sam Kingston, the Broadway Adonis. Cafe features salt rising bread. I'd like one that doesn't decorate dishes with sprays of parsley.

Why do men caught talking to themselves begin humming a tune or whistling? Too many black-haired film heroes. Need a few blondes. Autographed slickers. Pierre Key, the critic. Never hear of an alto singer anymore. Moe and Mike's kindling cellar.

What became of striped wall paper? The hurdy gurdy arrives. And the kokey pokey man. Hotels with street windows. And yawning brass spittoons. Book stalls and nodding old proprietors. Warehouses with musty smells and air of depression.

Shirtless young men who play ball in the street. Listless children who drag rag dolls and boxes along pavements. Slatternly women who sit at windows. Basement dining rooms without curtains. Old men who seem to shrink from human contact. And pale shut-ins.

Turkish coffee shops. Viennese bakeries. Window cigarette rollers. Tailors sitting cross legged on tables in semi-darkness. Sallow young men who read Russian novels as they walk. Long haired fiddlers and girls as chic as those on Fifth avenue.

"I Cure Men" signs. Brackish odors from the river. The toot of tugs. A wax musee with a chamber of horrors. And outside ballyhoo. Canary colored buttoned shoes with mountainous toes. Racks of gaudy suspenders and wild two-gun movies.

A disheveled drunk lurches across the sidewalks and sinks at the curb. Fumbling through his pockets. "Sales" in every other store. Wedding dresses and suits for hire. Shawled women carrying baskets on their heads. And a blind man thrums a guitar.

A box office man in a New York theatre usually accupies his off evenings in attending performances at other theatres. Sailors spend leisure hours rowing in Central park, but the hand-painted doughnut goes to the writer of western stories who spends much money and idle time in a Sixth Avenue shooting gallery. There's a citified slant on western "atmosphere" for you.

There are any number of writers of "westerns," an editor tells me, who have never seen a cowboy outside the movies. And what they know of open spaces is gleaned from Central park. Yet their popularity is chiefly among those they write about. Along the same line, there is a man who writes a fashion column for men, who is about the shoddiest dresser to be found outside of a 10-cent lodging house.

A high brown gal of the Harlem cabarets is said to have the most complete summer wardrobe hereabouts. The story goes she cashed in on a $30,000 building investment in the Black Belt and turning it over to a fashionable dressmaker, said: "Shoot the works. I'm going to Europe and grab a count."

And a report from a tailoring association announces the average New Yorker buys three suits for business a year and a dinner suit every fourth year. On the other hand there is a boulevardier who buys clothes three times a year—15 suits at a crack. His riding, golf, tennis, evening and hunting clothes are extra.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Conserving Waste Wood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—When a standing tree is felled it is said to be good logging and good milling if 40 per cent of it is converted into usuable lumber. The average result is around 33 per cent. In utilizing the lumber at least one-fourth is lost in turning out the finished product, according to the computations of the experts, hence there is a wastage of approximately 75 per cent of the tree. Hence the exceedingly important problem of reducing that waste.

This problem is regarded as all the more important because of the constantly diminishing supply of timber in the world and particularly in the United States. Something has to be done about it, and a great deal is being done. However, much remains to be done.

Everything from chopsticks for exportation to China and Japan to alcohol, both ethyl and wood, for the ulterior purposes of American bootleggers is being made out of waste wood, and the end is not yet. Scientists are working constantly on the problem and almost daily are devising new uses to bring about ultimately the complete consumption of nature's great gift to mankind.

It is almost beyond human conception to grasp the amount of timber that is consumed each year in the united States. It runs to something like 53 billion board feet—square feet one inch thick—and persons who delight in computatiors of the sort have figured that this would be enough to construct a board walk 20 feet in width from the earth to the moon.

Along with this almost an equal amount is used as fuel annually—a quantity that would make a woodpile half a mile in height and almost three-quarters of a mile square at its base. In the rural districts of the United States there are doubtless numerous small boys who will make oath that they carry in that amount of wood every year, but their imaginations run far ahead of their actual labors. And yet, while a woodpile of that size is inconceivable, it is to be remembered that it does not suffice, so to speak, to boil all the eggs that are consumed in this country each twelve-month, for great quantities of coal and no small amount of gas, oil, and electricity are also used for that purpose.

Waste Not What It Was Formerly.

Of course the waste of timber is nothing now compared to what it was in the days when only lumber or firewood was made of a tree, and when they were "choicey" about their lumber and firewood. The lumber had to be of a width and of a grain or it would be cast aside, and the firewood had to be from timber that was easily cut and split or it would be left to rot on the ground. In those days a serious problem at every mill was what to do with slabs, chips, short cuts, and sawdust. No one thought of utilizing them; the only concern was how to get rid of them.

Now it is predicted that the near future will see timber handled by a group of industrial establishments and laboratories, directed by experts and chemists who will see to it that each tree yields everything of use there is in it from roots to branches.

Such a plant, says one scientist, might take a Douglas Fir, for example, and utilize its trunk for lumber for houses; the bark for wallboard or filler for paper; the trimmings for lath and "hogged fuel" for power; and the residue for charcoal for stock feed and other uses. From the branches, top, and stump, resin, turpentine, and other chemicals would be extractible, leaving more charcoal. Larger pieces of wood that once might have been wasted would be ground up for wood pulp fro wrapping paper and newsprint, and the liquor from the pulp mill might be used as a binder for the sawdust, thereby converting the last left-over into a fuel.

A bookkeeper in a northwestern lumber mill found his way to fortune through knowing what to do with waste lumber. The mill was on the verge of bankruptcy, but had accumulated a tremendous quantity of short lengths that might be valuable if a

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CAPITOL FIRE REPORT FILED

The loss to the state of West Virginnia in the fire which destroyed the frame office building occupied by several departments and commissions, aggregated $120,316, while the insurance on contents of the building amounted to $95,000, the legislature was told today by Governor Gore, who submitted to the solons the report of his committee which inquired into the fire.

The buildings were not owned by the state, but had been previously sold to W. B. Geary and others of Charleston.

Headed by Attorney General Howard Lee, the investigating committee was unable to secure any information as to how the fire started, adding, however, that "we could find no evidence indicating in any degree that the fire was of other than purely accidental origin." The report further said that "we do not consider that the fire was any more than might have been reasonably expected at any time within the last five or six years."

SOCIETY

Many of 1,500 Members of Association Will Observe One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Birthday Celebration.

The Columbiana County association of Cuyahoga county, composed of 1,500 former residents of the Ohio river county who now reside in Cleveland, will celebrate the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the formation of the county with a banquet in the Epworth Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Prospect avenue and 25th street, in the Forest City, tonight.

A program of short addresses, together with a history of the county, will be featured after the dinner which is expected to attract several hundred guests.

As a surprise feature, late editions of all Columbiana newspapers, including the East Liverpool Review-Tribune, will be distributed among the guests.

Miss Pauline Bolles Hostess.

Miss Pauline Bolles was hostess to the members of the Merry Makers' club last evening at her home in Peach alley. The social hours were spent in playing 500, trophies being won by Mesdames Harry Larkins and B. O. Harris.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Larkins.

Mrs. Hazel Calhoun was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held March 31, at the home of Mrs. William Curran, in West Fourth street.

Birthday Anniversary Party.

Honoring the second birthday anniversary of her daughter, Anna, Mrs. A. P. Rubin entertained a group of little folks yesterday afternoon, at her home, 246 West Fourth street. Juvenile games were pastimes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs Rubin, assisted by Misses Mary Barborrak and Laura Butch. Covers were arranged for Lillie Sosnow, Betty Rubin, Lee Gail and Joan Altman, Pearl Bloor, Dorothy and Lettie Brooks, Bobby Shapiro, Maurice and Esther Rubin, Gail Harkins, Betty and Charles Smith, Arthur and Ellen Grumet, and Mrs. Clyde Smith. A color scheme of pink and yellow predominated in the appointments.

Mt. Union Honors Kenneth Knowles.

Kenneth Knowles, of East Liverpool, a member of junior class at Mount Union college, Alliance, has been chosen to deliver the Mantle oration in connection with the annual commencement, June 13.

Knowles has had considerable experience in oratory and public speaking work, being a former member of the college debate squad and member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity.

In addition to being an ex-debater, Knowles is also a former member of the college student senate, having sat on that body two successive years.

Jolly Five Club Session.

The Jolly Five club met last night at the home of Miss Hilda Baumgard in Martin street. A short business session preceded music, games and a guessing contest, which was won by Miss Infelda Tohlison.

Refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. John Lackey. Covers were arranged for Misses Ruth Payton Imelda Tohmlison, Frances Johanning, Mary Farson, and Hilda Baumgard.

Young People's Class Will Honor Beethoven's Memory

Miss Lysbeth Hamill will receive the Young People's class in musical appreciation Saturday afternoon, at her studio in Thompson Place, when a program of Beethoven's music will be given in commemoration of the composer's death which occurred on March 26, 1827. Each pupil will give a short talk on the form of composition she plays.

The program follows:

"The Life and Works of Beethoven"—Marjorie McNicol.

"Rondoletto" in B—Deborah Mountford.

"Andante" in F—Margaret Martino.

"Minuet" in G—Susan Birbeck.

"Scherzo" in F—Mary Gerace.

"Minuetto" from "Sonata" in E flat—Emma May Fleming.

"L'Adieu"—Mary Louise Bergner.

"Beethoven's Centenary"—Emma May Fleming.

Studios, churches, schools, theatres and music halls, all over the civilized world will pay tribute to the memory of Beethoven. Tomorrow young piano students will play Beethoven's "Minuets," "Rondos," and "Sonatas;" vocal artists will sing his beautiful song, "Adelaide;" the concert pianist will interpret the "Pathetique," the "Appassionata," and the "Moonlight" sonatas; the lecturer will tell anew of dignity and resignation and pathos and stark tragedy o the life of the dead composer; the symphony orchestra will gi e entire programs of Beethoven music, with the "Eroica," originally dedicated to Napoleon, the fifth, and ninth symphonies standing out preeminently, and radio stations will contribute to this memorial service by broadcasting the voluminous compositions of this giant of the musical world.

Music lovers will hear some embryo concert violinist playing the "Minuet in G;" a string quartet; a trumpet blasting forth the call from the "Eroica;" an organist producing with splendid orchestral effect an "Adagio" or "Andante" from one of the numerous sonatas; a studio orchestra rendering one of the several overtures to "Leonore" (also known as "Fidelio"). Beethoven's only opera or a great symphony orchestra playing.

Birthday Anniversary Dinner.

Mrs. May Welsh entertained a group of friends at her home in Ray street Wednesday evening, honoring the eighty-second birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Harriet Clunk, and the forty-second birthday anniversary of her brother, James Clunk. A 6 o'clock dinner was served. Covers were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Trainer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowersock and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper and family, James Clunk and family, Mrs. Laura Trainer, and Arthur Welsh and Edward Moore.

After-dinner diversions were music and games.

The honor guests received many gifts.

Dinner at Hamilton Home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hamilton entertained a group of friends last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner at their home in Huston avenue. The table was decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. Tall rose tapers tied with green tulle and sweetpeas were used in the effects. Places were arranged for 12 persons.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter, Miss Virginia.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Owen and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Faller of East Palestine.

Bridge Club Party.

Members of the Thursday Evening Bridge club met last evening at the home of Mrs. James Fortiner, Jr., St. Clair avenue. Three tables were in play. Misses Ruth Webber and Bernice Manor received trophies.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. William Travis, and Miss Elsie Fortiner.

Hostess to Golden Eagle Club.

Mrs. Elmer Wasson entertained the members of the Golden Eagle club last evening at her home in West Ninth street. A short business session was followed by a guessing contest, which was won by Mrs. Leland Kennedy. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Leland Shenkle and Thomas Greenwood. Covers were arranged for 16 persons.

Special guests were Mesdames Leland Kennedy and Thomas Greenwood.

On next Thursday Mrs. Charles Clark, College-street, will receive the club.

Aloha Club Entertained.

Members of the Aloha Five Hundred club were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Myers in Perry avenue. Two tables were in play. Trophies were awarded Mesdames H. D. Parsons and Frank Green. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Parsons.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Elmer Eppley, Indiana avenue, Chester, March 31.

Rosebud Club Entertained.

The Rosebud Euchre club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Gleckner in Blakely street. Six tables were in play, trophies being awarded Mesdames Elizabeth Bratt, Jennie Wright, and Rosetta Briggs, and Messrs. Charles Hoyt, Alfred Gleckner and John E. Anderson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Benton Knowles.

The club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Benton Knowles in Church alley.

Club Members Attend Theatre.

A theatre party was held by seventeen members of the Go-As-You-Are club last evening, after which luncheon was served in a restaurant.

The regular meeting of the club will be held Thursday, April 7, at the home of Mrs. Charles Kidd in West Second street.

Aid Society Food Sale.

A food sale will be conducted in the D. M. Ogilvie store, Fifth street, tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock, under auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church. The sale will be in charge of Mesdames George T. McLaughlin and George Moore.

That "Kruschen" Feeling

Here's dear old Grandpa again—just brimming over with high spirits and sheer joy of living.

He gets up every morning feeling that he could do the staircase in one He greets the day with a smile, and his friends with the hearty handclasp of real good-fellowship.

He is welcome wherever he goes—no one can resist his cheery way of always looking on the bright side of things.

Do you feel like this?

If not, there's something wrong. You think it's your nature. It isn't—it's your health.

Just consider. You are probably getting too little fresh air and exercise—perhaps you spend too much time sitting over your daily tasks, and, as a result, you get run down with worry, overwork or errors of diet. Consequently, you need a corrective. You need Kruschen Salts.

Kruschen contains just the six salts, blended in just the right proportion, that are essential to keep you in continual good health. Under their tonic influence the liver and kidneys eliminate all waste matter. Your whole body is braced and revived.

The dose is only two small tablets which dissolve instantly in your morning cup of coffee or tea—you can't taste it, you'll never know it's in your morning cup. Take it in hot water if you want too—good health for a trifle a day.

60 Tablets—60 Cents, at all druggists.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does It

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must, of necessity, obtain these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. Normally, your system should extract these vital salts from your food—meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, milk, eggs, and so on; but when, owing to impaired digestion, errors of diet, overwork and worry, anxiety, sendentary occupation and many other causes, your system does not extract from your food the correct proportions of these essential life-giving salts, then you suffer from depression, headaches, constipation or disordered liver.

Kruschen Salts should be your safeguard. Besides cleansing the body of impurities, gently, surely and painlessly, they possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which every body is composed.

150 AMERICANS AND OTHERS EVACUATING NANKING

NAVAL FORCES AWAIT ACTION OF CANTONESE

LEADER TO ACT

Fate of Captives is Unknown, Pekin Reports.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A threat by Admiral H. H. Hough to bombard Nanking apparently compelled the Chinese commanders in the city to adopt a more conciliatory policy today toward Americans and other foreigners, and they are now evacuating the city under the protecting guns of the warships.

This was disclosed in a message from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, received at the navy department at 11 a. m.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(10.40 P. M.)—The powers have won their demands from the Cantonese and 150 Americans and an unknown number of British and Japanese have been evacuated from Nanking, according to official advices to the American naval headquarters here tonight.

The evacuation of Americans in all Cantonese controlled centers, ordered last night by the America legation, was in progress today according to reports receive here.

The legation's evacuation order affects 500 Americans in Canton, 70 in Swatow, one hundred and four in Foochow, 150 in Amoy and 16 in Chanoha.

The situation in Hankow is reporting as becoming more acute.

PEKIN, March 25.—Rear Admiral Hough today advised the United States legation by wireless that the British, Japanese and American naval commanders at Nanking had decided to refrain from drastic action to effect the release of 150 Americans detained by the Chinese pending the arrival of Gen. Chang Kai-Shek, commander of the Cantonese army.

The original plan, following the sending of an ultimatum, was to shell the Cantonese military headquarters at Nanking and release by force the Americans. At 9 o'clock this morning, the hour set for the expiration of the ultimatum, the Americans were still in Nanking and had not been delivered up to the foreign naval forces.

An earlier radiogram from Nanking, timed 4 a. m., said that all efforts to get the Americans from the city had been unsuccessful. At that time their fate was unknown.

Gen. Chang Kai-Shek sent word that he would arrive in Nanking tomorrow to protect all foreigners.

Missionaries in Nanking.

American Minster MacMurray stated that the Nanking outrage took place despite every effort of the United States consul to get in communication with responsible leaders of the Cantonese forces to obtain protection for foreign lives and property.

In addition to missionaries, the Americans at Nanking included employes of the Standard Oil company, American tobacco firms and attaches of the American university.

Believing that the Cantonese are either unable or unwilling to protect Americans, Minister MacMurray has ordered complete exacuation of Americans from the consular districts of Shanghai, Nanking, Chunking, Changshau, Swatow, Amoy, Foochow and Canton, but not from points outside control of the Cantonese armed forces.

RUSSIAN enthusiasts trying spread equality of the sexes in the east find that you cannot change the Asiatic mind overnight. On "Woman's Day" the Asiatic women, obeying Bolshevik orders, appeared without veils on their faces and nets on their hair.

Three women that appeared thus near Tashkent were killed by Mohammedan zealots.

The 15-year-old daughter of a Bolshevik official, was tied to a stake on the banks of a river by orders of the Ichan, a Mohammedian priest, who blessed the crowd as it threw stones and broken pieces of brick at the helpless girl.

The 155 American men, women and children who were detained in Nanking were still held by the Chinese, according to word received during the morning.

A Japanese warship had landed a force of 30 men at Nanking early in the day to investigate the shore situation and found that the Japanese consulate had been looted, but that virtually all the Japanese nationals had evacuated the city.

Gen. Butler Arrives.

There were heavy casualties among the Chinese during the firing at Nanking and while the American and British warships were bombarding to prevent the Cantonese from storming Socony hill where the foreigners had taken refuge.

Gen. Smedley Butler, who has been appointed commander of all the United States marines in the zone of hostilities, arrived on the liner President Pierce. He immediately went on board the armored cruiser Pittsburgh and conferred at length with Admiral Williams, commander of the United States naval forces in Chinese waters. Afterwards Gen. Butler visited marine headquarters prior to visiting general headquarters with Gen. Duncan.

The Chinese batteries opened fire and the Preston returned the fire immediately.

Reports to the legation here are indefinite but it is understood that the action occurred while American refugees were being removed from Chinkiang.

Nationalist Attack Expected.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—The British defense forces were on the alert tonight, when reports were received just before midnight that Nationalist attacks against the international settlement were anticipated at dawn.

The first and second line of defenses were ordered fully manned and the curfew restrictions were drastically enforced.

MANILA, P. I., March 25.—Intensifying the American naval concentration in China, four more destroyers sailed from here today. Three destroyers, the Peary, Ford and Pittsburgh, are already enroute to Shanghai.

The destroyers sailing today and their destination are the Parrott for Foochow, the Bulmer for Amoy the Edsall for Swatow and the MacLeish for Shanghai.

The destroyers were ordered to pick up American refugees if conditions in China become too hazardous.

Cabinet Defines Chinese Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Unlimited backing for Admirals Williams and Hough, who are on the spot in China, and strict accountability from the Chinese nationalist government for the killing of Americans and destruction of their property.

This was written as the administration's policy in today's cabinet meeting, which devoted nearly two hours to consideration of the critical situation prevailing at Shanghai and Nanking.

The two American admirals have been given the widest discretion possible, and they will be backed to the limit, members of the cabinet said after the meeting. At the same time, it was made clear at the state department that the Cantonese will be held strictly to account for the action of their nationals.

There was not attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 25.—Under the leadership of U. S. Steel and General Motors, the industrial stocks continued their rally in early trading today. Efforts of the bearish professionals to turn the list downward at the opening were frustrated by the aggressive tactics of the bulls, aided by good investment buying and a favorable reserve bank report. Call money renewals were posted at 4 per cent.

In the absence of new developments in business and trade, technical conditions within the market itself were the guiding factors in shaping the course of prices in this period. Heavy short selling in the first four sessions of the week has increased the short interest considerably. When the bears found that prices were again on the advance they hurriedly covered up a good portion of these short lines.

Strength of United States Steel common, both the old and the prospective new stock, was one of the most important incidents of this period the stock was taken in good volume around the record high price of 165. Selling above 177, General Motors showed a recovery of about 6 points from the low of the week, while New York Central, above 144, made the best showing for the railroad group.

Oil stocks were steady, with Lago Petroleum carrying its advance to 27¾, having broken away from the three-to-one ratio of Pan-American Petroleum B, into which a large portion of the stock has been converted. Houston Oil returned to the active list, with a strong move to above 99. Commodity markets were unsteady, with grain and cotton slightly higher, sugar unchanged and oil fractionally lower for refined grades. Foreign exchanges were steady in the face of increasing complications in China and the Balkans.

U .S. Flyers Go to Venezuela.

BALBOA, March 25.—The American army good will plane San Antonio, carrying Lieutenants Whitehead and Weddington, hopped off from France field here this morning at 7:55 o'clock for Venezuela, where the belated fliers will rejoin Marjor Dargue, commander of the flight, and his party

Wounded Consul Was Educated at Wooster College

WASHINGTON, March 25.—John C. Davis, American consul at Nanking, reported to have been seriously wounded in the outbreaks there yesterday, has been in the foreign service for 17 years.

He was born in China, of American parents, March 5, 1882. He attended schools in the United States including Wooster college in Ohio, and later returned to China, where he acted as private tutor and instructor in various American schools there.

He was appointed deputy consul-general at Shanghai April 14, 1910. Since then he has held consular posts at Canton, Chefoo, Antung, and Nanking, where he has been since May, 1919.

ANOTHER CLASH AT SHANGHAI

Chinese Marines Attempt to Disarm 200 Guerillas.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—While foreign warships bombard Nanking, the situation in Shanghai has again become tense with brisk fighting in progress.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a company of Chinese marines, who have joined the Nationalists, attempted to disarm 200 guerillas in the vicinity of the arsenal and precipitated a pitched battle in which four guerillas, seven marines and one civilian were killed. The marines after an hour of fighting succeeded in disarming the guerillas and arrested 60 of them.

Two Guerillas Executed.

Guerillas today looted a British-owned cotton mill on the Chinese side of Soochow creek, carrying off $3,000 and wrecking furniture and office fixtures.

At 3:30 this afternoon disorders broke forth again in the troubled Chapei district, when guerillas, who had avoided being disarmed, began looting and plundering, sacking the Holy Family school and numerous Chinese and foreign residences and stores.

The Cantonese authorities have announced drastic punishment for those found guilty of disorders and as an example a band of guerillas were rounded up and two immediately executed by a firing squad.

The labor situation was better today when 100,000 strikers resumed work, including a number of street car workers, one-fifth of the street cars are now in operation. Postmen have not resumed work.

Second Defense Lines.

Conditions are quieter in the international settlement with foreign cafes and cabarets announcing daylight attractions and early dinners, which have been made necessary by a 10 o'clock curfew. Residents are not allowed on the streets after 10 o'clock and wholesale arrests of Chinese are planned if the curfew is disobeyed.

Second defense lines have been raised throughout the international settlement which is now a maze of barriers with barricades at practically every corner and patrols on duty everywhere.

Early tonight the Coldstream Guards and the Bedfords, assisted by Chinese police, occupied two police stations in the Chinese city, ejecting and disarming guerillas and announcing their intention of holding the stations until the proper authorities are ready to take them over.

Many Americans and other foreigners have signed a petition of thanks, addressed to the British government, for the measures of protection taken to defend Shanghai. This address declares that the British defenders probably prevented the complete foreign evacuation of Shanghai.

The Japanese are sending 12,000 additional troops to Shanghai.

LONDON, March 25.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that firing has broken out again and that three persons have been killed by snipers in the French concession.

Sprig Wins Grand National Classic In Steeplechases

Bovill III, owned by G. W. Pennington, finished second and Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford, of New York, finished third.

A football coach says the game is being made too complicated for the student mind. And here we thought the athletes made the best grades.—Defiance Crescent-News.

U. S. DESTROYER SHELLS FORT IN CHINKIANG

American Guns Answer Chinese Battery Attack.

FIRE BROADSIDES

Action Occurs While Refugees are Being Removed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—American guns were again in action in China today.

Cantonese in charge of the forts above and below Chinkiang opened fire on the American destroyer William B. Preston, acting as escort for refugee ships, and the Preston returned the fire from her four-inch battery, according to a dispatch to the navy from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

There were no American casualties. The message did not state the damage inflicted on the Chinese forts by the Preston's guns.

Admiral Williams reported the situation at Chinkiang as serious.

All Americans are preparing to leave Chingiang, Admiral Williams reported, as the Chinese are looting foreign property and firing into concessions. The foreigners have taken refuge in the concessions, the Americans at the Standard Oil property, and the British at the Asiatic Petroleum company's holdings.

Eighty-seven women and 52 children were sent from Nanking today to Shanghai aboard the steamers Kingwo and Wenchow, Williams reported. It was while escorting these vessels that the destroyer Preston was fired upon.

Attempted Rescue.

"The attempted rescue of foreigners within Nanking by joint American and British negotiations with local Chinese is under way," Williams' message said.

"No communication has been established with foreigners in the city up to 11 a. m. The entire Standard Oil staff there safe. Only one known dead, Dr. Williams, of Nanking university. British consul wounded and still in city. One British sailor on Emerald killed by fire of snipers. Japanese landed 50 men covered by three destroyers."

This message was dated March 25, at 4:43 p. m., China time.

Admiral Williams reported he had sent this message to Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, commander of the Yangtse patrol force on board the U. S. S. Isabel at Nanking:

"American British and Japanese commanders-in-chief agree that if possible further drastic action should be avoided until Gen. Chian Kai-Shek has been given an opportunity to fulfill his guarantee to provide adequate protection to all foreigners.

Williams Advises Attack.

Following this message from Williams to Hough, the latter answered:

"I do not believe the details of the situation are completely understood by the commander-in-chief. Unless the situation changes I will later shell salient points."

Hough expressed doubt that Chian Ki-Shek could guarantee the safety of the remaining foreigners. This message was dated at 4:30 p. m., March 25.

Chief "Under Cover" Man Resign Job; Drew Large Salary

WASHINGTON, March 25. — A. Bruce Bielaski, the government's chief "under cover" agent in New York, announced today after a conference with L. C. Andrews, dry chief, that he would resign his position.

Wets in congress charged Bielaski was paid $25,000 a year by the government, and assisted to operate government speakeasies to entrap dry law violators.

Jock and Bobby Setting Pace in Atlanta Tourney

EAST LAKE COUNTRY CLUB, ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Jock Hutchinsen and Bobby Cruickshank started off in the second qualifying round of the $12,000 southern open tournament with a pair of birdie 3's on No. 1 this morning. Al Espinosa, playing with them, took a par 4.

RIO JANEIRO, March 25.—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian aviator making a flight over four continents, hopped off from Belem today for Para Marimbo.

"If Wrong, Take It Back; If Right, Stand," Ford Said

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 25.—"If you are wrong, take it back, if you are right, stand by it." This was the reply of Henry Ford, America's first billionaire, to the demand of Aaron Sapiro for a retraction of the attacks upon him in the Dearborn Independent, it was revealed today at the Ford-Sapiro million-dollar libel suit. William J. Cameron, editor of the Ford publication, testified before a jury in federal court here, that the auto king dismissed with a wave of his hand Sapiro's complaint that the Independent's articles were libels. He declared Ford had told him to "take it back" if wrong but to "stand by it" if correct.

This testimony came after Cameron told how he edited the page of the Dearborn Independent devoted exclusively to Henry Ford. The auto king, the witness said, had "nothing to do" with the page.

NORTH CAROLINA WOMEN AID STATE BY COMBINING TO WEAR COTTON DRESSES

RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina clubwomen are combining in an effort to restore cotton to its throne. A committee has been appointed to study the industry with a view toward alleviating the present depression.

Plans are under way to wage a campaign throughout the state to encourage the wearing of cotton dress. One day of the Federation of Club Women's convention in Durham this year will be known as "cotton day."

Every delegate at the convention will be expected to wear a cotton dress, according to present plans. Prizes will be awarded in bed spread, towel and hose contests.

Ask the Chef— He Knows the Secret

MANY chefs—masters of the art of baking—prefer Made-Rite Flour because it assures excellent results every day—with the least possible attention. This flour of flavor carries its delicate, appealing taste to the finished breads and pastries. Made-Rite Flour possesses these wanted qualities because only carefully selected hard winter wheat is used in the milling.

Just as Made-Rite Flour unfailingly serves the chef, so does it serve the housewife. For three generations it has given thorough satisfaction in homes throughout the nation. Try it!

TAKE CARE OF STORAGE AND CLEANING NOW.

"Present day methods have made a great difference in old furs. Garments which apparently are ready for the discard can be remodeled, cleaned and put in condition that not only makes them presentable but in a condition to wear for some time and give many additional years of service.

"The wear of a fur garment depends greatly upon the care taken of it. Improper cleaning methods and summer storage often result in considerable more deterioration than several seasons of hard usage. The use of grease and oil cutting agents in cleaning furs extracts the valuable and essential oils from the hides and causes the fur to wilt and fall out.

Storage is an important proposition. Not only should the garment be protected from moths and dirt but should be kept in a cold temperature to prevent deterioration. We have a contract with a concern in Buffalo, one of the largest fur storage concerns in the United States, whereby a garment is sent to Buffalo and kept in a freezing temperature all during the storage period. The garment is insured against loss or damage of any kind, can be returned to the owner within three days, and is returned cleaned and made to look more like new than the average fur owner realizes is possible."

MARY BRIAN IN COMEDY HIT

Marking a high spot in what is accepted as a "comedy year," "Her Father Said No" opened to an enthusiastic and appreciative audience yesterday at the Ceramic theatre. Brimming with clever and uproadious comedy scenes, the picture is a surefire hit, as was proved by its reception here, and is in many respect one of the best feature "fun-films" yet brought out.

The story itself is simple, but with abundant opportunity for deliciously humorous situations, which come with sufficient frequency to keep the house in a continual gurgle of laughter. Danny Martin, a rising young prize-fighter, falls in love with the girl whose father is violently opposed to pugilists. How the young man strives to overcome the parental objections, and eventually marries the girl under the very nose of her unsuspecting sire, forms the basis of the tale, along with a delightful background of life at a millionaire health resort, where the tired business men are pounded and dieted into health.

Mary Brian, the little screen star who made such a success in "Peter Pan," "Beau Geste," "Behind the Front" and "The Enchanted Hill," has the leading feminine role, and makes a thoroughly adorable heroine. Comedy honors go to Al Cooke and Kit Guard, the famous two-reel fun-providers who have in this picture an opportunity to unlimber their full battery of mirth-provoking tricks. Danny O'Shea, little Frankie Darro, John Steppling, Gene Strong and Betty Caldwell make up an admirable supporting cast. Two well-known comedy writers are responsible for the story, Al Boasberg having adapted the screen play from H. C. Witwer's magazine hit, "Charlotte's Ruse." Jack McKeown made an excellent job of the direction.

NICK SCACCUTO FIGHT GOES TO APPEALS COURT

NOW IN PRISON

Accused Man Was Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.

Nick Scaccuto, Wellsville, serving a life term for the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on May 17, last, today asked the appellate court for a new trial.

A brief was filed, alleging that the common pleas court failed to charge the jury upon the correct law of conspiracy, and also claiming that the court "erred in failing to charge upon the weight of the evidence and upon circumstantial evidence."

The brief was brought into the court by Attorney Joseph V. Zottarelli, of Cleveland, in behalf of the plaintiff in error. Other counsel for the plaintiff in error appearing in the brief are James E. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and George T. Farrell and Billingsley and Moore, of Lisbon.

The brief follows the bill of exceptions filed in the court of appeals.

Objection is also noted to a part of the closing argument of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes. Attorney Farrell at the time of the argument, protested that it went "outside the evidence."

BLAZE CAUSES $1,500 DAMAGE

Fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage amounting to $1,500 to the residence of W. E. Jones, Twelfth street, between Center and Commerce streets, at 2 o'clock this morning.

Although the flames spread rapidly after the alarm was sounded, firemen kept the blaze confined largely to the first floor. The home is a two-story structure.

Jones was the only inmate at the time. His wife, it is said, is a patient in a hospital in Beaver Falls.

KOUNTZ AVENUE CLASS SERVICES

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, will conduct services in the Kountz avenue Sunday school Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Beginning Monday evening, meetings will be held during the week, beginning each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

MISSIONARIES PLAN VISIT

Christian Church Workers to be Here in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are expected to arrive here the first of May.

In a letter received by Rev. and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Davis announced they had sailed from Bombay, India, on March 12, for Liverpool, England. The trip, it is expected, will take a month, with brief stops at Port Said and Marseilles.

According to present plans, Mr. and Mrs. Davis expect to leave England on April 16 for the United States and after a brief visit with relatives in Massachusetts, will come to Wellsville.

Mr. Davis has been an Indian missionary for 25 years. At present he is receiving the full support of the local Christian church. His trip to America marks the beginning of a year's furlough. During this time he will make his headquarters with Rev. and Mrs. Lee.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

Services will be held in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sermon-theme for the morning, "The Grace of Living." Sunday school at 10:00 a. m.

Young People's society at 7:00. Subject: "What Does a Missionary Do?" Leaders, Nan Falconer and Frances Mick.

The church year closes on March 31st. The trustees request that all pledges for the church improvement fund, benevolent work and church support be paid on or before next Sunday. The offering of the morning will be devoted to benevolent work.

Preaching in the Long's Run Presbyterian church next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Sermon-theme: "The Grace of Giving." The offering of the day will be devoted to benevolent work. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.

'MUSKIE' CAGE SQUADS HERE

Conference Champs Entered in Tri-State Tourney.

Wellsville, during the week-end, will entertain two Muskingum college basketball teams that will be entered in the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament tonight and tomorrow in East Liverpool.

The teams are the Stag club and the Sphinx club, consisting of members of the Muskingum Ohio conference championship squad.

On the Sphinx club will be found Ted Vernia, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Vernia, of Broadway, Bob Taylor, one of the greatest centers in the Ohio conference, Bill Harrop, M. Garner, R. J. "Brigham" Young, Montgomery, Calhoun and Wilson.

Clifford "Red" Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr, of Broadway, heads the Stag club squad that will make a strong bid for tourney honors. Orr was one of the leading forwards of the conference during the past year and a big factor in Muskingum's dash to the title.

The Wellsville Independents, consisting of high school players will open the tourney play tonight with the East Liverpool Peacock five, the game being scheduled for 6 o'clock.

PENNSY FILES DEFENSE CLAIM

The Pennsylvania Railroad company, defendant in an action for $10,000 damages filed against it in this county by Herbert Keown, of 5510 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., for injuries sustained during the wreck of a Fort Wayne passenger train near Summitville last summer, has filed its answer to the petition of the plaintiff.

As a defense the defendant declares that the plaintiff previous to filing his petition in the courts in this county filed one in the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh, and that that case is still pending and undisposed of.

PERSONALS

Earl Culp, Clarence Scott and William Taylor were Pittsburgh visitors last night.

Mrs. Edward Householder, of Clark avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Plan Summer Program.

Summer athletic sports and activities were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Girls' Basketball club last evening at the home of Miss Mary Wright. Arrangements are being made for a meeting next month. Miss Clara Lewis presided at the piano and Miss Jane Price rendered several vocal selections. Luncheon was served.

Five bridegrooms, honored at a wedding breakfast held in a quarry at Kirkstall, England, recently, were toasted in steaming tea by the other guests.

COMPLETE PIANO RECITAL PROGRAM

Program for the piano recital to be given by pupils of Miss Jean Fogo Tuesday night in the First Methodist Episcopal church has been completed. Miss Ruth Leon Heddleston, of East Liverpool, dramatic reader, will be the assisting artist.

Additional features will be the two-piano number, Brahm's Hungarian dance No. 6, played by Misses Ruth Wilson, Melvine Nixon, Ruth Henthorne and Helen Vance. As a closing feature a group of 35 children will present a short two-act operetta, "Cinderella." An invitation is extended to the general public.

SALINEVILLE

A concert will be given at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening.

Rev. Jamison, of Muskingum, has been in Salineville for a few days in the interest of Muskingum college.

A basketball team from Muskingum college will play the league team of Salineville, at Addison hall, Friday evning at 7:30.

Mrs. H. B. Haverfield, Mrs. Helen Hill and Miss Violet Barcus attended the executive committee meteing of the Missionary society of the Steubenville Presbytery, of the United Presbyterian church, at the First Church, Wellsville, Wednesday. Dinner was served at the church.

The third of the series of talks on "Good Citizenship," being given at the Central school building, to the high school students, was delivered from the subject, "Vital Factors in Good Citizenship—Health and Morality" by the Rev. W. S. Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening. The speaker urged the care of health, "easy to lose it but hard to regain." The same he pointed out is true of a good name, "No Trouble to Lose It, But Almost Impossible to Get It Back When Once It is Lost." A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold" Rev. Ross S. Wilson will speak Wednesday, April 6th on "Independence and Initiative in the Citizen."

BIBLE STUDY CLUB TO MEET

Members of the Bible Study club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Berger, in Eighteenth street. Mrs. F. E. Vernia will be the leader. The lesson will be taken from Job, 29 to 36.

Hillcrest Club Supper.

Arrangements have been completed for the supper to be held by the Community club of Hillcrest tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall.

170 ATTEND RECEPTION FOR REV. F. H. MAGILL

Presbyterian Pastor to Leave City Next Week.

GOES TO NEWARK

Luncheon, Program are Features of Farewell Fete.

Approximately 170 members of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church attended the farewell reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Magill last night in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. Magill, pastor, will deliver his final sermon Sunday morning and evening. Accompanied by his family he will leave early in the week for Newark where he will take charge of the Presbyterian church pastorate.

Last night's reception was held under auspices of Circle No. 3, with Mrs. Harry Myers and Mrs. John Deidrick as chairman. Their aides included Mesdames Fassett, Workman, Allen, Mortland, Haugh, Brannan, McQueen and Miss Otis Donaldson.

Luncheon was served in the dining room. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the appointments and decorations. A short program, following the luncheon, was opened with selections by the Sunday school orchestra.

A reading was given by Mrs. C. J. Vogel. Miss Mary Deidrick pleased with a cornet solo.

Several selections were rendered by a double male quartet, including R. T. Smith, James McQueen, W. R. MacDonald, H. H. Myers, C. J. Russell, E. L. Coburn, J. F. McQueen and W. J. Ferguson.

Mrs. J. M. King Hostess.

Mrs. Helen Arnold, of Ann Arbor, Mich., will be honor guest at a tea to be given this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. King, Main street.

WILL DELIVER LAST TALK HERE

Rev. William Grafton, of Follansbee, W. Va., who has been conducting services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, will probably hold his final meeting of the present series tonight.

His subject will be, "I Saw the Wicked Buried Which Have Come and Gone from the Place of the Holy."

Weigh the Feed, Too

The first step toward bigger dairy profits is the use of a high grade balanced ration like Tuxedo Dairy 24%. The second step, strict regularity in milking and feeding, and the third, feeding according to individual production.

If every cow gets the same amount of feed, low producers waste the feed and high producers are underfed. Weigh the milk. Balance the roughage and Concentrate. Weigh the feed. Use Tuxedo Dairy. Then every cow will produce to the limit of her capacity. We recommend Tuxedo Dairy to help you put your herd on a paying basis.

"My Friends and I Were Scared"

Effective Way Found to Break Up This Long-Standing Cold

"Last fall I caught a heavy cold that settled on my lungs. No medicine I used seemed to help it any. I began to lose weight, and I coughed a great deal. My friends and I were scared.

"One old neighbor brought me over a half bottle of World's Tonic. She said I needed strength to throw off the cold, and she called World's Tonic "bottled energy." More to please her than anything else, I took it as directed. That half bottle helped me wonderfully, and the next bottle cleared up the cough. After three bottles I began to gain weight, and all symptoms of the cold disappeared. I never knew a medicine so effective."

Mrs. T. Chance, Eleventh street, Wellsville.

Sensible in All Illnesses

World's Tonic is not a specific for colds, but it broke up that cold by the same thing it does for any illness. It cleared away the impurities in the blood, enabled this blood to kill off the germs, and supplied just what the system needed to gain strength. Because it is so effective in chronic catarrh, in this case it was equally effective in acute catarrh.

An illness hangs on because of weakness. Correct that weakness with World's Tonic, and your strength will help greatly to overcome the trouble. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and other good druggists. (222)

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS.

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy had been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, ad she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

DE BRISSAC, who makes a screen test of her. Hattie lives with her married sister,

ALICE and her baby daughter, Emily, and

the living room where mother and daughter slept in the folding davenport. Meekly she helped the hollow-eyed Alice get breakfast, and then contrived to slip out without seeing Gran'ma. A dogged task lay before her, but her resolve was high. She would prove to them, steady week after steady week, that she was a good girl. In time, doubtless, the little crisis would blow over. They'd see.

All the morning her thin arms moved with the swift precision of a machine. Mrs. Mullane gave her a smile at noon. But as the afternoon wore slowly away her resolution wavered. Thoughts of the magical evening at the studio kept creeping into her mind and refused to be downed. A legendry Armand de Brissac overshadowed her weaking spirit. Lucille came in at five, taking it as a matter of course that they would go up there. She received Hattie's timid protest in-

she must command the situation. And, as surely, she'd awaken Emily.

Alice knew that she ought to keep cool, not scold. If only she could! Gran'ma now had scolded about going out nights for years before the thing began. It had only just begun. Gran'ma believed firmly, like the old Puritans, in stern repression. She was afraid of life; fought it; had always fought it. Life, to her, was the merest grim schooling for a queerly concrete Heaven. Perhaps there was still something to be gained by standing, at critical moments, between Gran'ma and Hattie, by fending off that naggin.

"Keep quiet!" Alice admonished, determined to be calm. "Grand'ma's asleep. Go right to your room."

Demurely Hattie obeyed. She even smiled faintly. Seldom able to fathom the thoughts behind that immature face, Alice found this new cool complacency baffling.

Very softly she closed the door, and followed the girl.

CHAPTER FIVE.

Gran'ma had never lost a battle Little was now left to her embittered spirit save the habit of fighting on. She was implacable. The sort of life she could understand was flouted every day, every hour, by the very air she breathed in Elizabeth and New York. She believed, or honestly thought she believed, in every literal word of the St. James Bible. As a mere matter of self-respect she was savagely intolerant. There were days, even weeks, when it seemed impossible to do anything that would please her. Yet she even believed herself just. She even believed herself kind. Never, for a moment, during the unrelenting grind of the year, had she lost faith in herself. Never even had she slighted, however limited the means at her hand, her personal appearance; never relaxed, never slumped, never so much as lounged comfortably in a chair. Even when ill it was distasteful to her to eat abed. And it was characteristic now that in her extreme perturbation over Hattie's delinquency, she had not neglected to draw the lace cap over her bald spot. She never permitted any one to see that.... Alice and Hattie did at times think gently enough and even speak of her hard life. They both wanted to be kind to her. But she didn't know how to meet them half way. She had always ruled, and had to rule now.

Hattie stood, wistfully pale, in the doorway. If only Gran'ma would let her alone just now and give her that chance to show what a good girl she could be! On the spot she formed a resolve not to miss another church service, not even miss Sunday school.

"Where have you been?" The voice was high, stern, cold.

Hattie's lip quivered. She must be patient and kind. She even tried to phrase a few quiet words.

But then her nerves gave way. Crying out—"Oh, why do you go at me like this? I haven't done anything wrong! I haven't! I haven't! It isn't a boy! It isn't anything! I never go out and have fun with the other girls!—" She rushed down the hall and locked herself in her own tiny bedroom beyond the kitchenette and flung herself on the bed there. Her only window gave onto a narrow and dark court.

Later she heard Emily crying up in creduously, saying shortly—"Getting temperamental already, are we?" And so it came about that Hattie, almost as if she had known all along that it was inevitable, went again. She seemed merely a shy little girl with a nervous smile that came and went rather meaninglessly and with excitement in her eyes. The matter of fact Lucille had no means of knowing that the girl felt herself to be engulfed in an irresistible, thrilling moral disaster.

For an hour Alice Hand had stood by the push button, leaning drowsily against the wall, yawning, her thin brows contracted in a nervous frown. She tiptoed now to the door of the kitchenette for a glance at the nickel-plated alarm clock there. It was ten minutes to eleven. She lighted the gas heater and hurriedly made some coffee, then returned to her vigil. She must keep awake. Gran'ma exhausted by the excitement of the preceding night and by a second evening of nervous wrangling had dropped off to sleep. The door buzzer might not or might awaken her, though probably it would. She didn't often sleep soundly.

Twenty minutes past eleven. Half past. Her own nerves were near a break. She was working on them all of every day in the store; steadily, she knew, consuming them. For a year she had dreaded this inevitable crisis in Hattie's young life. She had brooded bitterly on the necessity of living in town. The city was evil, and crassly triumphant. It devoured girls She knew about that. If only they could have afforded to live in a suburb and give Hattie something of an education; keep her where she'd come to know a better sort of people. All this subway and shop business was bound to wear her down. Bound to. As a family they weren't getting anywhere, were just gradually wearing out. And when she herself cracked, they'd all go. Money that was it. Money enough to put Gran'ma some place where she'd be decently cared for. You couldn't care for her, pet her, fuss over her, soften her sharp angles, and, besides, cook the morning and evening meal and work all day in the store. You couldn't.

Twenty-five minutes to twelve. The child might not come home at all. A down-town preacher had said in the papers that sixty-five thousand girls had disappeared during 1926. Why might not Hattie be one of those to go in 1927? Alice lost all control of her thoughts at this point, had to let them dwell on fantastically horrible details of wrecked young lives—the sort of details you read nearly every day in the papers. This had been a growing nervous tendency of late.

The buzzer sounded. Instantly she pressed the button, then stepped out on the landing and threw the door nearly to behind her. Gran'ma didn't call. Perhaps it hadn't awakened her. If she did awake, she'd surely call out in that harsh voice. She'd feel that

Picked To Clash For Tri-State Tourney Title Here Saturday

The Mt. Union Sigma Nus, led by the wonderful "Lefty" Miller, and the Muskingum Sphinx squad, directed by Bob Taylor, peer of Ohio conference centers, today reigned as favorites to battle in the final game of the second annual Tri-State basketball tournament which gets under way tonight at 6 o'clock at the high school gymnasium.

The Sigma Nus and the Sphinx club are favorites chiefly because of two great centers, whose work, barring the unforseen, probably will be outstanding throughout the tournament.

But to get into the championship tilt the Mounts and the Muskies must fight their way through four other college squads including stars from Western Reserve, Wooster, Bethany and Muskingum, the latter being the Stag club, led by Clifford "Red" Orr, of Wellsville, star forward. And in addition to these, the finalists must overcome the desperate resistance that is certain to come from Youngstown and Canton city championship teams.

Rex McConnell's Roger Jewelers enter the tournament as Canton's city champs, winning that honor this week. For the second consecutive year, in a sensational battle with the Crider Milks.

The Youngstown Eagles, who are paired off with the East Liverpool Keystones in the fourth contest on tonight's schedule here, Wednesday night grabbed off the Class A championship of the Steel City in a five-minute overtime game with the Truscon Diamonds, led by Big Tony Paulsey, former South High center.

The Canton Roger Jewelers will not be permitted to play Stahler, Burris and Van Allman, who indulged in out-and-out professional basketball this winter, but the loss of these men will be offset to a great extent by the addition of Center Robinson, Kenyon college star.

Six great college aggregations—The Sphinx and Stag of Muskingum, Sigma Nus of Mt. Union, Sigma Nus of Bethany, Wooster and the Phi Gamma Deltas of Western Reserve, in addition to Youngstown and Canton city championship squads, as well as numerous other topnotch outfits are certain to make the tourney an unqualified success.

The lid will be pried off tonight at 6 o'clock when Allison's Peacocks clash with the Wellsville Independents, composed largely of Wellsville high school stars.

PRIZE LIST FOR TRI-STATE MEET

Here is the prize list for Tri-State tourney winners:

High point man — Silver loving cup.

Most valuable man—Silver loving cup.

Best foul shooter—Silver loving cup.

Team making best appearance — Ten bronze medals, engraved.

YANKEE NAGS TO RUN AT AINTREE

AINTREE RACE COURSE, LIVERPOOL, England, March 25.—With a drenching rain making the going very heavy, thirty-eight horses—a record field—were ready to go to the post in the grand national this afternoon.

Eight American horses will attempt to win honors of this, the world's greatest steeplechase.

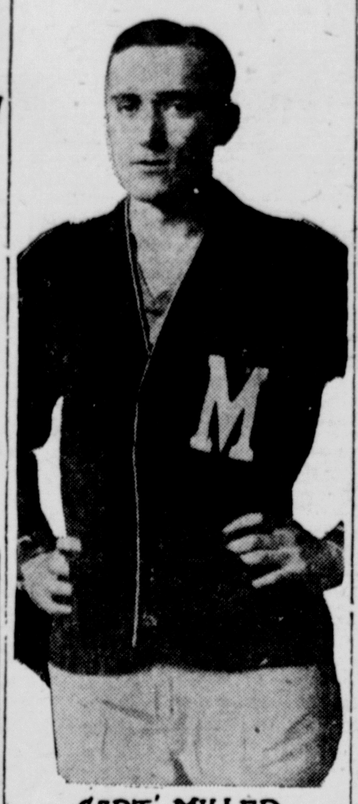
Stephen Sanford's Bright's Boy and Thrown In were second second favorites at 12 to 1.

LEFTY TO PLAY WITH MOUNT FIVE



CAPT. MILLER -C-

Miller will play center for the Mt. Union Sigma Nus in the Tri-State tourney here tonight and tomorrow. He has been playing this season with the Akron Goodyears.

Training Camps

Tribe Beats Cards.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 25.—Hard practice today and a Regular-Yanigan game Saturday is the program mapped out for the Indians by Manager Jack McCallister. The tribe was more confident today following the 6 to 1 victory over the world champion St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. McCallister was well pleased with the pitching of Karr and Levsen. Big George Uhle is also rounding into shape rapidly, and is expected to be ready to pitch the opening game of the season in Cleveland April 12.

Robins Out of Slump.

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., March 25.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson's nephews apparently have emerged from their batting slump. In defeating the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 5, the Robins made 13 hits.

Sox Take Series.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, March 25.—Ray Schalk, White Sox pilot, was elated today over the showing made by his boys in their four-game series against the Wichita Falls "Spudders" of the Texas league. Sox won the final game yesterday, 15 to 5, giving them the series three to one.

First Round Card of District Cage Tourney Tonight

East Liverpool Peacocks vs. Wellsville Independents.

E. L. Brian Clothiers vs New Cumberland Ramblers.

Niles Jennings Billiards vs Newell Laughlin Acmes.

E. L. Keystones vs Youngstown Eagles.

Canfield Olympics vs Mt. Union Sigma Nus.

Bethany Sigma Nus vs Struthers Transfers.

Boardman Merrimakers vs Bethany A. C.

E. L. Mystery Five vs Alliance Atlas Billiards.

The winners of the Jennings Billiards-Laughlin Acmes will clash with the winner of the Keystones—Eagles in the ninth game and the winner of the Canfield Olympics-Mt. Union Sigma Nus will tangle with the winners of the Bethany Sigma Nus-Struthers Transfers. These will be secod round games.

Saturday morning schedule—begins 8 o'clock.

Pittsburgh Hoyles vs Campbell Merchants.

Wilmearding Scholastics vs Beaver Falls Art Tiles.

New Concord Sphinx club vs Pittsburgh Knickerbockers.

The complete playing time schedule follows:

Tonight—6 o'clock; Saturday morning—8 o'clock; Saturday afternoon—1 o'clock; Saturday night semi-finals and final—7:30 o'clock.

Trophies will be awarded after the final game Saturday night. Halves will be "sandwiched" in order to allow continuous play and do away with the loss of time.

MID-WEST GIRLS TEAMS IN FINALS

WICHITA, Kansas, March 25.—The national high school girls' basketball tournament had narrowed down to two mid-western states today. Four teams representing Oklahoma and Kansas will play the semi-finals.

The east's last hope, Huntington, W. Va., went down last night before the strong Lawton, Okla., five. The score was 33 to 19.

Kansas will be represented by teams from Caldwell and Cockerill.

EVEN MONEY TO 7-5 ON TAYLOR

CHICAGO, March 25.—Bets ranging from even money to 7 to 5 on the champion were being laid today on Bud Taylor, bantamweight title holder, who meets, Tony Canzoneri, New York, in ten rounds Saturday night.

Johnny Vacca of Boston, who holds two recent decisions over Fidel La Barba, flyweight champ, will meet Archie Bell of Brooklyn in one of the eight round preliminaries.

JUNIOR TEAMS CLASH AT 'Y'

Buckeyes, Five Horsemen and Hill Tops Winners.

Buckeyes, 83; West End Rinkeydinks, 11.

Five Horsemen, 49; Wellsville Buccaneers, 15.

Hill Tops, 23; McKinley Rinkeydinks, 22.

These are the results of the Y-Junior basketball tournament clashes at the 'Y' last night. The Buckeyes slaughtered the West End Rinkeydinks, 83 to 11, the Five Horsemen set too fast a pace for the Wellsville Buccaneers, winning 49 to 15, while the Hill Tops had a hard time defeating the McKinley Rinkeydinks, 23 to 22.

The Buckeyes-West End Rinkeydinks combat was nothing but a scoring spree for the Buckeyes, the West End passers offering very little opposition. All the Buckeyes performed in their usual clever manner and are figured in the scoring, Witherow, McConville and Feit being the scoring stars. McCoy, Watkins and Wines were the best performers for the West End five.

The Five Horsemen were a little too big and fast for the Wellsville Buccaneers and a plucky, but outclassed Wellsville aggregation went down to defeat. Schneidmiller, Nease, Cooper and Irwin were the main factors in the Horsemen victory, Schneidmiller registering ten buckets. Fiber, Shay and Bonacci played well for the Buccaneers.

The Hill Tops-McKinley Rinkeydinks battle was the most exciting and interesting of the three games, the Hill Tops coming through with a victory in the last minute of play, Burbick shooting in the winning field goal. The game was close all the way and with the McKinley passers leading, 22 to 21, and the minute to go, Burbick shot in his deciding field goal. Burbick, Anderson and Blazer played the leading roles in the Hill Tops' triumph while Reese, Kittridge and Pennebaker put up the best brand of basketball for the McKinley five.

Buckeyes		W. E. Rinkeydinks

Fight Results

AT GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—Jimmy Ireland, Baltimore, won from Kid Rash, New York, 10 rounds.

AT NEW YORK — Johnny Filucci, New York, defeated Eddie Elkins, New York, 6 rounds.

STATE REVISES GAME LAW LIMIT

COLUMBUS, O., March 24.—The lower house today adopted the Ott bill, 87-24, changing the open season of fur bearing animals from Nov. 1 to March 1, to November 15 to March 15, effective in Cuyahoga, Summit, Stark, Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull, Geauga and Portage counties.

Braves Trim Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—In a wild and wooly game featured by the pitching of Frank Wilson, the Boston Braves downed the Yankees, 10 to 9. Wilson, who is a National league umpire, pitched 19 players out of the game. He is the umpire who recently chased Ty Cobb off the field and also banished 15 other Mackmen.

MORRIS TOPS CUE RIVALS

Prizes Awarded at Close of American Tourney.

With a record of 11 won and two lost, Creed Morris copped off first place money in the American pocket billiard tournament which closed last night.

The stars finished as follows:

	W.	L.
Creed Morris	11	2
Ed Reney	10	3
Frank Sainer	10	3
Harry Johnson	10	3
Bill Hanna	7	6

Morris was awarded $35, first place money, and Reney, Sainer and Johnson divided second, third and fourth place prizes of $20, $15 and $12, respectively.

Bill Osborne's high run of 32 was good for a special prize of $5.

BIG TEN TANK STARS IN MEET

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 25.—All teams in the Big Ten conference with the exception of Ohio State will participate in the Big Ten conference swimming meet which will be held at the University of Illinois today and tomorrow.

Minnesota and Michigan are expected to cop major honors this year, with Michigan having a little edge over the Gophers.

Michigan has gone through the present season without a defeat while the Gophers received their first wallop in two years when they were defeated by Michigan a month ago.

FIVE WAYS TO JUDGE CIGARS

In judging the quality of a cigar consider these five points: (1) Burn; (2) Aroma; (3) Taste or flavor; (4) Color; (5) Workmanship.

Get a San Felice at 5c and tell us your idea as to which of these five features is the chief reason for its amazing popularity. Cigar experts themselves are not agreed. Is it the smoothness, the fragrance, or that zesty mildness—of San Felice that is daily winning hosts of new friends? Without special inducement or heavy advertising the demand for San Felice has doubled and trebled. Perhaps it is the mild tasty cigar you are looking for. It costs only 5c to find out. NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Add $50 or $60 to the down payment on a Four —and get a Nash

Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance costs little, if any, more than 4-cylinder performance.

You can buy a Nash Light Six enclosed car for as little as $925 f. o. b. factory—an amazingly low price for a car like this.

For besides the exceptional smoothness of Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance, the Nash Light Six has every worth-while feature of modern motoring:

Full force-feed lubrication; Nash mechanical 4-wheel brakes, with front wheel brakes totally enclosed. Double-beam headlights; Automatic windshield cleaner; Rear-view mirror; Gasoline gauge on instrument board.

And, in closed car bodies, genuine hardwood frames with rounded rear roofs like the costliest custom cars.

You can buy this car for about the same price as one of the higher priced fours. At the most, you'll only need to add $50 or $60 to your first payment.

Antlers Face Tough Job In Second Game of Midland Series

Despite the fact that two first string stars probably will be out of the lineup, Bill Powell's Elks club tonight will try to make it two in a row over the Midland Collegians when the intercity cage rivals tangle in the second game of their series on the new Midland high school gymnasium.

In a rough and tumble exhibition here Wednesday night the Antlers finished ahead by a score of 32 to 25, but the game cost them the services of Center Ray Wilde who yesterday was hobbling around on crutches as a result of a sprained ankle.

An X-Ray examination of the injured foot was made yesterday and the result is not expected to show anything more than a severe sprain, which however, will be sufficient to keep the former Geneva star out of action tonight.

Coupled with this bads news in the announcement that Guard Smith Anderson has been called to Parkersburg, W. Va., on a business affair and won't possibly be able to perform tonight.

But in spite of these tough breaks, Coach Bill Powell is going to send his squad out on the floor with instructions to take the game and is confident that they'll either win or make it mighty close.

In all likelihood, Powell will shoot Dave Shupe in at center, with Nate Lippe and Carl Wilson on the forwards and "Chuck" McConville and Tom Pusey at the guards, and Joe Canno and Ken Clark ready for action at any time. This is not a bad looking lineup by any means.

The new Midland high school gymnasium is capable of seating approximately 700 persons and, in the event of a capacity house, a couple hundred more can be taken care of in sections of the gymnasium other than the customary seats.

There are no obstructions in front of the seats and as a result the entire crowd, from any angle, can get a clear view of proceedings. It is expected that several hundred local fans will take in the contest. The Midland gym is located between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The Crucible Sparks and the Homestead All Stars will play in the preliminary, beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

The Sports Hall of Fame

Nominating WELKER COCHRAN.

BECAUSE he's the new 18.2 balk line billiard king.

Because he holds the title as a result of a brilliant series of victories over the leading cue stars of the game.

Because he is one of the game's great stylists. His perfect follow through stroke typifies his form.

Yanks Look To Ruth and Rookie Hurlers

While Babe Ruth is the barometer for the Yankees' chances in a given pennant race Manager Huggins is aware that his success in molding together a fair pitching staff will increase the possibilities of Ruth slugging the Yanks to victory this year. And from the five youngsters above Huggins hopes to mold at least two regulars.

The Sports Hall of Fame

WILL two pitchers whom Dan Howley developed at Toronto for the Tigers and Ty Cobb not only help give George Moriarty a pennant his first year as a big league boss but help check Howley's Browns and their hopes.

It's within the range of possibilities. The two pitchers are Owen Carroll and Jess Doyle.

Carroll won 21 games and lost 8 with Howley's championship Toronto team last season. Which should do as a formal introduction provided you hadn't heard much of the former Holy Cross pitching star.

Doyle, with the same club, won 15 games and lost 7—an average of better than .667.

Both pitchers were grabbed up by the Detroit Tigers a couple of years ago and turned over to Howley to develop. Ty Cobb, searching vainly for pitchers, counted on Howley's aid and the natural ability of the pitchers themselves to give him two dependable, if not eventually brilliant, pitchers. He could not wait, however, for his hopes to bear fruit.

Now Moriarty hopes to succeed where Cobb failed in developing a pitching staff that will give the slugging attack of the team some support. And two of the men on whom he is counting are Carroll and Doyle.

Meanwhile Howley labors diligently to shape some sort of a pitching staff out of good "paper" material which has never given a consistent performance.

And everytime he leads his St. Louis cohorts into Detroit he will probably have the interesting experience of trying to beat the pitchers he propped. How good he builded as coach of these hurlers will be ascertained later.

These hurtlers and two others from the new blood of Moriarty's staff. The others are Donald Hankins, purchased from Newark, and Owens, drafted from San Antonio.

Hankins won 16 and lost 7 games for Newark in the International League last year and is considered one of the outstanding minor league prospects.

Bobby Jones Trails By One Stroke; Other Stars Outdistanced

By David J. Walsh.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—Another eighteen holes of that topographical siren known as East Lake, fair to the eye but false to all that is illusion, beckoned the haggard field that was to proceed on its way toward the greatest honor within the gift of southern golf, its open title. This per se, was its tactic destination, anyhow.

Actually and practically, which means being quite sensible about the thing, there was $12,000 in prize money at stake. It will be waiting at the end of the 72-hole journey for the men who can claim it by tomorrow night and your famished wanderer on the desert will travel less hurriedly toward a thimble of water than will a golf professional in the general direction of critical money like that.

This being the case, it is somehow whimsical to relate that Robert T. Jones, the well known amateur, is playing the home course that he knows like the pages of a favorite book and that, starting the second round today, he is only one stroke behind the leader. The latter happened to be Emmett French, of Youngstown or Southern Pines or both, Emmett having a 71 the first day against 72 for Bobby, Gene Sarazen and the Cleveland pair, Larry Nabholtz and W. H. Livie.

Hagen Has 80 Count.

Of course, there exists the old phobia that no champion can win at medal play over his own course but the suspicion has begun to percolate that Bobby, like John Paul, has just began to shoot. They say he plays East Lake over 72 about once a year, usually on the thirtieth day of one particular month, February, to be exact.

Compare that record with yesterday's performance of Walter Hagen, who had an 80, with Willie Macfarlane's 81, the 78 of Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson, the 77 of Tom Armour, Leo Diegel, Wilfred Reid and Al Espinosa and the 76's of Jesse Sweetser, Jim Barnes, Harry Hampton, Freddie McLeod, Clarence Hackney and Cyril Walker. If Jones continues to 72 the situation, what chance have most of these scores in the final reckoning?

Hagen and Macfarlane, in fact, are just about eliminated from the $4,000 first prize after one round, unless they run absolutely amuck about the same time that everyone else suffers what is called a bad rally.

Today's eighteen hole test will complete the qualifying round, after which the best 64 scores and ties will see what they can do about it over the final 36 holes tomorrow. No real pre-tournament contender seems in danger of being eliminated by nightfall but some of the headliners like Hagen, Cruikshank, Macfarlane, Tom Kerrigan, Hutchison, Armour and Diegel will have to do better in the remaining rounds if they plan to take anything out of town except their other shirt.

However, in spite of the profusion of water holes, all of the lame ducks are not paddling about East Lake today. Johnny Farrell is right up there with the pace at 73, so is Willie Klein and Jim Thompson, the Virginian, while Joe Turnesa, runner-up in the nationals, Al Watrous, John Golden, Jim Foulis, of Chicago, and J. P. Connell, of Baltusrol, are only a stride back with 74's.

Pete O'Hara, of New York, Dave Hackney, of Lawrence, Mass., Georga Voight of Washington and Bill Mehlhorn, of anywhere he hangs his hat, all have 75's and a fighting chance.

LATZO-DUNDEE TO SIGN TODAY

NEW YORK, March 25.—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion, and Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, are reported as likely to sign articles here today for a bout to be held at the Polo Grounds late in May under the management of Promoter Humbert Fugazy. The match will have to be approved by the boxing commission next week, however, as Promoter Tex Rickard claims that he has Dundee under contract.

VOL. XLVII. NO. 118. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1927. PAGE SEVENTEEN

BY CHARLES D STEWART

Nation Soon To Be In Hands Of An "Acting Government"

WASHINGTON, March 25.—As usual during the vacation season, the country will be in the hands of an "acting" government before many more weeks are out.

Executive chiefs will be scattered hither and yon. Indeed, they've begun to leave already. It's a little early for the summer lay-off, but a department head generally can think up some tour of inspection he has to take when he wants to get away from Washington. These official tours merge into vacations, and the average vacation winds up with another official tour. He isn't a very ingenious cabinet member who can't think up excuses to keep him away from his desk from about the first of April until hard onto Thanksgiving day.

For awhile in the spring and awhile in the fall a first assistant per department ordinarily presides as "acting" boss. But these upper assistants get pretty well fagged out during the midsummer months, too, and there's quite a spell during the dog days when you can't find anybody but some permanent under-secretary on the job, look where you will.

THE president's vacation, to be sure, has a good many strings on it. To a great extent, he takes his work along with him. Nevertheless, Rudolph Forster, his executive secretary, who always stays and swelters in Washington, is expected to save "the old man" all the worry he can. Rudolph can hardly be described as an "acting" president, even when he's alone in the capital, but he settles a good many presidential questions for all that.

A cabinet member, however, when he tears out for Europe or the Caribbean or the Philippines, is about as free as a bird, and the chap who "acts" for him in his absence is, temporarily, the real thing.

The beauty of it is that business runs right along just as smoothly with not a cabinet member in town, as if the whole kit of them were punching the clock regularly, morning, noon and night, every day. Nobody ever heard of an executive department blowing up because the "chief" was away. For that matter, why should it? The "acting" understrapper carries the load anyway. He can carry it rather better by himself than he can with a political theorist telling him how. What he says is "Hosannah!" when he sees the boss packing his suitcase, and wishes him a nice trip and a long stay.

THE capitol end of town has its own peculiar off-season asnect, just as the executive end does.

It isn't as dead as you might think. The capitol building's pretty dull, except for tourists, but the senate and house office buildings buzz right along.

Most of the lawmakers have gone home but the wise ones all have left clerical forces to keep ears to the ground while they're gone. A congressman not only needs to know what his state or district wants; he also needs to know, here in Washington, can it be done?

A good secretary's business is to keep him posted—to let him know what trades are being made and what deals are being framed up and what he's got to give to somebody else, in order to get the other fellow to help him.

THIS dickering's done mainly in Washington and the right kind of a secretary knows all about it, the year 'round.

Congress' secretarial group is important enough to be known as the "third house." It includes some mighty slick young men and women, and it's busier, if anything, while other people are taking their vacations, as it can work more quietly, than it can next winter, when the regular session will be on.

So, during vacation, a capable secretary's a kind of "acting" congressman.

SUPREME court justices are about the only functionaries in Washington who act exclusively for themselves. When they take a vacation, the judicial branch of the government simply shuts down.

Class in Clogging Is Organized on Berkeley Campus

BERKELEY, Cal.—Old-fashioned clog dancing may replace the black bottom on the University of California campus.

A class in clogging has been started at the university and more than a hundred students have so far enrolled.

Clogging is an aid to beauty, according to Miss Louise Cobb, the instructor in the dance.

Sunshade Replacing Time Worn Veil by Women of Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE—The sunshade is replacing the Turkish veil which has recently been forbidden by order of the governor. The entire supply of parasols in Trebizond has been used up and orders have been placed in Constantinople for 20,000 to be delivered as soon as possible.

The women of the province of Trebizond are perhaps more modest than those of any of the provinces of the Turkish republic. And w' - the order went forth forbidding the usual face covering, they looked about immediately for something just as good as a protection from masculine gaze. The new "veil" which is a sunshade, has become exceedingly popular. It is carried at all hours and in any weather, whenever woman walks abroad in the streets.

Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C., and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. I understand that oysters are being grown on trees by government experts. How is it done? W. T. F.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries in cooperation with the State Fish Commission of Connecticut is experimenting in the propagation of oysters in the following manner: Birch brush and saplings are mainly used. These are stuck in the mud of tide flats and the young oysters settle on the brush and later they are distributed over oyster bottoms.

Q. What plays did Mary Pickford appear in on the speaking stage? C. Y.

A. Mary Pickford first appeared before the public with the Valentine Stock company of Toronto, Canada. She was then five years of age. She appeared on the speaking stage in the United States with Chauncey Olcott in "Edmund Burke" and in Belasco's productions "The Warrens of Virginia" and "The Good Little Devil."

Q. At what depth is a river considered navigable? G. F.

A. Rivers that will float logs are considered navigable.

Q. After what length of service can an army officer retire? N. W. G.

A. An officer can not retire at his own request with less than thirty years' service. It is compulsory that he retire at the age of 64.

Q. How many geese are necessary to furnish one pound of goose feathers for pillows? V. C.

A. The best goose feathers are procured from the live bird in the spring, about six birds of average size furnishing one pound of feathers.

Q. How many soldiers marched in the parade at Washington at the close of the Civil war? S. M. C.

A. What is known as the Grand Review was held in Washington, D. C., May 23d and 24th, 1865. The whole number of officers and enlisted men in and about Washington at that time was 152,445, according to the most accurate returns. The number actually participating in the parade was doubtless somewhat less than that number, as many were probably left in charge of camps and guarding property and equipment.

Q. How does the egg production in this country compare with the cotton production? E. C. W.

A. The value of eggs is about $500,000,000, while the cotton crop is about three times as much.

Q. Where is the castle of Ashby? L. B.

A. The ancient castle of Ashby is at Ashby-de-la-Zouch in Leicestershire, England. It is now in ruins and unoccupied.

Q. How long is the coast line of the United States? W. M. M.

A. The total coast line of the United States is 4,883 miles. The total length (tidal shore line) is 12,877 miles. This is the length of the shore line on tidal waters to points where such waters narrow to a width of 3 statute miles.

Q. Who was the Countess Potocka? H. W. F.

A. Sophie Potocka was born in Constantinople about 1766 and died in Berlin in 1822. She was the wife of a Polish Count, Stanislas Felix Potocki. Her parents were Greek and as a child sold her for 1,500 peasters or $375 to the French ambassador at Constantinople, who adopted her. She married the Count de Witt, who three years later divorced her at the request of Potocki and on the receipt of two million gulden. In 1790 she married Potocki and became famous for her beauty and cleverness throughout Russia and Germany.

Q. Does Lake Erie have tides? L. A.

A. Lake Erie has no tides, but has a heavy ground swell.

Pimples, Boils Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PIMPLES CAUSED DISFIGUREMENT

Developed Into Blotches. Cuticura Healed.

"My face was affected with pimples and blackheads which later developed into blotches and these itched something terrible. The pimples were rather large and red. They itched and had to be scratched which, of course, caused eruptions and disfigurement.

"I tried different ointments but all were of no avail. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time noticed a great change. I continued the treatment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Angela Gall, 2012 W. 68th Pl., Chicago, Ill.

John Gilbert in Screen Success at American.

The story is of France of the seventeenth century, done by Sabatini, and a better "Bardelys" than John Gilbert could not have beeen selected, or even imagined.

This Bardelys person is a swashbuckling hero of the king's court, who is not above boasting that he can win any woman he sets his mind to, and he's right.

But the villainous Chatellerault, done by Roy D'Arcy, the sinister Crown Prince of "The Merry Widow" is skeptical of the wooing powers and wagers him a right goodly sum, which was the nickname for money in those heroic days, that he won't have much luck with the fair Roxalanne de Lavedan, the fair and beauteous heroine, played by Eleanor Boardman. Having himself been spurned by Roxalanne, Chatellerault felt that he was playing safe on inside information.

Bardelys sets off for the lands and the home of Roxalanne, and immediately after he meets her his troubles gebin. To avoid delay he had taken the identity of a certain fellow Lesperon, unknowing that this Lesperou was being sought as a traitor to the king.

On trial as Lesperon, Bardelys is brought before a stern judge, none else than Chatellerault, who repudiates him and sentences him to death

The story then plunges into an amazing series of dare devil stunts, which end with Bardelys winning the favor of the girl and his king.

Socialist Attitude Toward Marriage Flayed by Cardinal

VIENNA.—Cardinal Piffl, the primate of Austria, has attacked the Socialistic institutions of Vienna for the typical Socialist attitude toward marriage. The Socialist regime in the capital has been responsible for many laws which make divorce easy and otherwise contribute toward destroying the church's reverence of marriage.

The Cardinal in his lenten pastoral letter declared marriage and the family life were germ cells of society and when they sicken and die, the foundations of society are destroyed. Marriage is indissoluable, he says, and man's duty is to live up to the vows he made and woman's duty cannot be changed by secular law.

DIVORCE IN U. S. IS NATIONAL ISSUE, SAYS GERMAN PROFESSOR

BERLIN. — "Americans have every reason to be seriously concerned about the appalling increase of divorces in the states. It is high time for America to study this important problem closely and earnestly," is the keynote of an article by Professor Dr. Fritz-Konrad Krueger of Goettingen University.

"The increase of divorces is a national issue of tremendous importance. It looks as if the United States is gradually approaching conditions in the Roman Empire, where women jokingly gave their ages on the strength of their marriages instead of on the terms of the Consuls.

Kruger believes that the emancipation of women is greatly responsible for the increase. Also, he charges that people marry too young and throw themselves too much on buying everything on credit. Krueger believes that the increase of criminality among youth is largely due to children of divorced couples not being properly cared for.

Northern Lumber Being Floated to California Harbors

SAN FRANCISCO. — Floating of giant log rafts from the Pacific Northwestern mills to Los Angeles harbor and San Diego will be renewed this year, according to reports received here today.

For a time the great masses of floating timber were a common sight to passengers on a coast-wise vessel, but during recent years the practice has been abandoned. Each raft, it was said, will contain from three to five million feet of timber.

Georgia Students Show Preference For Brunettes

EMORY UNIVERSITY, Ga. — All gentlemen do not prefer blondes, a poll of 600 students at Emory university, noted southern Methodist institution of learning reveals.

Only 37 out of the 600 prefer blondes, the rest declaring they have a marked prejudice for brunettes.

Answering the question what percentage of girls pet, the boys generally agreed that more than 50 per cent of them indulge in that pastime.

Children's Night Coughs

Stopped Almost Instantly.

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritations of while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine much better than patent medicines and cough syrups acts on a different principle, relieves the irritation and stops the cough in a few minutes. In fact it is guaranteed to stop night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. Contains no chloroform, dope or other harmful drugs, pleasant taste and safe. 35c., 60c. and $1.000. A Feast for Easter!

RICH, juicy, satisfying—no wonder Sugardale Ham is the popular dish for Easter. It's mild and sweet as no other ham can be, for Sugardale Ham is cured by a secret old-time recipe that adds just the right amount of delicious zest and appetizing sweetness.

You can buy Sugardale in slices, but it's more economical to buy a whole ham—there are a dozen good uses for any you may have left.

But be sure you get Sugardale—for a true Easter feast—in the special Easter parchment wrapper. Guaranteed by The Sugardale Provision Company, Canton.

Sugardale Ham Baked in Ginger Ale

Place half a Sugardale Ham in cold water, heat slowly and simmer gently, allowing twenty minutes to the pound. Remove the rind, cover the fat with cloves, brown sugar and bread crumbs. Place in moderate oven. Pour one cup ginger ale over meat. Bake one hour, basting frequently with the ginger ale. Serve the ginger ale left in pan as sauce for ham after slicing.

Haskin's Letter

market could be found. The bookkeeper had the idea that created the market—a box factory that he now heads. Even box factories have their wastage, but where conditions are favorable it is now being salvaged and converted into wood pulp.

In the Ford plants, where they use daily the equivalent of sixty miles of boards a foot wide and an inch thick, each foreman is held responsible for his scrap pile, and it is said that practically everything in the lumber is utilized except the knot holes.

What May Be Done With Sawdust.

Sawdust, it is being demonstrated, can be put to an almost infinite variety of uses. Mixed with cement it makes an excellent floor, it is stated. This composition as a base, in which very short lengths of hardwood flooring are set like mosaic work, or to resemble tiles, makes possible a highly artistic floor. Reduce sawdust to what is known as wood flour, and mix it with a glue binder, chalk, clay, and inseed oil, and it can be molded into articles too numerous to mention but all of value. A mixture that sounds like it might be a cocktail turns out to be a composition shingle. It consists of one-third sawdust, one-third calcium phosphate, one one-third gelatinous or resinous material.

Charcoal has been made from wood for many years—no one knows exactly how many—but it is only within a comparatively recent date that man has learned the lesson of the by-products that can be saved. The gases generated in the making of charcoal are now saved and condensed, and from various woods there are now recovered wood alcohol, acetic acid for dyeing, acetone—used in the film industry—cresote, and pitch. From the soft woods which contain pitch and resin distillation yields wood turpentine, pine oils, and tar oils.

Gucose is being made, it is reported, by treating wood waste with dilute hydrochloric-acid gas and steam, and the product is used as a cattle food. Stock fed on it as a substitute for one-third their ordinary grain ration are said to thrive. The same process is said to produce from 65 to 70 gallons of grain, or ethyl, alcohol per ton of sawdust. That is where the bootleggers get into the game.

Ground wood, either as wood flour or wood pulp, offers amazing possibilities in the way of utilizing what otherwise would be wasted. In the first place, almost all kinds of woods, in pieces of whatever size or shape, can be used, and second, nothing but destruction by fire precludes its reuse indefinitely. Mixed with glue, wood pulp and wood flour can be made into various paper-mache products, such as picture frames, boxes, cornices, statues, and other ornaments.

One of the most interesting products of wood is cellulose, which may also be made from cotton linters. From cellulose the wonderful artificial silks known as celanese and rayon can be made—fabrics that in some respects are superior to those that come from the silkworm.

And so many other things can be made from cellulose—twine, rope, artificial leather, phonograph records, smokeless powder, guncotton, sausage casings, and a long list of chemical products—that it may well be likened to an inexhaustible mine.

ESSAY CONTEST WILL BE HELD

Manuscripts for the essay contest sponsored by the Hancock county public schools must be in the hands of County Superintendent H. O. Miller by Friday, April 1.

Papers must be confined to between 750 and 1,000 words. No names will be used but each will be numbered on the back. The subject is "Thrift." Contestants will be permitted to delve into all phases of the subject.

SALARY RAISING BILL PENDING

Clerks of the circuit and county courts of Hancock and Brooke counties would receive an increase of salary under the terms of a bill pending in the legislature introduced by the delegate from Brooke county. In the event the measure is enacted into a law its provisions would not be effective for several years.

Cattle Testing Planned.

State agricultural department in conjunction with county farm bureaus plan an intensive cattle testing drive during the summer. Several examinations have been made in Hancock county by state, federal and county agents.

Membership Growing.

Membership roll of the recently formed Fish and Game society is steadily growing and efforts are being made to make it a county wide organization. Meetings are held every other Tuesday in the office of Justice John A. Mylar.

Circuit Court Cases.

Number of criminal and civil cases have been disposed of this week before Judge J. Harold Brennan in circuit court at New Cumberland.

A gold ring which had slipped into a bowl of potato peelings from the finger of a Dutch woman was later found inside a goose which she was preparing for dinner.

REGULATE-DON'T PURGE BOWELS

Harsh Physics, Calomel, Salts and Purgatives Soon Lose Effect

"VINCO" is a chocolate coated tablet made of Herbs, Roots and Barks (no dope). Does not gripe or sicken. Your druggist will refund money if you do not get relief from the first 25c box.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel and harsh physics. Use only "VINCO" to regulate the bowels. Do a kindness by telling others about "VINCO." They, too, will appreciate the difference between harsh physics and gentle, harmless "VINCO."

STUDENTS GO TO NASH PLANT

Naval School Lads See How Car is Made.

Inspection of the various operations entailed in the production of the Nash car was made by a delegation of 50 students of the aviation corps of the Great Lakes Naval Training station under the supervision of Lieut. Commander Weiss. Like many universities and other institutions of learning in the ce tral west, the Naval Training station has made inspection of the Nash plant, and other industrial plants, a part of the school curriculum.

Among the other schools to send students to the Nash factory, under the guidance of professors and instructors, are the University of Illinois, school of engineering; Northwestern university, school of commerce; University of Wisconsin; Armour institute; Ohio Northern university; University of Kansas; University of Arkansas; Purdue university; Lake Forest college; University of Oklahoma, school of engineering; Greer College of Automobile Engineering, and a number of high schools.

The students express keen interest in the various processes that go to make up the completed car and usually are outspoken in their amazement at the lengths to which Nash motors goes in the safe-guarding of quality through a most complete system of inspection and tests.

In addition to students, hundreds of others visit the Nash factories each year. Guides thoroughly familiar with the various production processes take visitors through the plant every day, one trip being made in the morning, and another in the afternoon.

$1095 SEDAN

If you are one of those sound automobile buyers who buy on comparative values, and if you compare the Greater Oakland Six against the best its field affords—you will discover that only the most advanced engineering could create it . . . and only super-precision methods could produce it.

In no other car of the $1000 class will you find such a matchless combination of engineering advancements as in the Greater Oakland Six. For no other car, regardless of price, provides Oakland's Rubber-Silenced Chassis and Harmonic Balancer, Oakland's full pressure oiling, bronze-backed interchangeable main bearings, foot controlled tilting-beam headlights and four-wheel brakes.

Nor in any other car of comparable price will you find so many examples of that super-precision in manufacture directly responsible for long car life and lasting owner satisfaction.

All Oakland piston pin bushings are diamond bored . . . All Oakland connecting rods are exactly matched for center of gravity and weight. All Oakland rotating parts from transmission to rear axle are completely balanced. These are practices which typify the most modern and exacting principles of scientific manufacture—and Oakland uses them all.

This super-precision manufacture explains why a Greater Oakland Six could come through its recent 100,000-mile endurance run in less than six months with flying colors . . . It tells why so many thousands of Oakland owners are amazed at the thrilling performance and rugged stamina of their cars. It reveals why the trend in fine car buying continues to swing toward the Greater Oakland Six. And if you drive the car . . . you will soon see why yourself!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Children are gloriously well when their special needs are met with simple foods. A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk is one of the best of the "growth foods" now considered so important.

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 23% of the tissue-building protein a growing child must have.

And how children love the natural whole-grain flavor!

For many years the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even!

So that mothers who realize the importance of oatmeal as a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

Dr. Appel's assertion was based on an exhaustive search of records available in his department. The data compiled from the records of the health department was prompted by a suicide wave among young students which has swept the country since the first of the year.

The finding holds true, Dr. Appel said, despite the fact that in 1926 there were more suicides in Pennsylvania than in any other year since 1916. Last year there were 1129 suicides in the state, a rate of 12 per cent.

The highest suicide record ever recorded in the state was reached in December, 1926, with a percentage of 12.8 for each 100,000 of population as compared with 10.7 per cent in the same month of the previous year.

"This increase at all ages, however," Dr. Appel declared, "apparently was not accompanied by a disproportionate increase at the younger ages, press reports to the contrary, notwithstanding."

In recent months, according to the departments' statistics, the percentage of suicides of persons under twenty years of age as compared with all ages is but two per cent. This percentage was said to be the "usual proportion."

Commenting on this percentage Dr. Appel said:

"It is interesting to note that our experience in Pennsylvania is practically the same as that recorded by one of the largest life insurance companies in the country, among its millions of policy holders. The insurance company's report showed that the suicide rate among those aged fifteen to nineteen has decreased generally during the last few years."

Dr. Appel pointed out that the suicide rate for all ages before the war was higher than at present; that it dropped during the war, but since has been increasing until in 1926, it equalled the rate for 1916.

This yearly variation is due, Dr. Appel believes, partly at least, to economic conditions.

But No Relief Came to Her Until She Took Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

Mrs. P. J. O'Brien, 1582 Wyandotte Ave., Cleveland, O., writes: "I was in such misery from stomach and liver trouble that I walked the floor and applied hot cloths to ease my pains. But these didn't help me much.

Redwood.

"When I had one of my spells of indigestion my stomach was so sore that I could hardly bear to lay my hand on it. It was bloated and distended with gas. I was so constipated that my bowels wouldn't act unless I took a laxative.

"I bless the day I started to take Redwood's Tepee Tonic for now I am a well woman. My stomach and liver are now in a perfectly healthy condition. I do not have to take laxatives and I can eat what I want without having indigestion."

Tepee Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug store in East Liverpool and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.
